Assembly Opens Today; Democrats Split

STELLE FORCES PUSH FIGHT ON HORNER CLIQUE

Barrett to Contest Primary Defeat.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 29.—It was indicated here tonight that Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, when the special session of the 61st general assembly convenes at 10 a. m. tomorrow, will fill his constitutional office rather than insist he is acting governor.

Edward J. Barrett.

During his primary campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor, Stelle promised to demand a ruling of the legislature on whether he was the state's chief executive during the alleged disability of Gov. Henry Horner. It is reported he has decided to continue as lieutenant governor because, as presiding officer of the senate, he will have a commanding position over proposed legislation.

Stelle and his running mates in the primary—Benjamin S. Adamowski, who sought the nomination for the senate, and Edward J. Barrett, aspirant for a third term as auditor—let it be known that they still are bitterly opposed to the Nash-Kelly-Horner organization. They did not outline a specific program, but their attitude did nothing to promote harmony among the Democrats.

Developments of Day.

Other pre-session developments were:

1. Auditor Barrett announced to a group of 500 downstate Stelle-Adamowski-Barrett leaders that he would contest his defeat for renomination by John C. Martin, who was proclaimed winner by 18,000 votes. Barrett said he would file his contest in court at Bloomington tomorrow.

2. Action by the organization Democrats, under the leadership of Senator Harold G. Ward, nominee for attorney general, to limit the special session to three weeks.

3. A hint from administration leaders that a tax on the developing oil fields will be sought to meet the revenue demands caused by the increase in old age pensions which it is anticipated the session will approve. Gov. Horner's message may not mention an oil tax, but it is expected more money will be needed.

G. O. P. May Air Scandals.

4. Indications were that Republicans will not let the session expire without an attempt to inquire into the activities of the Democratic campaign fund collecting agents, headed by the late F. Lynden Smith, whose death remains a mystery. G. O. P. members may also give attention to the Manteno state hospital typhoid epidemic, in which 60 lives were lost, and to other administration scandals.

5. Senator Ward declared he did not believe the slush fund could be investigated, inasmuch as Gov. Horner did not include it in his call. This led the speaker of the house, Hugh W. Cross, a Republican and nominee for lieutenant governor, to snap: "Apparently they would prevent the legislature from taking any independent action, no matter how calamitous the situation."

6. A stir was created by the fact that department of finance employés have not received their pay checks, due May 1, when many other employés have been paid. This led to reports that Barrett intended to hold up the checks of S. L. Nudelman, director of finance, who was fired by Stelle the day he announced himself acting governor.

7. Reports were that Senator William J. Connors of Chicago was to be given recognition by Chicago senate Democrats as one of the leaders of the Chicago delegation. Altho Senator George M. Maypole is president pro tempore of the senate, Maypole bucked the organization's primary choice for lieutenant governor, Louie E. Lewis, and was defeated.

KEEHN FORCED OUT AS HEAD OF NATIONAL GUARD

Fight on Political Pressure Recalled.

Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, for 13 years commander of the Illinois National Guard, has resigned, it was learned last night. It was reported that his resignation was forced by Gov. Henry Horner, who is expected to appoint Brig. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton as Keehn's successor.

Maj. Gen. R. D. Keehn.

Gen. Keehn's letter of withdrawal was in Springfield last night. It was said to be a coldly formal document which does not tell the story of the background of the veteran officer's virtual ouster.

An immediate factor was reported to be Gen. Keehn's friendship with Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor. Published during the primary campaign was the fact that Green began his legal career in Keehn's law office. Springfield reports have it that this annoyed Horner to the point that he told Gen. Keehn last Saturday that he must retire.

Fought Political Pressure.

Last month, it was recalled, Gen. Keehn stood up against political pressure connected with the primary campaign. A company clerk of the 108th engineers, Herbert J. Rost, complained that he had been threatened with the loss of his job unless he would work for the success of the Nash-Kelly-Horner ticket. Rost said the threat was made by Congressman Anton F. Maciejewski [6th] of Cicero, a candidate for renomination.

"We frown upon any effort to drag the guard, as such, into politics," Gen. Keehn said at that time. "Under no circumstances will we tolerate it. And we do not permit political assessments against our men. Rost need not worry about his clerkship job."

An older cause of friction was said to be Keehn's program for building armories, which he initiated as president of the National Guard Association of the United States in 1934 and 1935. More than 300 armories have been or will be completed in the country under this program.

Lawton Says It's News to Him.

In Illinois 18 new armories were built. Horner was long at odds with Keehn, it was reported, over the rate of expansion held necessary by the general as chairman of the state armory board.

Keehn also expanded the Illinois division of the guard by about 35 per cent to nearly 13,000 officers and enlisted men. He would not comment on the reports of his resignation or the causes.

Gen. Lawton, who was appointed to his present rank by Horner in 1936, said that it was all news to him. He was reached at Pontiac, where as a new member of the state parole board he is hearing reformatory parole applications.

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, commander of the 66th brigade, is Lawton's senior in this rank by five years, but the governor as commander in chief of the state's armed forces has the authority to name any officer to succeed Keehn.

Injured in Auto Accident.

Former Gov. Len Small named Keehn to the high post to succeed the late Milton J. Foreman on Feb. 17, 1927. An attorney, Keehn was a major in the judge advocate's department in the world war. Mustered out of active service, he continued in the officers' reserve corps. In 1923 he was appointed judge advocate of the Illinois National Guard with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

In 1935 Gen. Keehn was in an automobile accident which made necessary the amputation of his right arm. Despite this disability, never officially recognized by the army, he retained his position in the National Guard.

Gen. Lawton, who at 56 is six years younger than Gen. Keehn, is also an attorney. He first enlisted in the National Guard in 1909.

Tornado Rips Pontiac, Ill.; 1 Dead; 19 Hurt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pontiac, Ill., April 29.—A blind farmer was knocked from the porch of his home and killed, and 19 persons were injured late today in a tornado which followed a northeasterly course from Delavan to Pontiac.

Most of the twister's force was expended on the northwest outskirts of Pontiac, along route 66 where the highway describes a letter S. Fifteen farm and city homes were demolished along with a number of filling stations and a roadhouse. The damage was estimated at $100,000.

Victim's Mother Burned.

The man killed was Fred Weber, 45 years old, who was reported to have been standing on the porch of his farm home six miles southwest of Pontiac when the tornado struck. The farm buildings were reduced to matchwood. Weber's mother, Mrs. Kate Weber, 65, was pinned under a smoking cook stove and seriously burned.

Mrs. Weber was taken to a hospital in Pontiac. Three others of the injured also were taken there. They were Mrs. Pearl Bowman, 45, whose chest was crushed when her home in West Pontiac was wrecked, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gutt, 26 and 20, respectively, of 1651 Wrightwood avenue, Chicago.

The injuries, except those to Mrs. Weber and Mrs. Bowman, were not serious. A dozen other persons received first aid treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Gutt, who were married eight months ago, were on a vacation trip to Springfield. They had just entered a tourist camp cabin on route 66 when the force of the twister overturned the structure.

Farm Houses Flattened.

The tornado struck first at San José, three and one-half miles southwest of Delavan, where six farm houses were flattened as farmers fled to storm cellars. The air was filled with flying pieces of lumber and squawking chickens as the twister moved onward. Skies became black and flashes of lightning illuminated the scene.

Joseph Sodas was listening to a baseball broadcast in his home adjoining his tavern on route 66 when the storm struck Pontiac. Sodas was not hurt, but his home was destroyed. Twelve patrons at the tavern bar escaped injury. Across the highway Mrs. George Dunham and her six children were clustered in the kitchen preparing supper. Two decorators worked nearby. The twister neatly lifted away the walls of the house, leaving the frightened group huddled around the stove, the supper intact.

All lights were knocked out in the west part of Pontiac. Electric clocks stopped at 4:55 p. m. Telephone communication to some points was interrupted for several hours. Fallen trees blocked traffic on route 66 until cleared away by state police directed by Capt. Merton Baughman and Pontiac police under Chief J. R. Scarratt.

HEAD HUNTERS GO ON WARPATH; SLAY 3 IN PHILIPPINE PROVINCE

MANILA, P. I., April 29 (AP).—A new wave of head hunting broke out in Nueva Ecija province today. Three Filipino homesteaders were reported slain by Abilao tribesmen. Three others were wounded. The beheadings, the first since appeasement efforts were made last March, occurred presumably because the tribesmen resented encroachment on their ancestral hunting grounds. A tribal confab was held in Pantabangan March 29 in an effort to halt the beheadings. Wild tribesmen emerged from their mountain fastnesses, extended a cordial hand to officials, and disappeared.

Germans Must Visit Police to Hire a Taxicab

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 29.—The shortage of gasoline from which Germany is suffering is becoming acute. If a person is in urgent need of a taxicab in Berlin he or she can go to the police station and get one, provided the police captain shares one's opinion that the ride is important.

The number of taxis again has been reduced here and the gasoline ration for most doctors has been cut to between 5 and 2½ gallons a month.

Taxis which are allowed to appear in streets must agree to serve on emergency duty at police stations at least once a week. They can accept fares only if the police captain gives his approval. Since this rule reduces incomes of taxi drivers, drivers on emergency duty are permitted to charge their highest rate.

Rush Fuel to Norway.

The gasoline shortage is due to the fact that big supplies of gasoline are being flown to Norway for the air battles between the German and English forces. Slow transportation of soviet oil by rail and the shortage of German and soviet tank cars are additional reasons for the scarcity of gasoline.

Rumania is rushing the oil she agreed to deliver to Germany up the Danube on tank boats, but at a time when sea and air battles are in progress the Rumanian supply is insufficient.

Germany is trying to hasten the completion of more factories for the production of synthetic gasoline, but the process is proving slower than the Germans expected. Industrial centers are trying to obtain more miners to speed up the production of brown coal [lignite] in central Germany. This fuel is needed for making synthetic gasoline.

Todt Gets a New Task.

Dr. Fritz Todt, inspector general for German roads and builder of the Siegfried line, has been given an additional mission by Adolf Hitler. Members of his staff have been inspecting all factories to select those most suitable for transforming them into plants for the manufacture of synthetic gasoline and ammunition.

Many factories which formerly produced ceramics and porcelain for export abroad are being reorganized.

Norway Bitter as London Fails to Speed Drive

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SKOTGARDEN, Norway, near Roros, April 29 [By Courier to the Swedish Border].—Relations between the British and Norwegian governments have become strained because of the failure of Great Britain to keep its promise to King Haakon VII. of Norway.

Arrow shows town where Tribune man contacted Norse.

Major Oruulf Rod, who is holding a few square miles of Norwegian territory behind Roros along the Swedish frontier with a number of Norwegians, today told me that a few days after Germany invaded Norway the London government had solemnly promised King Haakon to capture German held Trondheim and make it the temporary capital of the Norwegian government within three days if the king would formally declare Norway to be in a state of war with Germany.

Issue a Proclamation.

The king and his government agreed and issued a proclamation. The British were unable to keep their promise because the Germans had captured three forts at Agdenes at the mouth of Trondheim fjord and had mined the entrance.

The British forces landed at Namsos, farther north, and advanced to Steinkjer, where they were attacked and thrown back by the Germans. The British also were driven back from Follafoss on the north side of Trondheim fjord, where they were trying to advance against the forts.

Instead of defending Trondheim the Germans took the initiative. After defeating the British they now are engaging French Alpine troops in battle.

Major Sticks with Men.

Maj. Rod is one of the few officers of the 4th Norwegian infantry regiment who did not seek to escape to Sweden when the road from Roros to Fjallnas, Sweden, was opened last week. He remained with his men and today he succeeded in what he said was the most difficult job he has experienced since the retreat of his regiment began at Skarnes. He managed to reconcile some of the officers, who decided to return to their troops. Their men did not accept all of them. Some of the officers returned to Sweden.

Sweden has interned Norwegians wearing full uniforms, but men wearing civilian trousers have been allowed to remain at liberty. That is why some Norwegians managed to return to their country after crossing the frontier.

There is a noticeable lack of cooperation between the Norwegian and British forces. Many Norwegian officers regard the British as invaders as much as they do the Germans. They said England must bear equal blame with Germany, if not more, for bringing the war into Scandinavia.

Handicaps Military Operations.

This widespread bitterness, according to Norwegians, is handicapping allied military operations. It was also reported that a portion of the 6th Norwegian division in the far north is unwilling to fight with England and France, but wants to fight both England and Germany. From a few other small groups of Norwegians who have assembled near Romsdal and other points where the British have landed came reports of the complete demoralization of both Norwegian officers and men.

With the exception of a small group of men from Finland who are adventurers and patriots, I have not yet met any soldiers of the conscript Norwegian army who look as if they could offer serious resistance to Germany's professional soldiers. Most of them do not even know how to shoot.

After spending three days with Norwegian soldiers in Norway, it seems that they are going to leave the real fighting to those who seem to want action in Norway the most—the British and French.

Try to Stop British Push on Trondheim.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, April 30, Tuesday (AP).—The British royal air force last night attacked a German air base at Fornebu, near Oslo, Norway, the air ministry announced today, adding that the raid was "successful."

(Map on back page)

BERLIN, April 29 (AP).—The German army today pressed a six-ply offensive against British, French and Norwegian forces in central Norway.

The British attempt to squeeze the German-held port of Trondheim in a 200 mile pincer movement from Andalsnes, 100 miles south of Trondheim, and from Namsos, an equal distance north of that port, was met by a five pronged German movement on British-held Andalsnes.

The Germans also were making a sixth thrust north from Trondheim toward Namsos.

Predict Trouble for British.

It was said there is a prospect that the British troops who came ashore at Andalsnes soon will be in difficulties.

The strength of the British landing party at Andalsnes is not known here but has been estimated at about a brigade of 8,000 men.

The German air force was active again today off the western coast of Norway and a great number of British transport ships were damaged, with one set afire, DNB, official German news agency reported.

Reports 11 Ships Bombed.

The high command's communique said 11 British transports and supply ships had been hit by bombs over the week-end.

[The British war office said heavy enemy air attacks on Andalsnes and Molde, another port west of Andalsnes, had been carried out, but mentioned no damage.]

The Germans were said here to be driving southward from Trondheim to meet another German force pushing up the Osterdalen [eastern valley] from Oslo. The troops were reported within 25 miles of meeting, altho the point of the expected junction was not designated.

Germany's Picture of War.

The picture in brief was:

FIRST—German troops were driving southward from Trondheim toward British-held Storen, 35 miles south of the port.

SECOND—A strong German unit which had pushed northward beyond Roros, 50 miles southeast of Storen, was awaiting repairs of bridges, which had been blown up by the Norwegians, and for reenforcements.

THIRD — German troops were reported at Inset, about 15 miles south of Storen and within striking distance of the railroad.

Another Unit at Hjerkinn.

FOURTH—Another German unit was reported at Hjerkinn, about 20 miles northeast of allied-occupied Dombas on the Dombas-Storen railroad. Dombas is a vital junction point for lines from Oslo, Andalsnes, and Trondheim.

FIFTH — A strong German unit was reported pushing up the Gudbrands valley in central Norway south of Dombas. It was said to be fighting allied troops at Kvam, about 25 miles south of Dombas. Stockholm reports said the Germans already had taken Kvam, but the British war office communique said the situation in the Gudbrands valley was "unchanged," indicating the Nazis have not reached Dombas.

SIXTH—German troops were advancing northward from Trondheim toward British held Namsos. Fighting was reported northeast of Steinkjer, which is in German hands.

Battle for Rail Control.

Both sides are battling for control of the Oslo-Trondheim railroad.

The Germans are fighting to effect control of the road northward from Oslo, which the Nazis took at the start of the invasion of Norway, so they can supply German troops at Trondheim.

The British in turn are striving to prevent such control of the railroad and to save their own connection with interior Norway.

The center of the maneuver is Dombas.

[British and Norwegian reports indicated that a strong British force at Storen blocks the German drive southward from Trondheim and also stands in the path of Germans attempting to move along the Roros-Storen-Trondheim railroad from Roros. A Norwegian force at Kvikne, southeast of Inset, was reported fighting off the German advance from Tynset. A strong British force at Hjerkinn was reported holding off the German column from Alvdal. British forces were reported holding strong positions at Otta, 25 miles southeast of Dombas. A battle was reported in progress between Otta and Kvam. The actions at Otta, Hjerkinn, Kvikne, and Storen protected the British hold on the Dombas-Storen railroad.]

Bomb Ships at Andalsnes.

German sources said the allied force at Andalsnes was inadequately supplied with antiaircraft defense, which permits constant bombing of transports and supply ships sent there in an effort to strengthen the British foothold in central Norway.

Meanwhile, unofficial observers are giving the closest attention to possible action north of the Moselle river on the western front. That area was described as the only conceivable spot where the rival main German-French forces could really get at each other.

Repeated assertions of the Germans that the war will be over in a year invites belief that an effort may be made to destroy the French army by attacking its weakest westward flank.

INFLATION WOULD RUIN COUNTRY, FRANCE IS TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 29.—France was warned today that her middle class will disappear after the war unless she tightens her belt and imposes greater sacrifices upon her people. The warning came from Senator Abel Gardey, former minister of finance, who was responsible for the fall of the Leon Blum cabinet in 1937.

Speaking before the Gers departmental council at Auch, Gardey said any attempt to finance the war by inflation would lead to ruin.

"Let us not forget," he said, "that our financial situation in many respects is weaker than in 1914, altho the burdens we must bear are heavier. The economic war is more bitter, we must pay cash for foreign purchases, and there are troubles due to the long financial crisis.

"We cannot, as in 1914, offer ourselves the luxury of easy solutions and the wastage of our national heritage. If we do, we shall be compromising the future of our country."

SWEDES CHIP AIR RAID SHELTERS FROM SOLID ROCK

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 29 (AP).—Pneumatic drills chattering like machine guns hammered air raid shelters out of solid rock today as Sweden gave new evidence of her determination to fight if necessary.

Subscriptions to the country's new defense loan of 500,000,000 kroner [about $118,500,000] also were pouring in. King Gustav subscribed 250,000 kroner and his son and grandson each took up 50,000 kroner of the new bond issue.

At the same time, it was announced officially that German-Swedish trade discussions had been completed here. They are to be continued in Germany on the basis of the agreements reached so far.

Grau San Martin to Run in Cuban Election After All

HAVANA, April 29 (AP).—Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin, former president and chief opposition candidate for election under the new constitution July 14, tonight reëntered the race after withdrawing last week. The Cuban revolutionary party renominated Grau San Martin, announcing that the reasons presented when he withdrew have been "satisfactorily solved." The withdrawal was reported to have been due to failure of opposition groups to agree on congressional candidates. Col. Fulgencio Batista, army chief, in effect the head of the country and himself a candidate for the presidency, had appealed to Grau San Martin to reënter the race.

5 GERMAN SHIPS REPORTED SUNK BY BRITISH SUBS

New Anti-Aircraft Guns Defend Namsos.

LONDON, April 29 (AP).—Five German ships have been sunk off the Swedish coast in the last few days, presumably by British submarines, dispatches from Sweden reported tonight.

The Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, said the newspaper Handels Tidningen of Goteborg, Sweden, reported that two of four German transports traveling north off the west coast of Sweden on Sunday "disappeared" after explosions were heard. The other two turned around and headed south in the Kattegat.

Five other transports, escorted by seven German warships and three planes, were observed from Marstrand, Sweden, traveling north to Skagerrak.

Britons were heartened tonight by reports from the Namsos sector, north of Trondheim, Norway. Namsos is the landing point and base of operations for a British-French expeditionary force.

Guns Protect Namsos.

German bombers, attempting to repeat previous attacks which have beaten Namsos to a pile of ashes and debris, circled the base six times today, but discovered the Britons have effectively ringed it with antiaircraft defenses. Only once were bombs dropped. Clusters of shell bursts chased off other raiders after downing one of them.

A British communique, telling of fighting on the front south of Namsos, said British patrols ambushed a German detachment, killing several soldiers and taking some prisoners.

"British land forces are in touch with the enemy north of Steinkjer," the communique said.

From Western Front.

The majority of British troops at Namsos were said to be from Yorkshire, recently arrived from the western front in France, Namsos was said to have taken on the appearance of a western front town in the world war, with streams of troops and ambulances going and coming.

The war office denied reports that the French have superseded the British in command at Namsos.

German bombers, tho beaten off at Namsos, were admitted to have made damaging attacks on the British and French troop landing bases at Molde and Andalsnes, about 100 miles south of Trondheim.

German planes also harrassed British lines of communications leading from Molde and Andalsnes to the central front and gave protection to the German columns moving from the south, attempting to link forces with the garrison at Trondheim.

From Norway came reports that increased pressure was coming from the German forces in the Gudbrands and Oester valleys, southeast of Trondheim.

Hanging On to Dombas.

The British were reported hanging on at Dombas, railway junction point in the Gudbrands valley where the line from Oslo branches off to Andalsnes to the west and Trondheim to the north.

Tho British reports left the impression that the British still held Kvam, 35 miles southeast of Dombas, Norwegian dispatches reported that the Germans had occupied Kvam. A Swedish correspondent said the first major British-German encounter had taken place between Kvam and British held Otta, 25 miles southeast of Dombas.

North of Dombas, Swedish reports said, a German column from Alvdal in the Oester valley, had approached Hjerkinn, where they came upon strong allied positions. Fighting was reported in progress there, with the British battling to defend the railway which links their forces at Dombas and Storen to the north.

Norwegians in Action.

Norwegian troops were reported fighting a third German contingent at Kvikne, on the snowy highway about two-thirds of the way from Tynset to Inset. This battle began last night and was reported still in progress in exceedingly rough mountain country. Inset is near the Dombas-Storen railway.

By their hold on the strategic railway junction at Storén the British block the German southward drive from Trondheim and also stand in the path of the Germans attempting to move northward from Roros, at the head of the Oester valley. British forces at Otta, Hjerkinn, and Storen are defending their positions with machine guns and light artillery.

Must Maintain Positions.

To escape crippling of the southern arm of their broad pincer movement on Trondheim the British must maintain their positions along the railway from Dombas to Storen, as well as the branch from Dombas westward to Andalsnes.

[In Berlin authoritative sources said German troops coming up from the south at Roros, and from the north out of Trondheim were within 25 miles of effecting a meeting. DNB, official news agency, admitted increased allied resistance but said it had not halted the German advances.]

Fear was expressed that Germany's apparent command of the air might enable the Germans to complete a junction of their northern and southern forces and thus isolate the allies.

A dispatch from the correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet from "somewhere in Norway" said that the area between Dombas, Alvdal, Roros, and Storen appeared destined to become the major battlefield of central Norway.

Rugged Mountain Country.

This sector, about 50 by 65 miles in area, is bounded on the south by a highway and on the other three sides by railroads. It is extremely rugged, abounding in 4,000 and 5,000 foot high mountains and is crossed by only one road, that from Tynset to Inset.

Swedish reports from the Narvik zone in far northern Norway said guerrilla warfare had developed around that German held iron ore port with periodic British bombardments from the sea.

The air ministry reported that a Sunderland flying boat had bombed and sunk a German submarine trapped close to the Norwegian coast.

Deny German Claims.

From the admiralty came a flat denial of what were said to be German claims that five British warships and 13 transports had been sunk or badly hit within the last 48 hours. The only British losses, the admiralty said, were two trawlers, the Hammond and Larwood, which were lost without casualties.

An official British statement reported that 28 German transport and supply ships had been sunk since April 8; 10 more "hit by torpedoes and probably sunk"; one, named the Maine, scuttled, and "some losses due to mines" suffered by the German expeditionary force "since the Nazis embarked on their Scandinavian adventure."

Holland Arrests Editor of Amsterdam Nazi Paper

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, April 29.—The editor of De Misthoorn, Dutch national socialist [Nazi] weekly, was arrested today and a quantity of anti-Semitic propaganda material was seized at his home. He was known to have close relations with German circles here and at the Hague. Anti-Semitic caricatures often appeared simultaneously in Julius Streicher's Stuermer and De Misthoorn. Streicher is Germany's chief Jew baiter.

Seiter and his wife, Marion Nixon, actress, were christened at a single ceremony yesterday in the Westwood Community church. The two older children are adopted and the third was born to the couple last September. The children are Christopher, 4½; Selena Alice, 3½, and the baby, Jessica Ellen.

FRENCH TROOPS FROM ALPS GIVE NORWEGIANS AID

Link Forces Near Lakes North of Trondheim.

WITH AN ALLIED PATROL ON THE STEINKJER FRONT, Via Grong, Norway, April 29 (AP).—Norwegian troops have established liaison with French Alpinists in the Snasa lake region, above the innermost finger of Trondheim fjord.

The link was established after an early morning battle yesterday from which the Germans retreated, leaving behind at least 10 dead and many wounded. Norwegian losses were slight.

Contact has not yet been made with the British here because the mountainous, snowbound country requires skis, which the British lack.

On a visit to the front line patrol with Col. Ole Getz one could hear intermittent bursts of firing. The chief fighting was on the lower shore of Snasa lake.

Norwegians at Home.

"We now are in a part of the country where our men can fight," Col. Getz said. "We have been handicapped because of a lack of airplanes, antitank guns, and artillery, but we have rifles and skis."

The Norwegians, dressed in white like the Finns, lay in the deep snow. Those in the heavily forested sections wore green that blended perfectly with their surroundings. The Norwegians said the Germans had been dressing in civilian clothing in an attempt to outwit them, but that the ruse had failed.

The Norwegians had ripped up the railway tracks on the south side of Hanstrangen bridge in order to frustrate any possibility of the Germans using this approach to Snasa, at the northern end of the lake.

Col. Getz said the reason for the defense forces' early reverses was that they lacked time to mobilize in the first days of the war.

Hold Namsos Coast Road.

"On the night the Germans came," he said, "we began mobilization for which it was necessary to get clothing and quartermaster's stores in this area, and we succeeded only because the Germans wasted some days.

"Our troop's positions were far from our normal supply.

"Last Friday the Germans attacked and we stopped them. Again yesterday they attacked and we counted at least 10 dead. Many also were wounded.

"In the Namsos vicinity the coast road still is ours and we now have allied planes assisting us."

Unofficial Norwegian quarters said that one British aircraft carrier was already launching planes from one of the many fjords in this area and that French airplanes had arrived.

Refugees Lack Food.

NEAR NAMSOS, Norway, April 29 (AP).—The terrible plight of war refugees who have sought safety in the snow-covered mountains of central Norway is becoming more evident daily as cold, hunger, and disease take their toll.

Adequate food and clothing is lacking for the refugees from the Namsos, Nam valley and Steinkjer areas. Among children and older persons illness is occurring with practically no medical aid or medicine available north of Trondheim.

Tragic scenes are enacted nightly in the region when refugees slip down from the mountains into valley communities to poke thru the ashes of their homes seeking lost possessions.

FRANCE FORBIDS GOSSIP AS TROOPS MOVE TO NORWAY

Warns Public of Long Struggle in North.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 29.—Military authorities warned the Paris populace again today to be on guard against listening enemy ears, presumably because troops are being dispatched to Norway. Severe penalties were threatened against indiscreet talkers in trains, restaurants, cafés, and other public places.

The warning is significant, coming at a time when every one is speculating on the extent of the war front in Norway and the size of the forces engaged on each side.

Vital information leading to German submarine or warplane action may be obtained from a chance remark by a relative of some soldier or officer on leave, today's admonishment stated.

Long Struggle Forecast.

French military writers warned the public also to expect a long, hard struggle in Norway, one that will have no quick issue. But for the moment, French critics said, the German advance to relieve Trondheim has been held up in both the Gudbrands and Oester valleys.

French military authorities denied there had been any interruption in landings along the coast [here five words were deleted by the censor] and claimed, on the contrary, that the Franco-British fleets still are active in the fjords.

All the writers and every dispatch from the theater of operations, however, emphasize that the Germans have air superiority and say France and Britain must make up their air deficiency to gain any success in the north.

Norse Power Scattered.

The Norwegian soldiers still lack order and coherence, according to the French. Apart from isolated bands, only one Norwegian division is actually operating as such, and it is in the north, near Narvik, according to the French reports.

The British and French commanders are waiting to accumulate large stores before beginning a drive on Trondheim, French commentators say. They add that the British fleet, as soon as it has made necessary reconnaissances, is expected to force the passage into Trondheim fjord. This is defended by two Norwegian forts the Germans seized and manned.

A ROYAL FRENCH WOMAN SEIZES 4 GERMAN FLYERS

PARIS, April 29.—An unidentified woman of France's royal house was instrumental last week in capturing four German airmen who made a forced landing "somewhere in France" after their plane was damaged in an aerial "dogfight." The story was revealed today by L'Action Française, organ of the French royalists.

The royal personage was lunching at her estate when the police phoned that a German plane had come down in a wood belonging to her and requested that her personnel lend a hand to surround the wood.

Armed with a shotgun, she led the chase and two hours later the Germans were said to have been discovered and captured.

ITALY TO SEEK MORE U. S. GOODS; WILL SEND ENVOY

Wants British Blockade Relaxed at Gibraltar.

ROME, April 29 (AP).—Italy tonight was reported planning to send a special diplomatic envoy to the United States to enlarge shipments of raw materials thru the British blockade of Germany.

Dino Alfieri.

Altho this move was said to depend upon British willingness to pass such vital materials as copper and cotton thru her contraband control at Gibraltar, Italy offset British optimism for speedy development of better British-Italian trade relations by naming a prominent pro-German, Dino Alfieri, as ambassador to Berlin.

To Leave May 1.

Informed diplomatic quarters reported that Adolfo Alessandrini, who holds counselor of embassy rank in the Italian diplomatic service, would leave for New York on May 1, and would seek an arrangement with British consular authorities for issuance of navicerts which would permit more raw material shipments from America to reach Italian mills.

These quarters said the plan had no connection with British efforts to revive trade negotiations.

Alfieri, who has been ambassador to the Vatican, will exchange posts with Bernardo Attolico, Italian envoy to Germany for nearly five years.

May Aid Catholics.

One rumor circulating in Rome was that Alfieri might try to induce the Germans to soften their treatment of Catholics in Poland.

The authoritative Fascist newspaper, Il Giornale d'Italia, said Alfieri was "the man who knows profoundly all axis problems" and recalled that as minister of popular culture he had laid the basis for "new spiritual relations" between Germans and Italians.

WESTERN FRONT QUIET; NEW NAZI DIVISION IN LINE

PARIS, April 29 (AP).—The British-French high command's communique tonight said: "A quiet day on the whole." There was nothing to report, said the morning communique.

French sources said sharp fighting west of the Vosges mountains yesterday disclosed that a new German division was holding the line in that sector. They did not attach particular significance to the fact, however.

The fighting began when German infantry attacked French positions. The French said they repulsed the attackers and that each side suffered losses.

JAILED ON ASSAULT CHARGE.

Trinidad Brabo, a Mexican, was sentenced yesterday to a year in the Bridewell by Judge Joseph B. Hermes on two charges of assault.

GERMANS SWEEP MINES FROM PATH OF TRANSPORTS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 29 (AP).—Shrimp fishermen working off Sweden's west coast today reported there was no evidence of mines in the Skagerrak, which the British previously were said to have mined to block the sea lanes between Denmark and Norway.

The fisherman said German transports were traveling thru the area daily, and Swedish observers believed that German minesweepers had removed whatever threat may have existed there.

Reports from Oslo said that strict rationing of gasoline had been imposed there by German authorities. Taxis were said to be limited to 100 liters [26½ gallons] monthly and trucks to 150 liters [39⅝ gallons].

BUTCHER UNION SLUGGING TOLD IN AGENTS' TRIAL

Witnesses Describe Invasion of Shop.

A battle in a butcher shop at 3710 26th street, precipitated by two business agents of the butchers' union, was described to a jury yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph A. Graber. The business agents, Joseph Kopke and Harry Hlavacek, are on trial on a charge of assault to commit murder and mayhem.

Testimony brought out these highlight of the agents' operations:

1. Aldrich Drahogsky, 2257 South Springfield avenue, testified that the agents threatened to call a strike on Jan. 6 because Czeslaw Mikolajczyk, a porter in the shop, was a nonunion man. Then they approached the porter in a back room. Drahogsky said he heard Mikolajczyk scream: "They're kicking me! Police!"

2. A customer, Mrs. Mary Melichar, 2448 South Lawndale avenue, testified that Mikolajczyk was thrown out of the back room head first. "I asked those men why they didn't let the poor fellow earn a living," she said. "Kopek told me to keep my mouth shut."

Victim's Nose Bleeding.

3. Richard Dusek, a partner in the shop, told of seeing Mikolajczyk come "flying out" of the back room, his nose bleeding, after the two defendants went in.

4. Kopke, on the stand in his own defense, admitted that he and Hlavacek always traveled together when out on union business. "When there's two," explained Kopke, "you can always handle it better. You never know what you'll run into in these butcher shops."

Mrs. Melichar said her first sight of Mikolajczyk was when he ran out of the back room, followed by the agents.

"He was all doubled up," she testified. "He was holding his stomach and complained they were hitting him. The three returned to the back room and then Mikolajczyk came out head first and landed on his knees."

Shop Employé Testifies.

Anton Lozansky, 2253 South Trumbull avenue, a union meat cutter in the shop, was the first defense witness. He said Mikolajczyk had called him "bad names" when he tried to induce him to rejoin the union.

Kopke testified he and Hlavacek went to the shop after receiving a call that a nonunion man was working there. Kopke said they found Mikolajczyk working over a kettle.

The agents told the porter that the union men would not work with him, whereupon Mikolajczyk swore in Polish and raised a shovel, Kopke said. Kopke said he then taruck Mikolajczyk in the face with his fist and the latter dropped to the floor. He got up and then threw himself on the floor.

"Acting," Says Agent.

"I said to Hlavacek, 'there's too much acting going on here. Let's get our men off the job'," Kouke testified.

Kopke also asserted he had known Mikolajczyk since 1930 and had supplanted him in a job in a shop on Archer avenue. At that time, Kopke said, Mikolajczyk threatened: "I get you some day for this."

Kopke said he is paid $62.50 a week from the union. He lives at 1845 23d place. Hlavacek lives at 1533 South Cuyler avenue, Berwyn. Mikolajczyk lives at 3035 Cullerton avenue. The trial will continue today.

MORATORIUM ON NORSE DEBTS IS PROCLAIMED

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 29 [by Radio]—(AP).—The Norwegian government has announced a moratorium on all debts from April 16, 1940, to May 19, 1940. By royal resolution the government announced English and French money to be legal tender in Norway, setting the British pound sterling at 17.50 kroner. The rate for French money was set at 10 kroner for 100 francs.

[The pound was quoted at $3.53 and the franc at 2 cents in New York yesterday.]

CHINESE CLAIM NEW SUCCESSES AGAINST JAPS

HONGKONG, April 29 (AP).—China's battle tempo increased today as the Chinese reported new successes against the Japanese invaders on several fronts.

Scores of armed Japanese launches were counted casualties of a Japanese naval offensive on Tungting lake, in northern Hunan province, against Chinese positions along the eastern shore south of Yochow.

The Chinese said they had mopped up what Japanese forces succeeded in landing and that the offensive was a failure.

Planes Raid Railway.

CHUNGKING, China, April 29 (AP).—Chinese planes were reported here to have dropped 100 bombs on and near the Peiping-Hankow railway between Sinyang and Wushengkwan today, causing much destruction. All the raiders returned safely, Chinese said.

SWISS FIND SPIES AIDED EMPIRES, NOT THE NAZIS

BERNE, Switzerland, April 29 (AP).—Military authorities tonight announced an espionage ring headed by a retired Swiss lieutenant colonel had been gathering information on Germany for France and Britain. When the arrests of three persons were announced April 20 the police believed the ring was working for Germany. Those held are Dr. Hans Trueb, 54 years old, the retired officer; his wife, Helene, 43, and Kurt Mueller, 36, a postal employé. Authorities said Trueb's wife carried information from Trueb to Mueller, who transmitted it to a fourth person.

Burglars Loot Baker's Home and 1 of His Stores

Burglars scored a batting average of .666 last night against Joseph Jankowsky, owner of two bakeries. They broke into his home at 5548 Gladys avenue and stole $75 and jewelry valued at $755. Then the same burglars, or possibly some others, broke into his bakery at 5616 Madison street, but took nothing of value. They overlooked the other bakery at 5 North Cicero avenue.

BELGIUM DOUBTS FOE COULD REACH ITS 'STEEL WALL'

Even Trees Are Ready to Fight Invader.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 29.—Any swift motorized attack against Belgium would be shattered before it reached Belgium's "wall of steel," one is told confidently at the ministry of national defense here.

This feeling rests on the thoroness with which the Belgians have prepared their advance defenses. These are not only the hundreds of pill boxes; the whole countryside has been turned into an obstacle for tanks and all motorized instruments of war.

Fields and Roads Mined.

All the fields that possibly could be used by tanks have been sown with various obstacles and with mines. Bridges and roads have been mined. Even the rows of trees that line the roadsides have been mined. In each tree, at about the height of a man's shoulder, a niche about six inches square was cut and filed with explosives. The tops of the trees have been tied together, so that when they are blown down by an explosion, and a whole row will be blasted down from one fuse, they will fall interlocked across the road.

The work of mining and sowing obstacles has been extended behind the "wall of steel" to provide protection against any possible flank turning movement, and so the whole country is a great tank trap. The traveler is hardly aware of this because of thoro camouflage. A peasant's cottage may be a casemate and a hayrack may cover a murderous mine. Belgium's officers are confident that little information has been obtained from photographs that may have been taken from belligerent planes flying over the country.

Put Faith in Cycle Troops.

Defense of Belgium's first line has been assigned to units trained in operations from small fortifications. They are equipped with bicycles and all are volunteers for this post of extreme danger.

If, in spite of all obstacles and gun fire, a breach should be made in the first line, the Belgian army has a counter stroke in reserve. It consists of a large body of motorcycle troops who can be rushed to any point in danger.

When they talk about their army, Belgium's officers show great pride in describing its arms, all of which are made in Belgium.

For the infantry units, there is a new Belgian rifle, 1939 model; machine guns, sub machine guns, automatic rifles, and a new type of grenade thrower called the DBA, which the Belgians expect to become famous.

For the trenches there is a new small mortar of 76 millimeters.

New Antitank Guns.

Mobile antitank units use a new 47 millimeter gun described as of terrible precision. It is sometimes mounted on its own truck, sometimes drawn by a 24 horse power tractor that can travel at a rate of 25 to 50 kilometers [15.6 and 31.2 miles] an hour. This gun, it is said, fires a piercing bullet or "rupture shell" which, up to a 600 meter distance [nearly 660 yards], goes thru armor 40 millimeters [about 1½ inches] thick, and up to 1,000 meters [nearly 1,100 yards], pierces armor of 35 millimeters [about 1¼ inches]. In addition, it throws explosive shells 3,000 meters [nearly 3,300 yards].

PRESIDENT'S MOTHER BECOMES ILL WHILE MOTORING; RECOVERS

New York, April 29 (AP).—Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, mother of President Roosevelt, suffered an upset stomach today while motoring and was treated and rested for two hours in a drug store near the New York World's fair.

Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt.

Rallying quickly and returning in her own car to her Manhattan townhouse, the unusually active 85 year old mother assured her son, who telephoned from the White House, that she was "feeling fine," adding: "It was just a little stomach trouble." A statement issued from her home said no medical treatment had been required at home and that she was asleep by 7 p. m.

Mrs. Roosevelt was returning with a companion from a luncheon when she became ill. She said she believed her illness resulted from a peach dessert she had eaten at the luncheon.

MECHANIZED AIR DEFENSE TROOPS OFF FOR TEXAS

The mechanized auxiliary weapons battalion of the 61st coast artillery antiaircraft regiment rolled out of Fort Sheridan yesterday en route to San Augustine, Tex. The battalion, consisting of 419 enlisted men and 19 officers, will take part in the 3d army maneuvers already in progress in Texas and Louisiana. The battalion's arrival there will swell to 1,300 men and 50 officers the number of 61st regiment troops engaged in the maneuvers.

Maj. L. M. Kilgarif is in command of the forces which left yesterday The battalion has 129 motor vehicles and the latest type of antiaircraft machine guns.

BRITISH SEEK AID OF IRISH IN DRIVE TO FILL LARDERS

Will Open Trade Talks in London Today.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 29.—The economic aspects of the war again are emerging into the limelight after being overshadowed in recent weeks by hostilities in Norway.

Trade negotiations motivated by the need to keep British larders stocked following the loss of Scandinavian supplies will open in London tomorrow between representatives of Britain and Ireland. It will be the first personal conference between ministers of the two countries since the signing of the British-Irish agreement two years ago.

Sean Lemass, minister of supplies; Dr. James Ryan, minister of agriculture, and Sir John Maffey, British representative in Ireland, flew to London from Dublin.

Needs Beef, Bacon.

Under present arrangements they will remain here until the end of the week and will consult with Lord Woolton, food minister; Leslie Burgin, minister of supply; Robert S. Hudson, minister of shipping, and Sir Reginald Dorman Smith, minister of agriculture.

It is understood Britain desires to expand imports of foodstuffs, notably beef, mutton, and bacon, which are regulated under an agreement concluded between the two countries last January.

The possibility of an early resumption of trade negotiations with Italy, which have been suspended since February, also was indicated. Giuseppe Bastianini, Italian ambassador, saw Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax over the week-end. Their conversation about contraband control and trade was described as "very friendly," and it was said a delegation is ready to go to Rome if an opportunity arises to revive trade discussions.

Russia Gives Conditions.

Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador, was reported tonight to have told Halifax that as a basis for trade negotiations the soviet would be willing to agree not to reëxport British goods to Germany but would refuse to restrict exports of purely Russian goods which might be considered contraband.

Meanwhile the food ministry forecast that Britain will face an egg shortage during the fall and winter, and indicated that the government was considering rationing to restrict consumption.

The ministry announced also that control of lard was likely soon, altho direct rationing of this commodity, as well as cheese and other cooking fats, was not contemplated.

12,857 GERMANS KILLED BY POLES, NAZI BOOK SAYS

Claims 45,000 Missing; Charges Atrocities.

New York, April 29 [Special].—Charges that 58,000 members of the German minority in Poland had been killed or are still missing as a result of "systematic outrages perpetrated by Polish soldiers and civilians . . . in the first few days of the present war" were made public here today by the German library of information, official German propaganda agency.

The charges were embodied in a 259 page volume purporting to include documents collected by the German foreign office from victims and eyewitnesses. It was supplemented by a 63 page pamphlet of pictures labeled "too shocking for general circulation."

Report 12,857 Dead.

German investigations, the publications declared, had identified 12,857 dead up to Feb. 1, with "more than 45,000 persons still missing."

The report, it was said, was based on trial records of special German tribunals in Bromberg and Posen, investigations of the security police and the army high command, and records of army medical examiners.

"The character and scope of the Polish atrocities against the German minority are in a class by themselves in the history of 20th century political murder," the report stated.

"Many of the victims had to dig their own graves with their bare hands before being killed," it was charged. "Persons fatally injured were left to suffer prolonged agony.

Charges Some Were Starved.

"Those who had been beaten were tied with strong ropes and had to starve and thirst for days. War invalids, men with artificial limbs, sick people, were forced to travel by foot.

"Men and women were 'made ready' for execution; they had to face the wall, to squat, with rifles at their backs. This procedure was prolonged so as to break them down before they were finally killed.

"Dying men were trampled upon. The faces of some who had been beaten unconscious were stamped upon; other victims were dragged to death behind horses.

"Noses were cut off, eyes stabbed out," the charges continued. "Victims were emasculated. The bestiality on the part of the Polish murderers extended even to commercial exhibition of the bodies, loudly applauded by leering mobs—a result of a political situation which had led to complete moral collapse.

Claims Women Hanged Selves.

"Little is known of the raping of women and girls who were raped because they were German. Shame has silenced many women; some hanged themselves."

The book took cognizance of "exaggerated rumors of penalties imposed by civil and military courts" set up by the Germans after their arrival, but declared meticulous legal procedure had been followed in each case.

"Germany cannot imperil the rule of law and order in the occupied territory by condoning countless wanton and vindictive deeds of violence," the reports added.

HOTEL DAMAGED BY FIRE.

A 2-11 fire at the Century hotel, 1447 East 55th street, yesterday afternoon routed guests and damaged eight apartments and four rooms in the four story building. The blaze started in the apartment of Edward Goss on the top floor. Battalion Chief John Moynihan estimated the damage, chiefly from smoke, at $2,000.

WHAT'S AHEAD IN RADIO (2)

By CALEB

IN OUR introductory message we traced, by comet flashes, the background of radio's evolution. Only twenty short years ago, the crystal set. Then the loudspeaker; then the cabinet radio; then light-socket operation; then the dynamic speaker; then the superheterodyne circuit and "short wave" foreign reception—all of which brought us to around 1932. Since that time, in the field of standard radio, the recital is merely one of year-to-year refinements, auto and table models, more artistic cabinets.

The one genuinely NEW portent now on the horizon—the Armstrong wide-band system of "Frequency Modulation"—is more than a refinement. Its technique is different from present-day standard broadcasting—calls for special transmitters (new stations) and special receivers (ultimately, new radio sets), and is therefore revolutionary. Behind the scenes in radio development circles it has "been a-brewing" since 1915, and the story of its struggles for recognition, its clashes with expert opposition, its undefeatable determination to be given a hearing and a place in the commercial sun, is much too long for any but brief general summary.

The system owes its existence to one man whose name for progressive contributions to radio stands next only to Marconi's. In line with the questions that our fourth-floor visitors most frequently ask, it would seem logical to deal first with the man—Major Armstrong—then the fundamentals of what "Frequency Modulation" is, what it does, its present status, and how we ourselves view its probable future.

Major Edwin Howard Armstrong was born in New York City in 1890. At twenty years old he was a sophomore in Columbia University, taking electrical engineering under the famous Prof. Michael I. Pupin. Immediately he began experimenting with a vacuum-tube detector, the forerunner of the DeForest audion tube. The result was a new phenomenon: its possibilities as a high-frequency generator.

Just after graduation in 1913, Armstrong filed patent on his "regenerative circuit" and soon he and DeForest had fallen foul of each other on conflicting claims which were to be battled in court to the tune of millions for the next 18 years! The arrival of the World War drew him out of the fight and overseas to become a Major in the U. S. Army Signal Corps, where, three months before the Armistice, he had perfected the famous superheterodyne circuit—finally purchased, along with his invention, the regenerative circuit, by Westinghouse in 1920. . . .

So begins a drama climaxed in 1933 with "Frequency Modulation"—and few narratives have proved of more interest to advertisers, to radio networks and stations, to newspapers, to set manufacturers, and to the public at large, than the one we are now telling.

350,000 ALIENS STIR SWISS FEAR OF INTERNAL FOE

Government Takes Steps to Thwart Menace.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, April 29.—While an atmosphere of peace and serenity appears on the surface of neutral Switzerland, official circles are far from calm.

The country is menaced externally by possible invasion and internally by spies and foreign agents. Officials are thoroly aware of imminent danger and are exerting every effort to provide defenses against attack from any quarter.

The magnitude of the task confronting the government in its attempt to handle the internal situation is shown by published statements that Switzerland has approximately 350,000 aliens in a total population of 4,500,000.

Sixteen Decrees Issued.

The defenses erected against subversive potentialities are seen in the actions of government bodies in recent years. Sixteen decrees covering everything from the definition of a neutral country to what uniforms may be worn by organizations have been promulgated since 1931. They were issued by state and federal councils dealing with the control of subversive activity and propaganda.

The dangers menacing stable government, informed spokesmen say, appear about equally divided between communistic and Nazi propaganda. Activities to spread their policies are practiced similarly by all dictator countries, it is declared. In addition to spies and agents working from the central home organization, ambassadors and consuls control the activities of their subjects abroad thru the medium of passport sanctions.

Passport Used as Club.

For instance, if a subject of one of the countries does not follow instructions concerning the advancement of some government policy he is notified that his passport no longer is valid or subject to renewal and that he must return to his homeland.

Switzerland is a particularly fertile soil for the seeds of Nazi propaganda on account of its proximity to the German nation. Germans in Switzerland are said to number 130,000.

German spokesmen and newspapers have repeatedly accused the Swiss of being unneutral and say proof lies in the fact that the Swiss have fortified only their boundary facing Germany. This, Nazi sources say, is justification for propaganda retaliation.

Sleuths Worry Housewives.

Informed officials report that few arrests have been made, but that the government has carefully investigated all suspects.

The activities of the investigators are not entirely pleasing to the population. Housewives are being annoyed by detectives seeking to uncover misconduct by neighbors. Foreign agents in turn pose as Swiss investigators and try to obtain information to advance their causes.

Father Forgives

MRS. WILLIAM DOBBS.

New York, April 29 [Special].—Mrs. William Dobbs, the former Andrea [Bubbles] Luckenbach, disclosed today that her father, Commodore Edgar F. Luckenbach, shipping executive, after two years has been reconciled with his daughter and her salesman husband.

When Miss Luckenbach and Dobbs eloped on June 14, 1938, it was over the vigorous opposition of Luckenbach. Since that time he has refused to see either his daughter or her husband.

FLOGGER DEEDS $3,200 PROPERTY; OWES $1,000 FINE

Atlanta, Ga., April 29 [Special].—Henry J. Cauthon, Ku Klux Klansman, who was convicted last week on charges of participating in a flogging, today filed with the Fulton county [Atlanta] Superior court four deeds transferring real estate valued at $3,200 to relatives and friends.

Cauthon's attorney, John Hudson, denied the transfers were being made in an effort to evade payment of a $1,000 fine which was imposed as a part of the Klansman's penalty. Hudson declared the transfers were agreed upon a month ago to allow Cauthon to raise money to fight his case.

Cauthon, the first of 17 indicted Klansmen to go on trial in connection with a series of whipping outrages in the Atlanta vicinity, was sentenced to a year on public works, six months in jail, and fined the $1,000.

DYNAMITE TRIAL OF UNION CHIEF OPENS IN INDIANA

Plymouth, Ind., April 29 [Special].—John Marks of Michigan City, business agent for the American Federation of Labor electrical workers, went on trial in Circuit court here today on charges of conspiracy to commit a felony in the dynamiting of steel towers and poles belonging to the Indiana and Michigan Electric company. Damage to company property in the last year is estimated at $200,000.

Marks is 36 years old. He left the employ of the Northern Indiana Public Service company five years ago after 16 years' service to become a union organizer. The state's principal witness against Marks will be Parrish Freeman, a former convict, who has confessed that Marks paid $1,900 to him for dynamiting power lines. Freeman said Marks told him the destruction was for the purpose of trying to make the company disband a company union.

LAUNDRY OWNERS AWAIT RULING ON CASE REOPENING

Seek to Press Plea for a Writ Against Union.

Judge Grover C. Niemeyer in Superior court will rule this morning whether a master's hearing of an injunction suit brought by the Metropolitan Hand Laundry Owners' association was completed with abandonment of the proceedings, or whether further testimony is to be taken.

The owners' association brought the suit against the Laundry Workers' International union, local 46, which it charged with terrorism and intimidation of owners who refused to sign union contracts. One purpose of the suit is to determine whether the phrase "sign up or else" constitutes a threat.

Master Calls Case Closed.

Master in Chancery John J. Kelly, 135 South La Salle street, to whom the case was referred by Judge Niemeyer, has taken the position that testimony was completed last Thursday, when union witnesses were heard in the absence of any representatives of the owners' association. Master Kelly had drafted a report to the judge yesterday when Morris K. Levinson, attorney for the association, filed a new petition in Superior court to keep the case alive.

Levinson asked leave to withdraw a motion filed last Thursday in which the owners' association asked that its suit be dismissed. At that time the association informed Judge Niemeyer that the union was agreeable to entering a new contract with the owners, providing for a wage increase of one cent an hour.

Objects to Late Testimony.

In his new petition Levinson asserts that, altho he had asked Master Kelly not to hold the scheduled hearing last Thursday, the master had accepted additional testimony from the union, then declared the case closed.

Meanwhile, Levinson asserted, negotiations between the union and the owners to draft a new contract convinced the owners that they would be unwise in dropping the injunction suit and relying on the hope of reaching a new contract.

In his answer to the petition Floyd E. Thompson, counsel for the union, denied that William J. Donovan, secretary of the union, ever agreed to abandon his defense to the injunction suit and enter into a new contract. Thompson stated that Master Kelly, at the hearing Thursday, ruled that the owners had abandoned their case.

Mother Who Slew Girl, 5, Is Committed to Asylum

Los Angeles, Cal., April 29 (AP).—Mrs. Betty Hardaker, who killed her daughter in a washroom Feb. 19, was committed today to the Mendocino State hospital by Superior Judge Frank M. Smith. He ordered that should she be adjudged sane at some future time she must be returned for trial of the child who was 5 years old.

An April Wind

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Woman crossing Michigan avenue during stiff wind yesterday.

Chicago had enough kinds of weather to suit—or displease—everybody yesterday. There was an early morning rain. Then it cleared up. The wind averaged 18 miles an hour, but developed almost double that velocity in the loop, where it was concentrated into narrow channels by the rows of tall buildings. At 2 p. m. the temperature reached a high of 65 degrees, while the humidity, the percentage of moisture in the air, was an uncomfortable 79. At 6:45 p. m. a downpour set in that lasted for the next three hours. Today will be more consistent. Forecaster C. A. Donnel predicts it will be cloudy and cooler.

PICK UNPLEDGED G. O. P. DELEGATES IN RHODE ISLAND

Providence, R. I., April 29 (AP).—Rhode Island Republicans, thwarting an insurgent group's plan to place the nation's tiniest state on record behind Thomas E. Dewey, elected an unpledged delegation of eight members to the G. O. P. national convention today, in line with the wishes of Gov. William Vanderbilt.

While the Republicans were meeting in state convention, neighboring Massachusetts made ready for its presidential primary tomorrow, when an old age pension group backing Dewey without his authorization will attempt to gain representation on the Bay state's G. O. P. delegation.

As in Rhode Island, Massachusetts' chief Republican leaders have called for an uncommitted delegation, relying heavily upon the fact that their slate in opposition to that of the pension group is headed by Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., and House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr.

Victory for Vanderbilt.

Political observers interpreted the outcome of the Rhode Island convention as more of a victory for Vanderbilt than a defeat for Dewey. One of the delegates, who was put in the field by the state Republican organization, announced he would support Dewey.

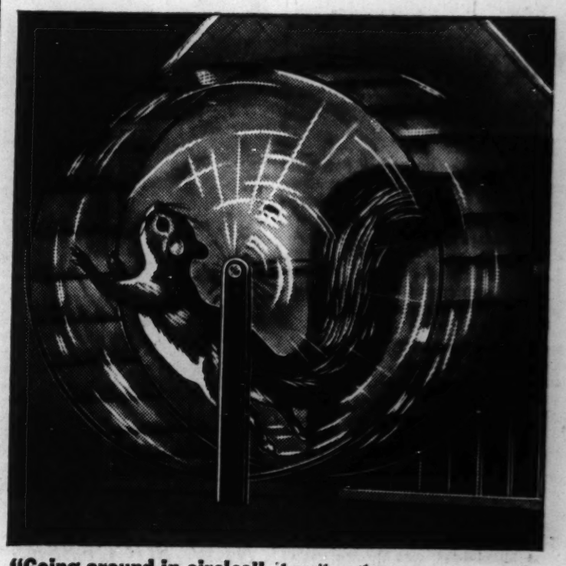
Vanderbilt, who had insisted upon an unpledged, unstacked delegation, displayed his control over the convention early in the session. With his backing and that of the state organization, Herbert M. Sherwood defeated former Attorney General Charles P. Sisson, spokesman for the Dewey-Insurgent group, for the convention chairmanship. The vote was 170 to 113.

Setback for Sisson.

With that setback, Sisson and his followers promptly abandoned a plan either to force thru a Dewey-pledged delegation or to attempt to place some of their own men on the state organization's slate.

Sherwood's election as chairman was made unanimous. A motion to keep the delegates at large unpledged carried without a dissenting voice.

In Praise of the "Ounce of Prevention"



"Going around in circles" describes the way many people treat constipation. They wait for it to strike them, treat it with an emergency cathartic, and then relax—until, after a few days, it comes right back. The process doesn't get them very far.

A better idea that millions of Americans are now following is the "ounce of prevention" that outweighs the pound of "cure." Instead of first enduring constipation and then trying to "cure" it—why not avoid it altogether by getting at its cause? You can very easily, if it's the common kind that's due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet.

How? By eating a crisp, crunchy, delicious breakfast cereal—KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. It supplies the missing "bulk"—helps you not only to get "regular," but to keep "regular" month after month. Eat ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water.

VOTE TO INDICT BOND BROKER ON 4 CHARGES

The grand jury is reported to have voted four true bills yesterday naming Benn B. Davis, an investment broker with offices in the Board of Trade building. Two of the true bills are said to charge failure to account for bonds with a face value of $25,000, part of an estate Davis wa. hired to liquidate for the City National Bank and Trust company. The other two bills are said to name other transactions involving bonds. The indictments are said to have followed an investigation by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Devine and John Burns, chief auditor for the state's attorney's office. Two of the bills reportedly charge that Davis failed to return either the $25,000 in bonds or a similar amount of cash after pledging them for loans.

Philip E. Reiman, 46 years old, who was known as Evanston's model policeman in his 15 years on the force, was one of 67 convicts whose paroles were approved yesterday by the Illinois parole board. Reiman served a year, a month and 12 days of a one year to life sentence in Joliet penitentiary for burglarizing an Evanston sporting goods store.

The parole board freed 34 at Pontiac prison, 18 at Menard, 10 at Stateville, 4 at Joliet, and 1 at the St. Charles School for Boys. Of the lot, 22 were sentenced from Cook county.

Among the Stateville parolees is Arthur Elke, who was sentenced in 1930 to a year to life for the holdup of a soft drink parlor. Police records show that at the time of his capture Elke vowed he would some day "even the score with the cops."

FIGHT CARROZZO INFLUENCE OVER POLITICAL CHIEFS

Pay Roll Padding Methods Investigated.

BY LLOYD WENDT.

Mike Carrozzo, who started his Chicago career as a bodyguard for Big Jim Colosimo, now bosses 25 unions. He is a rich and powerful labor ruler.

There are 50 aldermen in the city council, and many of them are ward committeemen. Politicians admit that thru the years Carrozzo has kept the friendship of many aldermen by providing jobs for their political followers.

Demand End to Dictatorship.

This situation yesterday caused the Citizens' Association of Chicago to join the city administration's fight against Carrozzo boss rule. Benjamin Affleck, president of the association, demanded an end to Carrozzo's self-proclaimed dictatorship over Chicago's streets.

"We have been investigating reports of pay roll padding methods involving Carrozzo," Affleck said. "That is one source of his power. The way to break that power is to split the alliance between Carrozzo and certain politicians. The battle has started, and our association will do its part."

E. W. Puttkamer, vice president of the association, said:

"Carrozzo's claim that he runs the street paving business must be shown up as a mere boast. A civic drive can free Chicago industry and the city hall from his meddling."

Power Lies in Labor Control.

City hall leaders say Carrozzo's contempt for the city was demonstrated 10 days ago when he called an asphalt workers' strike two hours after the city council threw out bids on 100,000 tons of asphalt.

Investigation by the Citizens' association indicated one source of Carrozzo's political power. He controls 15,000 workers and their jobs. More than that, he controls funds collected from the unions.

When a political campaign is pending, the Citizens' association investigators emphasized, it is necessary for aldermen and ward committeemen to put precinct captains and followers in jobs. Politicians can create work by opening up new construction, but only men approved by Carrozzo can be given the jobs.

Need Carrozzo Approval.

Investigation by the Citizens' association shows that politicians get their men into the jobs by having Carrozzo approve them as temporary union men. This keeps regular union workers out of jobs, but the latter are dependent on Carrozzo anyway, and must pay him $2 a month in union dues whether they work or don't. The temporary political worker pays $5 a month for a Carrozzo temporary card. He never becomes a member of the union.

If Carrozzo should put a regular union man in the job, he would get only $2 a month in dues. But if he should put a "temporary" in the job, he would get the $2 from his regular man as well as $5 from the temporary man, and also would win the support of the alderman or ward committeeman sponsoring the temporary worker.

"We have found that the payrolls go up sharply when a political campaign begins," said Kendall Lingle, executive secretary of the Citizens' association.

Racket Exposed by Strike.

The "temporary" permit racket was exposed when Carrozzo called his mysterious asphalt strike. In explaining the strike, Carrozzo told a group of aldermen that his men objected to working with nonunion men. Ald. Rog. Kiley [37th], chairman of the meeting, replied that all city asphalt workers carry Carrozzo cards. Carrozzo was forced to admit this was true. He said his office certified nonunion men "by mistake." This kind of mistake, bona fide union men assert, has been going on regularly for at least 10 years.

Of the 15,000 Carrozzo men in Chicago, about 4,000 work for the city. Of these, 2,150 are in the ward offices and street cleaning department, 707 in other divisions of the bureau of streets, 350 in the bureau of sewers, 132 in the bureau of gas and electricity, and others in the water pipe extension bureau and similar divisions.

15 Per Cent Are Temporaries.

Some of these union men, like Harold Holmes, a divisional superintendent in the bureau of streets, rank high in the union and work closely with Carrozzo. But about 15 per cent are political temporaries, who keep that status year by year, and who pay Carrozzo $60 a year for the privilege. These men have been certified by ward patronage offices.

The Citizens' association which, with the All-Chicago council and the Crime commission, is pushing for an official investigation of Carrozzo, was formed in 1874. A year ago the association took over the Municipal Voters' league and thus accepted the particular duty of scrutinizing the city council's actions.

INDICT 11 FIRMS, 8 PERSONS IN N. Y. PAVING SCANDAL

Half Million Paid in Graft, Is Charge.

New York, April 29 [Special].—City-wide graft in paving contracts in the last three years was revealed today with the indictment of 11 contracting firms and eight of their officers and directors on charges involving $500,000 of alleged graft in Brooklyn.

The indictment states specifically that in excess of $500,000 more than the value of paving projects was paid in Brooklyn on city and federal jobs. It was said contracts for a gross business of $3,000,000 was involved and that a $40,000 slush fund for payments to public officials had been created.

The extraordinary grand jury which received evidence from Special Prosecutor John Harlan Amen returned the indictment, which charges the existence of city-wide frauds in which public officials took bribes. It does not name any of the alleged bribe takers, however. In an explanatory statement, Amen said this was because the evidence against the bribe takers was not yet complete.

Contractors Are Listed.

The indictment charges that Brooklyn contractors had an understanding with contractors in other parts of the city under which each group agreed not to submit competitive bids in the other's territory.

Those named in the indictment are; The Mill Basin Asphalt corporation; B. Turecamo Contracting Company, Inc.; the Highway Improvement and Repair Company, Inc.; the Cranford company; the Cranford Material corporation; the Brooklyn Alcatraz Asphalt company; the Pomonok Asphalt Paving and Material corporation; the Borough Asphalt company; the D. J. McCoy Asphalt corporation; M. J. O'Hara, Inc.; the M. J. O'Hara Contracting Company, Inc., and, as individuals, Vito Pecone, Bartholdi Turecamo, Margaret Becker, John Consalus, Clifton E. Turner, Frank Morse Sr., Joseph Farrell, and William T. Kelly.

A statement from the Amen office said that in addition to these, Michael F. O'Hara, Frank O'Hara, and the late William D. McCoy are named as conspirators but not as defendants under the indictment.

All Plead Not Guilty.

All the defendants entered pleas of not guilty and were released. The bail of all but Pecone was put at $3,500 each. He continues to be under bail of $45,000 on which he has been held on forgery and bribery charges since earlier in the inquiry. Under the law, the corporations have until May 15 to submit written pleas.

The indictment was returned under the terms of the Donnelly act, the state equivalent of the Sherman antitrust law. The first count charges conspiracy to cheat the city and bribe officials; and the second count charges violations of the general business law to form a combine or monopoly in restraint of trade. Both counts are disdemeanors. The conspiracy count carries a maximum possible sentence upon conviction of three years' imprisonment and the second count carries a maximum possible penalty of one year in prison and $5,000 fines for individuals and $20,000 fines for corporations.

RAPIST ADMITS SLAYING WIDOW, 61, WITH KNIFE

Tells How He Stabbed Her 20 Times.

Kensington police announced early today that Albert Moran, 20 years old, a husky automobile mechanic living at 11529 Yale avenue, had confessed the brutal rape and murder of Mrs. Petronela Krawczyk, 61, a widow, on Easter Sunday. She was stabbed 20 times while on her way to church. She lived at 11224 State street.

Moran told Lieut. Albert Jenner that he struck Mrs. Krawczyk, dragged her in back of 11527 Michigan avenue and raped her.

Lieut. Jenner further quoted Moran as saying "I was afraid she would recover consciousness and identify me, so I took out my pocket knife and stabbed her."

Lieut. Jenner said that Moran confessed striking four other women on the head with bricks and molesting many others. Moran was seized Sunday at 109th street and Michigan avenue by Policemen Herman Schafer, John Keilty, and Edward Walsh while indecently exposing himself.

Police today will search for the murder knife which he said he threw into a manhole at 115th and La Salle streets.

END TESTIMONY IN LIBEL TRIAL OF RED EDITOR

New York, April 29 [Special].—Testimony was completed today in the criminal libel trial of Clarence A. Hathaway, editor of the Daily Worker, communist newspaper, and two co-defendants. Judge John J. Freschi excused the jury until Wednesday morning, when summations will begin in General Sessions court.

The final witness heard today was Mrs. Edith F. Liggett, complainant in the case. The criminal libel charges are based on articles published in the Daily Worker in February, 1936, two months after the assassination of Walter Liggett, Mrs. Liggett's husband. He was the crusading editor of the Mid-West American, a Minneapolis, Minn., weekly newspaper. Mrs. Liggett charged that articles printed in the Daily Worker libeled her and the memory of her slain husband.

THREE GAMBLING BOSSES SEIZED; NEW U. S. PROBE

Summoned to Grand Jury Quiz Tomorrow.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Three of Chicago's gambling bosses were seized by police yesterday as part of a new gambling investigation by federal authorities in Chicago. The inquiry centers about the activities of the syndicate headed by Frank [the Enforcer] Nitti, successor of Alphonse Capone.

Harry Guzik, Hymie [Loud Mouth] Levin, and Frank [Chew Tobacco] Ryan were taken into custody as part of the new drive ordered by State's Attorney Courtney in collaboration with United States Attorney William J. Campbell. Their arrest occurred as they left the federal building. They were released several hours later after being served with subpenas to appear before the federal grand jury tomorrow.

12 Others Ordered Seized.

Besides Guzik and Levin, 12 other persons have been ordered arrested by Chief of Detective John L. Sullivan, acting at the request of Courtney and supposedly for the government. Nitti's name headed the list. Others on it are Dennis Cooney, Charles and Rocco Fischetti, brothers; Louis Campagna, Frank Diamond, Tony Volpe, Edward Vogel, James Bittner, Rocco DeGrazio, Jack Guzik, and James Mundi.

At the same time in New York it was reported that the federal government had entered the inquiry launched several weeks ago by Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey, which resulted in the indictment of George Scalise, alleged ally of Nitti in labor union operations.

The indictment obtained by Prosecutor Dewey accused Scalise of extorting nearly $100,000 from hotel owners and building contractors. Scalise was president of the Building Service Employés International union, which has headquarters in Chicago, but on Saturday his resignation was forced after he had been suspended.

Look Into $18,000 Payments.

Investigators for the intelligence unit of the bureau of internal revenue were looking into reported payments of $18,000 to Scalise by a physician who treated union patients. It was also reported action against Scalise as a racketeer would be sought by the federal authorities.

The records of the union over which Scalise presided for the last three years are in Chicago, in the technical possession of Paul O. David, secretary-treasurer of the union, at the headquarters, 130 North Wells street. David and his fellow union officials so far have refused to give the books to an emissary of Dewey.

The drive against Scalise's Chicago ally, Nitti, who is said to have engineered the enthronement of Scalise as head of the international union in 1937, was said to have been ordered because he had been maintaining wire service to gambling houses.

Indicted by Federal Jury.

Guzik and Levin are reported to be lieutenants of Nitti. Ryan is a gambling house operator, reputedly on a salary. They were indicted last Friday for a violation of the radio communications act in the operation of a racing news service.

Yesterday they appeared at the office of the United States marshal, William H. McDonnell, to surrender and give bail. They put up bonds of $2,500 each. Then, as they were leaving the building, they were arrested by Sergts. James Zegar and Edward Allman.

Within a few minutes Attorney Harold Levy filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court. Assistant State's Attorney Walter McCoy told the court he didn't know why the arrests were made but promised to find out and the writ was made returnable at 4 p. m.

At that hour McCoy reported to the court the men were no longer in police custody. They had been surrendered to the federal authorities, he said. At Campbell's office it was said the three were freed after subpenas were served on them.

BARBER SLUGGED BY HOODLUMS IN MYSTERY ATTACK

Michael Bering, owner of a barber shop at 6012 Irving Park road, was beaten last night by two hoodlums at Austin and Warwick avenues.

Bering, who is 52 years old, was walking to his home at 5946 Warwick avenue when an automobile containing three men drew up. Two men leaped out and struck him repeatedly on the head with blackjacks. Then they escaped. Bering was taken to the office of a physician.

He told Lieut. Charles Anderson of the Jefferson Park station he was a union barber in good standing and was certain no labor motive was involved in the attack.

STRANGLES HIMSELF IN HOME.

Charles Fredeen, 52 years old, strangled himself yesterday in his home at 61st and Richmond streets, Clarendon Hills. He had been an invalid for 14 years.

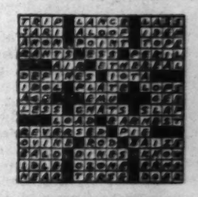
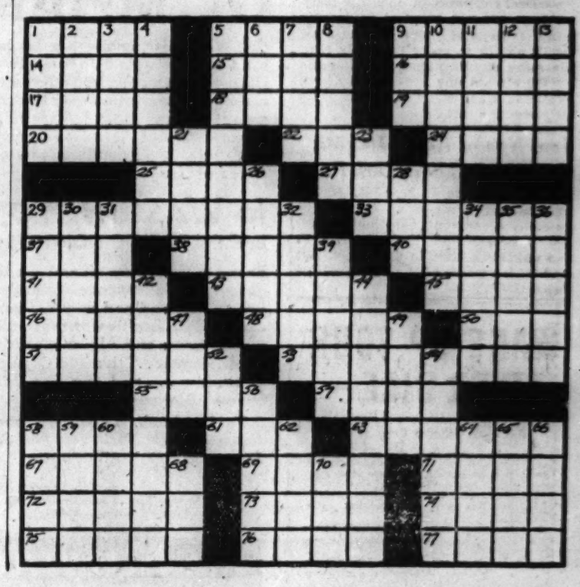
PUZZLE OF MONDAY, APRIL 29, SOLVED





DRIVERS TO MEET TONIGHT ON MILK CONTRACT FIGHT

Union Expected to Define Wage Terms.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

It is expected that Chicago's union milk wagon drivers, at a meeting to be held tonight, will define the terms under which they will continue to deliver to homes and stores. Their contract with milk dealers expires at midnight.

Efforts were made yesterday by both the union leaders and the employers' representatives to resume negotiations which were broken off last Wednesday, but these efforts still were blocked by a refusal to agree on procedure.

The employers are insistent they will be represented by Attorney Ernest S. Ballard as sole negotiator. Altho several messages passed between the union and dealers on this point, the union was firm in its demand to deal with the actual employers, either as a group or as individuals.

Dealer Committee Ready.

"A committee of dealers and I will be in the Morrison hotel at 10 a. m.," said Ballard, "and the union representatives can meet us there if they wish."

Union officials were reported last night to be uncertain whether they would attend the meeting.

The employers' group asserted that every union worker would be notified in writing that, beginning tomorrow, he will be working under a scale calling for $30 a week as a basic wage. The present wage base is $48. With commissions, the average wagon driver now earns $52 a week. Under the proposed scale it is estimated he will receive no more than $40 a week—union men say $35.

Union officials have announced the men will continue to work only if substantially the same scale as the present one prevails. They plan to lay the proposals before the whole membership and let them decide on a course of action.

Hammond Pact Signed.

It was disclosed yesterday that the General Drivers' union in Hammond had signed a contract with dealers calling for a scale of $37.50 plus commissions. Total average earnings, according to union and employers, will be about $40.50, or $8.50 lower than the old contract.

Harry Cole, a business agent for the Hammond union, said the union had accepted the cut because of guaranties of steady employment.

"The dealers," he said, "have agreed to keep the whole 200 men employed and to sell milk delivered to homes at only 1 cent over the store price."

The Chicago home delivery price is 13 cents a quart and the store price is 8½ cents. This differential has caused steady losses in home delivery.

Retail Prices Reduced.

Hammond milk dealers announced a cut of 1½ cents in retail prices after the signing of the new contract. The home price in Hammond, beginning tomorrow, will be 10 cents and the store price 9 cents. Hammond dealers are free from Chicago's federal milk administration and pay farmers about two-thirds of a cent a quart less for first grade milk than do Chicagoans.

N. J. Cladakis, milk administrator, announced that Chicago dealers would pay 10 cents a hundred pounds, or about one-fifth of a cent a quart, less in May than in April for farm supplies distributed as fluid milk. The change is automatic under the market agreement. Cladakis has nothing to do with retail prices.

A decrease of one-half cent in quart retail prices was announced yesterday in New York. The new price there will be 14½ cents for grade B milk and 17½ cents for grade A. Chicago consumers get grade A at 13 cents.

WARNS AGAINST TRUST IN FOREIGN POLICY OF NATION

The American people are living in a fool's paradise if they give blanket approval to Roosevelt's foreign policy, Miss Marian E. Martin, director of the women's division of the Republican national committee, declared here yesterday. Miss Martin spoke in La Grange before 160 women of the West Suburban Republican Women's club.

"What do we know about our foreign policy?" she demanded. "Who, except the President, and perhaps the secretary of state, knows the purpose of Sumner Welles' visit to Europe, or Mackenzie King's visit to Georgia, and who knows what is going on with relation to foreign commitments and entanglements?

"If we have lost confidence in the New Deal's conduct of domestic problems we are not justified in placing blind faith and hope in the New Deal's ability to carry us safely thru the maze of international diplomacy.

"We elected one President to keep us out of war," she concluded. "We all know the result."

Sen. Nye of North Dakota Talks to 300 in Oak Park

CONGRESSMAN'S JOB SALE TRIAL GETS UNDER WAY

Gainesville, Ga., April 29 (AP).—A postal inspector testified in federal court today that Representative B. Frank Whelchel [D., Ga.] told him he collected $3,200 in campaign contributions from persons he assisted in obtaining government jobs.

Rep. B. Frank Whelchel.

M. H. Ackerman, inspector in charge of the Atlanta division, said the congressman came to him shortly after agents began investigating reported sale of postal appointments in the 9th Georgia district. Whelchel, he said, insisted the transactions had been voluntary contributions, and offered to give the agents access to his records.

Whelchel, serving a third term in congress, went on trial today on indictments charging acceptance of $2,700 for three postal appointments and agreement to accept another $1,500 for an appointment which failed at materialize. Indicted with him and on trial jointly on the first three transactions was H. Grady Jones, Pickens county commissioner, accused by the government of having been the go-between for the payments.

IERC TURNS DOWN PLEA FOR BOOST IN CITY JOB FUND

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission voted yesterday to continue its allocations to city sponsored Works Projects administration jobs during May at the rate of $18 a month for each worker. In following this procedure, which has been in effect since February, the IERC rejected the plea of Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, for $335,300 [$24 a month for each worker] for the forthcoming month.

The commission's action will enable a maximum of 9,182 workers to be transferred from relief to WPA rolls. The city's WPA quota for May is to be 36,000. The employment level which the city has been required to maintain as a prerequisite for obtaining state relief funds is 26,818.

Recent legislative action authorized the IERC to use relief funds toward local sponsor's shares of WPA projects provided money was saved in the transfer of reliefers to WPA. According to Leo Lyons, IERC executive secretary, a net savings of $185,767 in relief costs has been effected thru the plan.

One City Asphalt Plant Will Be Reopened Today

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, announced yesterday that one of the three closed city asphalt plants is to be opened today. The plant will serve south side street repairs. Reopening of the west and north side plants will follow the south side plant, Hewitt said. The plants were shut down last week because of a lack of city funds, according to officials.

WIN SANITY TEST DELAY IN FOSTER MOTHER MURDER

Attorney Robert Romano yesterday obtained a continuance to May 13 of the murder trial of Mrs. Aino Orgo Tossavainen, 25 years old, 734 Briar place. He told Judge Joseph A. Graber in Criminal court he was trying to make arrangements for an alienist to examine his client.

Mrs. Tossavainen shot Mrs. Mabel Buchanan, 43, of 1705 West 99th street, March 13 in a corridor outside Juvenile court. Mrs. Buchanan operated a licensed foster home where Mrs. Tossavainen's daughter, Carmen, 4, was staying under court order.

Mrs. Tossavainen saw her daughter yesterday for the first time since the shooting when Carmen went to court. She gave the child a doll. Juvenile authorities said a new foster mother has been named. They would not reveal her identity.

DECLINE SHOWN BY G. O. P. VOTE IN 18TH DISTRICT

Primary Turnout Three Per Cent Under 1936.

Danville, Ill., April 29 [Special].—The 18th congressional district, consisting of six counties, five of which stretch southward down the eastern boundary line of Illinois as far as the Wabash river, fell behind on April 9 in the march toward Republicanism reported generally in downstate Illinois.

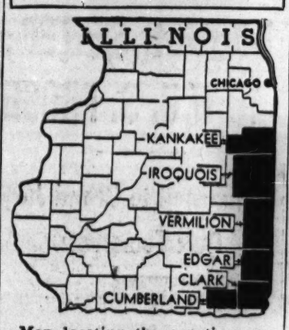
This verdict of analysts was based on the fact that the district cast 1,354, or 3 per cent fewer Republican votes this year than it did in 1936, when the last corresponding primary was held.

Exceeds 1938 Vote.

This year's total of 43,841 was 5,859, or 15.4 per cent, greater than the total in 1938, and 6,370, or 17 per cent, bigger than the vote in 1934, but other downstate districts made Republican gains twice that size.

That the 18th did not, however, fall completely out of the procession was shown by other comparisons with past primaries. The biggest county of the group, Vermilion, of which Danville is the county seat, cast 17,302 Republican votes this year, which was within 100 of its party record in 1936, and Clark county cast the biggest vote for the G. O. P. that it has cast in any of the years studied.

Voting Analyzed



Map locating the counties comprising 18th Illinois district, which lagged behind other districts in the upswing of Republican votes in recent primary.

Vote for Candidates.

The scores in the district of the primary winners were as follows:

Thomas E. Dewey, President	37,655
Jessie Sumner, congresswoman	33,961
Victor McBroom, delegate	28,376
Karl R. O'Hair, delegate	27,060
Wayland Brooks, United States senator	24,444
Dwight H. Green, governor	20,031
Hugh W. Cross, lieutenant governor	17,554
Justus L. Johnson, secretary of state	16,195
Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor	9,335
Warren Wright, state treasurer	14,385
George F. Barrett, attorney general	12,112
William G. Stratton, congress at large	17,348
Stephen A. Day, congress at large	11,401

Thomas E. Dewey received the largest vote given any candidate in the presidential preference since 1928 when former Gov. Frank O. Lowden was entered in this test of sentiment. Dewey's 37,655 almost equaled the combined 24,131 given William E. Borah and the 14,319 recorded for Frank Knox in 1936.

Candidate Spends $2.49 in Post Card Campaign

Roy B. Stokely of Hammond, Democratic candidate for state representative in the Indiana legislature, is making his campaign by postal card. Rubber-stamped on the penny cards is his platform: Cheaper phone service, local option for taverns, removal of taxes from food and medicine. "My campaign costs total $2.49. What have I got to lose?" the cards ask voters.

Wife of Army Horseman Kills Self at Fort Riley

Junction City, Kas., April 29 (AP).—Post headquarters at Fort Riley reported today that Mrs. Earl F. Thomson, wife of Capt. Thomson, an equestrian competitor in the 1936 Olympics, had shot and killed herself. Post authorities said the shooting occurred in the Thomson home after a hunt club ball Saturday night. Capt. Thomson is chief of the department of horsemanship at the army cavalry school. Besides her husband, mother and two sons, Mrs. Thomson leaves a sister, Mrs. Clark L. Ruffner of Norwich, Conn.

COUNTY'S G. O. P. BACKS NOMINEES FOR DELEGATES

Convention Roars Approval of Green and Brooks.

BY PARKE BROWN.

By unanimous vote the Cook county Republican convention yesterday demanded that Dwight Green, nominee for governor, and Wayland Brooks, nominee for United States senator, be made delegates at large to the G. O. P. national convention in Philadelphia on June 24.

Strictly described, the action was a recommendation to the state convention, which has the sole power to choose the eight delegates at large from Illinois, but the manner in which it was taken was accepted as evidence that the 881 Cook county delegates to the state meeting will stand firmly in their insistence that the two men at the head of the November ticket be included in the Philadelphia delegation.

A Reply to Resolutions.

The move admittedly was a direct reply to inspired resolutions from downstate urging that Green and Brooks be left off the list of delegates at large and that at least five of the eight places go to downstaters relatively of less importance in the state and national picture. Hill Blackett, national committeeman, who encouraged the downstate resolutions and also a flood of letters to Green and Brooks, did not attend the county meeting.

An overflow crowd in and around the Crystal room of the Hotel Sherman cheered spontaneously when, without warning, former Congressman Oscar DePriest brought up the subject on the floor.

"According to the newspapers," said DePriest, "there is considerable interest in the question of who will be the Republican delegates at large from Illinois. Apparently some one is trying to settle the selections in advance.

Greeted by Roar of Assent.

"It always has been the custom that the honor of selection as a delegate at large go to the big men of the party, and it always has been the custom without exception that the nominees for governor and senator be included. Who else is so well qualified to speak for the Republicans of Illinois?

"I move that it be the sense of this convention that we recommend to the state convention not only that Mr. Green and Mr. Brooks go to Philadelphia as delegates at large, but that their advice be followed in the selection of the other delegates at large."

An instantaneous chorus of seconds to the motion came from all parts of the floor, and the newly elected chairman, John T. Dempsey [33d], had merely started to put the motion when the roar of assent drowned him out.

An Unprecedented Reunion.

As had been forecast by those watching developments since the April 9 primary, the convention proved to be a reunion to an extent unprecedented in the local history of the party. Green came into the meeting with Richard J. Lyons, his opponent in the voting three weeks ago today. Brooks came in a few minutes later and was on the platform when Edward F. Moore, the retiring chairman, reached and read aloud a telegram from Congressman Ralph E. Church, Brooks' late opponent, expressing his regret that his duties held him in Washington.

Judge Oscar F. Nelson, nominee for state's attorney and therefore the head of the county ticket, sat with Harry S. Ditchburne, the chief contestant against him. Elsewhere on the floor other men who raced against each other until April 9 sat together, the loser promising his support to the winner.

Coöperation Is Urged.

Green, Brooks, Lyons, Moore, and Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman, addressed the convention, all stressing the importance of unity and coöperation for victory on Nov. 5.

"With the kind of united and harmonious action taken here today," said Green, "we can meet and discharge the responsibility that rests on each and every one of us next Nov. 5.

"This a great day," said Brooks. "It's the beginning of a march that may mean much not only to the people of the state of Illinois and the people of the United States, but to all peoples thruout the world."

"The fact that I was not nominated," said Lyons, "does not lessen even by one degree my ardent desire for Republican victory in November."

Roster of New Officers.

CHAIRMAN—John T. Dempsey [33d].

HONORARY CHAIRMAN—William H. Weber [Worth], William Busse [Elk Grove].

VICE CHAIRMEN—Patrick Sheridan Smith [6th], Charles Krutckoff [4th], Oscar De Priest [3d], William H. Reid [16th], William V. Pacelli [20th], Frank M. Kalteux [38th], James B. Waller [43d], Jerry Dolezal [Cicero], William F. Propper [Thornton], Edwin L. Griese [Northfield].

SECRETARY— George M. Fisher [18th]; assistant, Arthur J. Bidwill [River Forest].

SERGEANT AT ARMS—Charles J. Fleck [45th]; assistants, Anthony L. Golusinski [22d], Lester Mehaffey [Palos].

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY—Lorraine A. Ford.

ATTORNEY—John F. Tyrrell; assistant, Euclid Taylor.

In his speech of acceptance, Chairman Dempsey said he wanted the help of all Republicans.

"The outcome of the national election may well depend upon the pivotal state of Illinois," he said. "Whether Illinois is Republican may depend upon Cook county. Whether Cook county goes Republican will undoubtedly depend in the greatest measure upon you."

Before the convention, Mrs. Mabel Krutckoff submitted to Chairman Moore her resignation as chairman of the women's division of the county organization. No action upon it was taken by the convention.

Harmony Meeting of Republicans in Washington

Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, keynoter for Republican national convention, met with party's congressional leaders for lunch in Washington yesterday following a round of conferences. MILLIKAN FLAYS CENTRALIZATION IN GOVERNMENT

Dr. Robert A. Millikan, distinguished scientist of the California Institute of Technology, told the Union League club yesterday that the nation stands in need of some of the rational thinking in economics and government that is exercised in the realm of pure science. He said that emotional thinking is leading to a dangerous centralization of government and the growth of political despotism.

"A system where everything is collected in Washington and then distributed to the local governments is vicious," he said. "There should be local self-government as far as possible—else there arises doubt as to the survival of our free republic."

Speaking at a luncheon in the "America, Wake Up!" series, Dr. Millikan said the course of history shows that democracies are in constant danger of becoming tyrannies if the people do not put restraints upon those to whom they have delegated authority.

IDENTIFY WOMAN SUICIDE.

A woman who killed herself Sunday in a rooming house at 867 North State street was identified yesterday as Sara Jane Watt, 1942 North La Salle street. John Siaal, a waiter, told a coroner's jury they came to Chicago together four years ago.

DEWEY'S HEALTH RESTORED; TOUR TO BE RESUMED

Colorado, Springs, Colo., April 29 [Special].—Thomas E. Dewey, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, who has been confined to bed here for the last two days with an upset stomach, today was virtually recovered. Under orders of Dr. John A. Sevier, hotel physician, Dewey remained in bed today as a precautionary measure.

Dewey called in the newspaper reporters accompanying his party and spent several hours this afternoon chatting with them about the first half of his tour which took him from New York City to the Pacific coast in 11 days. A round of golf tomorrow depends on a medical examination.

Dewey and his party will leave Thursday night for the second half of the tour, which was postponed four days. He will arrive in Wichita, Kas., Friday morning and have luncheon with Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee in 1936. In the evening Dewey will address a dinner meeting at Friends university, a Quaker institution, speaking over a coast to coast hookup of the Mutual Broadcasting company from 10 to 10:30 p. m., Chicago time.

Dewey will speak in Marshalltown, Ia., Saturday, and spend five hours in Chicago Sunday afternoon between trains before leaving for New York City, to end his 7,000 mile trip Monday morning.

G. O. P. KEYNOTER, LEADERS AGREE ON PARTY STAND

'No Foreign Entanglement' Is No. 1 Decision.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 29.—In a series of conferences today Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and Republican leaders in congress agreed on the fundamentals of the keynote speech he will deliver as temporary chairman of the Republican national convention in Philadelphia, Pa., on June 24.

Outstanding features of the Republican position on current issues as developed in these conferences were:

1. Foreign relations—Nonentanglement in the affairs of European and Asiatic nations and emphasis upon pledges to keep the United States out of foreign wars.

2. Government expenditures — An economy program to produce a speedy balancing of the budget.

Would Reform Relief.

3. Relief—Reform of the entire system of relief expenditures and administration, involving principally a decentralization whereby the states would administer relief, assisted by federal grants in aid.

4. Agriculture—Payment to farmers of the difference between domestic and world prices of farm products along the lines of the McNary-Haugen bill, twice vetoed by President Calvin Coolidge, and a soil conservation program with benefit payments applied to all crops.

5. Tariff—Protection of agriculture and industry and repeal of the act under which the Roosevelt administration makes reciprocal tariff reduction treaties with other nations without the advice and consent of the senate, as provided by the constitution.

Stassen Stirs Interest.

The tall, slender figure of the young governor attracted attention when he appeared at the capitol. He is not among the Republican presidential possibilities this year only because, at 33, he is two years too young to qualify, under the Constitution.

In the forenoon he met with Republican leaders in the house, headed by Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass]. He talked with senate leaders at a luncheon given by Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], minority leader of the senate.

PUBLISHER IN TEXAS SLAPS BACK AT ICKES ON CARPETBAG ISSUE

Fort Worth, Tex., April 29 (AP).—Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, told Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes today that while Texas is grateful for his helping with its oil problems, "we do not necessarily need the same kind of help in respect to political problems in Texas at the moment."

The publisher's 2,000 word open letter was a reply to one from Ickes, which the secretary sent Texas members of congress. In it Ickes charged he had been described as a carpetbagger in a Forth Worth Star-Telegram editorial. He also said he understood that Carter and associates had sent political carpetbaggers into Wisconsin for the primary elections in behalf of Vice President John Garner.

Carter, a Garner-for-President supporter, said if there is "any connection between oil regulation, or even PWA projects, and the question of whether Texas should be allowed peaceably to stand up for its own John Garner, I fail to get it."

FINISH MAILING 1939 TAX BILLS; COLLECT $991,973

Mailing of the 1939 tax bills to Cook county taxpayers was completed yesterday, County Treasurer John Toman announced. The treasurer's office mailed 1,200,000 real estate bills and 480,000 personal property bills. Of the county totals, 659,000 realty bills and 250,000 personalty bills went to taxpayers in Chicago.

Toman said collections thru Saturday totaled $991,973 from 14,309 taxpayers. Bills may be paid either by mail or in person at the treasurer's office.

The first tax penalty date is June 1, when the entire personal property tax falls due. Taxpayers may elect to pay only half of their realty bills on June 1, deferring the second instalment until Sept. 1. A penalty of 1 per cent a month is added to all bills for late payments.

COLLECTORS ASK END TO FLOOD OF NEW STAMPS

Farley Program Cuts Value, Say Philatelists.

(This is the last of a series of articles on United States stamp issues under the administration of Postmaster General Farley.)

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

"Get the United States back to normal in stamps" was the demand of many Chicago collectors yesterday of new varieties.

Several of these collectors, members of the Chicago Philatelic society, said they have stopped or will stop buying the commemorative stamps issued by Postmaster General James A. Farley unless he stems the flood of new varities.

He has put out 22 commemorative issues this year and at least 15 more are scheduled to appear, making a total of 122 in the eight years of the New Deal administration. This is 15 more than were printed in the previous 40 year period since commemoratives first were issued in this country.

Counterfeiting Warning Issued

Capt. Addison C. Townsend, nationally known collector of Oklahoma City, Okla., has warned that the outpouring of commemoratives may be a temptation to counterfeiters to bring bogus stamps into the market.

"There certainly is no need for so many stamps," said Robert L. Conney, a collector who lives at 5026 Woodlawn avenue. "Farley is making capital of collectors by forcing them to buy all varieties if they want to be up to date in their albums.

"I've stopped buying these new stamps and won't buy any until the United States gets back to normal and issues them at rational intervals instead of once a week."

Philatelists Hurt, Says Collector.

"Farley is hurting all philatelists who gather United States issues," said Earl Reese, 256 Winthrop avenue, Elmhurst, another collector. "It is particularly a hardship on the youngsters who will be the big collectors of tomorrow. Even at the comparatively small face values of the new stamps, they can't keep up. I resent the idea of philatelists being used to reduce the postal deficit."

John T. Hermansader, 1851 West 108th place, said he and other collectors feel that the government should realize it is cheapening the philatelic value of its modern stamps by printing so many commemoratives.

"Italy and Russia put out large numbers of commemoratives," Hermansader said, "and hoped that collectors would be suckers enough to buy them. But the collectors knew what was going on and the Italian and Russian commemoratives now have a low rating. That could happen with United States commemoratives if Farley doesn't watch out."

Turn to Foreign Issues Cited.

"The host of Farley commemoratives," said Charles Ball, 4227 North Ashland avenue, "is disgusting many philatelists. Many are turning to the stamps of those foreign countries whose governments are not so short-sighted or prodigal with new issues."

O. C. Lightner, publisher of "Hobbies" magazine at 2810 Michigan avenue, said the Farley commemoratives are destroying the dignity of stamp collecting.

"By bringing in a profit motif," Lightner said, "Farley is wrecking the recreational value of philately."

Mannel Hahn, 545 Lincoln avenue, editor of "Postal Markings," said Farley's action is ruining the free market in stamps.

"If the philatelist is to keep up with all the new issues," Hahn said, "he hasn't money to spend on the older ones. He is forced to limit his collection."

Theodore Sheldon, 209 South State street, a collector, gave a different viewpoint.

"The stamps are coming out too fast," he said, "but I think they are bringing in new collectors. The educational advantages outweigh the other disadvantages."

A complaint of some collectors is that new commemoratives are not available in all post offices and they are put to added expense in having to order them from the philatelic agency in Washington, D. C. This agency, a branch of the post office, sells the best of stamp printings.

Total Cost Increased.

Here is an instance: A collector wishes to buy $10 worth of new commemorative. His local post office does not stock this stamp.

He writes to the agency and must enclose a money order for $10.24—$10 for the face value of the stamps, 6 cents for return postage and 18 cents for registration which the government requires on such return mail.

In addition he pays 13 cents for the money order and 3 cents for the stamp on his letter. He is thus paying a total of $10.40 for $10 worth of stamps, 4 per cent over the face value.

SEE $250,000 CITY SAVING A YEAR IN $500,000 TRUCKS

Spend half a million dollars and you can save a quarter of a million a year. That was the suggestion made to the city yesterday by P. C. Nilles, superintendent of equipment for the city's garages. One hundred new enclosed garbage trucks, costing $500,000 to $600,000, would save $263,120 a year in garbage collection costs, he said.

Nilles spoke before a council finance committee sub-committee headed by Ald. Roger J. Kiley [37th] which is reviewing a request made by Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works. Nilles said the trucks, of a type developed by the city of New York, would do the work of 55 privately owned trucks rented by the city, 10 city trucks and 60 city trailer units.

1,700 REAL ESTATE OWNERS PROTEST '39 ASSESSMENTS

More than 1,700 real estate owners have filed objections to their 1939 property assessments in the first two days of the protest period, John F. Delaney, chief clerk of the county board of appeals, said yesterday. The time limit for filing is July 1. The objecting taxpayers may pay half of their real estate taxes before June 1, the first penalty date, and the remainder after their objections have been ruled upon by the board, but before the final penalty date, Sept. 1. Objections to realty assessments always are higher for a quadrennial assessment year like 1939, it is stated. Objections totaled 102,000 in 1931 and 51,000 in 1935, as compared with but 16,000 in 1938.

FREEDOM MUST RING AT U. OF C., ASSERTS LASKER

50th Anniversary Plans Told at Dinner.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

"Let freedom ring," said Albert D. Lasker last night as he addressed more than 100 prominent Chicago business men at the Chicago club on the occasion of the announcement of the 50th anniversary celebration plans of the University of Chicago.

Much had been said by other speakers, including Marshall Field and President Robert M. Hutchins, concerning the premier place that the university has taken in the educational world, and why Chicago men should support it.

Mr. Lasker, one of the university's trustees, said that in some of its departments the university had been pictured as red or pink.

Free Speech, Championed.

"But it makes me proud as a trustee," he said. "No university is worth support where its faculty is policed. We cannot be a democracy where we limit freedom of thought. I believe that our people will preserve the best. I am a conservative Republican, but I would give the most radical New Dealer a right to express his views. I would never forbid this. I would have the university a beacon for the freedom of education and for the preservation of the American system."

Marshall Field, whose grandfather gave much of the land on which the university is built, came from New York for the dinner and made one of his rare speeches.

He made a study of the university's place in education, he said, before he became a trustee and contributed to the university fund. The university edifice, he declared, is so firmly established that it is not dependent on any one man or group of men for its future.

Experiments Must Go On.

"It is my firm belief," he said, "that continual experimentation must go on, and that by trial and error mistakes of the past may be remedied, the good and sound in past knowledge retained, and a more satisfactory development of the human mind arrived at."

The university today, Mr. Field continued, is maintaining its pioneering tradition.

"I am sure this university is one of the institutions of Chicago in which you and your descendants will take the greatest pride," he said.

Harold H. Swift, president of the trustees, and Edward L. Ryerson Jr., also a trustee, were the other speakers.

Educational Events Planned.

Plans for the anniversary celebration include many events of educational interest. Many learned bodies will convene here and many speakers of world fame will take part in the program.

Mr. Swift said that at the beginning the university's total assets were $1,000,000, plus one and a half blocks of land. On June 30, 1939, he said, the total assets were $125,000,000. The campus is now 110 acres, with 85 buildings used for academic purposes. He said the university pays taxes of $828,834 and its annual roll of 12,400 students spends $7,500,000 in Chicago.

MALCOLM CAMPBELL ADMITS TRYSTS, BUT IS GRANTED DIVORCE

LONDON, April 29.—Sir Malcolm Campbell, for years speed king on land and water, today was granted a conditional divorce decree on the grounds of his wife's adultery with his former business associate, the Hon. Brian Edmund Lewis.

Brian Edmund Lewis. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Shortly before the judgment was given, Lady Campbell, who had answered Campbell's suit with her own divorce petition, charged he had condoned her adultery with Lewis, which she said began in 1930 or 1931 and ended in 1934. Campbell earlier had admitted adultery with four women and had dropped his case against one of the two co-respondents he had named.

Lewis was ordered to pay the costs of the suit, not including those against the other co-respondent nor against a woman cited by Lady Campbell as co-respondent. The women were dismissed from the case last week.

As the case neared its close Campbell said that in 1938 he discovered Lady Campbell and Lewis had stayed together in several places.

CEMETERY GROUP AGREED TO TRIPLE MONEY, 2 CLAIM

William A. Benz, a retired farmer, and his daughter, Miss Edna Benz, a trained nurse, both of Northfield, Minn., told a jury in the court of Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday of their investment of $4,000 in the purchase of cemetery lots from the First Commonwealth Trustees of Chicago.

Thirteen persons are on trial on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of lots in a cemetery development at Twinsburg, O. Principal defendants are Christian W. Beck and Mike D. Gordon of Cleveland, O., and Robert Stickney of Boston, Mass. The government alleges more than 500 persons in the central states have been swindled of $160,000.

Miss Benz and her father testified they bought a number of lots at an average price of $150 on the promise that the property would be resold within two years for $450 a lot.

MOTHER UPHELD IN GIVING AWAY $500 A MONTH

Sister Denied Injunction in Cowdery Suit.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Judge Donald S. McKinlay held yesterday that it was within the law for a mother to give money to one daughter and ignore a second.

He made the ruling in denying a temporary injunction sought by Corene Cowdery to restrain her sister, Mrs. Louise Cowdery Willard, 277 Linden Park place, Highland Park, from accepting $500 a month from their wealthy widowed mother, Mrs. Jennie Van Fleet Cowdery of Kenilworth.

The hearing was the first held in the sisters' fight for possession of the estate of their father, Edward G. Cowdery, former president of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, who died in 1932. He established a $1,000,000 trust fund for his widow, from which she receives an annual income of $55,000.

Charges Mother Is Incompetent.

The litigation was instituted in Superior court by Corene Cowdery on April 6, acting, she said, in her mother's behalf. She charged that her mother was 86, incompetent and distracted, and had become so bemused and befuddled in the coils of the mystic I Am cult, in which Sister Louise is a leader, that she was giving lavishly to Sister Louise. The gifts included her $100,000 Kenilworth home and $500 a month.

Sister Louise admitted she was a member of the I Am cult, but denied it contained any "wrongful activities," and added that it contained many socially prominent adherents. She denied she coerced her mother into joining the I Am, and said that her mother gives her $500 a month "of her own free will."

Mrs. Cowdery Disowns Suit.

Mrs. Cowdery, in an intervening petition, said she did not authorize Daughter Corene to file suit in her behalf. She said she is fully sane and competent.

Attorney Don Jones, speaking for Mrs. Cowdery and Daughter Louise, reminded the court of Shakespeare and the sharp tongue of an ungrateful child. He reminded the court that parents sometimes have more affection, sometimes with justification, for singling out one child for love.

Attorney John C. McCurry, speaking for Sister Corene, said the crux of his case is Sister Louise's domination of her mother. He spoke of Mrs. Cowdery as a "sick, distracted old lady being taken advantage of by a grasping daughter."

Judge McKinlay considered that for a while. Then he reminded the attorneys that Rockefeller struggled along nicely at 94.

CHAIN GANG FUGITIVES FACE BURGLARY TRIAL; GEORGIA PLEA DENIED

Sheriff Marcus Damisch of Kane county yesterday declined the request of Georgia authorities for the return of two fugitives from a Georgia chain gang captured early Saturday at Geneva. Charles A. O'Connor, Kane county state's attorney, said he will prosecute the prisoners on charges of attempting to burglarize the Geneva Western Union telegraph office.

The prisoners are Sam Jones, colored, and Richard Baker. Jones was captured near the office and Baker was arrested after Jones told Policeman Walter Dahlquist, who made the arrests, that Baker was the man who had just made an unsuccessful attempt to blow the telegraph office safe.

476 MILLION ROAD PLAN APPROVED BY HOUSE GROUP

Washington, D. C., April 29 (AP).—The house roads committee today approved legislation to authorize a $476,000,000 federal highway program for the 1942-'43 fiscal years and make available to states long term loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for purchase of rights of way.

Included was a provision to permit regular federal aid highway funds to be used in meeting defaults on right of way loans made by the RFC. The committee also approved an amendment offered by Representative James W. Mott [R., Ore.] to authorize the use by the states of 5 per cent of federal aid funds for purchase of adjacent land regarded necessary for the preservation of scenic beauty.

The legislation would continue for another two years a provision exempting from matching requirements financially embarrassed states which have devoted 90 per cent of motor vehicle funds to highway purposes.

SPARKLING MUSIC FOR RADIO FANS IN 'BITTERSWEET'

First of W-G-N May Series of Operettas Thursday.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The dictionary defines operetta as "a light, amusing . . . musical—dramatic work with an inconsequential plot, cheerful music, and spoken dialogue."

The definition is a gem of understatement—at least, when applied to the presentation of Noel Coward's "Bittersweet" on the première performance of the W-G-N Theater of the Air, under auspices of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, from 9 to 10 p. m. next Thursday. This performance with Marion Claire and James Melton, stars of opera, operetta, movies, the concert stage and radio, as the headliners, will represent something outstanding in Chicago's musical annals.

Miss Claire and Mr. Melton represent the ideal choice for this presentation of "Bittersweet," just as the show itself represents an admirable choice for the first of this May series of operettas. Why?

Producer Gives Answers.

William A. Bacher, the distinguished Hollywood producer and director, has some sound answers. Bacher, who will produce and direct W-G-N's May series, produced "Show Boat" and "Hollywood Hotel" for years on the air. He has produced almost every operetta that ever was written. For more than a year he produced the distinguished Beauty Box Operetta series.

Bacher knows that listeners love operettas. They love them, he says, because they abound in tuneful, gay music, because most of them have good stories. The rank and file of the public prefer them to grand opera because they understand them and their music endears itself to them more quickly.

The operetta or light opera represents something in between the traditional grand opera with its serious, often tragic, theme and its continuous singing, and the jazzy, frothy revues and musical comedies.

Qualifications Are Stringent.

In many respects, according to Mr. Bacher, the qualifications of operetta performers are more stringent than those for grand opera singers and certainly far superior to those of revues.

Their musical training must be excellent. It is not required that they have voices as powerful as grand opera stars, but they must sing more often. In addition they must be competent actors, since they have lines to read as well as songs to sing. Often some skill in dancing is required. And it is almost imperative that the feminine stars be young and beautiful and that the male stars be handsome.

Miss Claire and Mr. Melton fill this bill, says Bacher. And, of course, Henry Weber is suited for handling the fine Coward score. It represents Coward at his best. Coward is said to regard it, both from the musical and dramatic point of view, as the most satisfactory thing he has ever done.

Called Loveliest Operetta.

"Of all operettas, this is the loveliest," said Miss Claire yesterday. "And it has the best book, too."

Miss Claire portrayed the rôle of Sari with the Chicago company of "Bittersweet" with Allan Jones in the male lead. Simultaneously, the American singer and actress, Peggy Wood, was playing with the London company, and Evelyn Laye had the lead with the New York company.

"Bittersweet," like the operettas to follow in the W-G-N series, has been streamlined to one hour, but all the highlights have been maintained. Noel Gerson did the adaptations.

In next Sunday's Graphic section a full page devoted to "Bittersweet" shows pictures and biographies of the stars, with Mr. Bacher and Mr. Weber; the story of the operettas, and sheet music for "Romance Is a Song," the theme of a Chicago Theater of the Air.

HEIR WINS DELAY OF DRUNK CHARGE IN SAFETY COURT

A charge of driving while intoxicated against Stanley de Korwen Young, 27 years old, heir to a fortune left by Otto Young, pioneer Chicago merchant who died in 1906, was continued until today by Judge Frank M. Padden in Safety court yesterday.

Attorney Lawrence Dowd, representing Young, said his client was too ill to appear. Judge Padden ordered that either Young or a physician's certificate of illness be in court today or Young's bond would be forfeited. Young was arrested following a minor traffic violation at Michigan avenue and Van Buren street Friday. Young, son of an Austrian count, uses his grandfather's name because his mother, Mrs. Ruth Young, has resumed her maiden name.

Three defendants were fined by Judge Padden and two got jail sentences. Otto H. Fuss, 3341 North Claremont avenue; Emil Henning Jr., 6710 Belmont avenue, and Douglas MacAlister, 44 North Menard avenue, each was fined $100 for driving while intoxicated. Ben Malanowski, 3017 Farrell street, was sentenced to 60 days in the Bridewell for driving while intoxicated and Atlee V Coale, 6437 Minerva avenue, got a five day county jail sentence for reckless driving.

Unidentified Man's Body Found Floating in Lake

The body of an unidentified man about 60 years old was taken from the lake near the Naval armory at Randolph street yesterday by a coast guard crew from the Old Chicago station. The man's tie clasp held the initials "R.A.M." He was white, about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighed about 200 pounds, and had blue eyes and gray hair. The body had been in the water approximately 24 hours.

511 Highway Deaths in State in First Quarter

Springfield, Ill., April 29 (AP).—Deaths on Illinois highways during the first three months of this year totaled 511, of which 184 were added to the list during March.

TRAFFIC TOLL UP; AMERICA URGED TO PUT ON BRAKES

7,200 Lose Their Lives in Three Months.

Seven thousand two hundred persons were killed in traffic accidents thruout the nation in the first quarter of 1940, according to figures released yesterday by the national safety council. The toll is 450 more than for the same 1939 period, an increase of 7 per cent.

Last month 2,440 persons were killed in traffic, 240 more than in March, 1939. It was the sixth consecutive month to top the corresponding month for the previous year in number of deaths. Despite the increase, however, the total dead for the first two months this year are 1 per cent less than the same period last year, figured on a mileage basis.

Vacation Months Ahead.

"The fact that 450 more people were killed in the winter months of this year than last is particularly alarming," Col. John Stilwell, council head, stated, "because vacation months with their heavy travel are just ahead. It is up to America to apply the brakes."

The council report shows that only 12 of 37 states included reduced their death rate during March. Only 10 cut the rate for the three month period. Illinois was not one of these, altho Chicago, with a 1 per cent decrease for the three months, is estimated to have saved two lives.

Only 92 out of 425 cities reporting showed decreases during March as compared with the same month a year ago, while 241 had the same number of deaths. The other 82 showed increases. For the full three month period, 127 cities reported fewer deaths.

182 Have Perfect Records.

One hundred eighty-two cities still had perfect records as the first quarter ended. The largest of these were Lynn, Mass., with 102,900 population, and Duluth, Minn., with 101,900. Rochester, N. Y., and Oklahoma City, Okla., were the largest cities to end March with no deaths for the month.

Buffalo, N. Y., has top ranking among cities with more than 500,000 population for lowest death rate during the quarter. New York City is second and St. Louis, Mo., third. Chicago is 12th, of 13 cities of that size reporting.

DR. MURPHY'S KIN KILLED

John B. Murdock, 17 years old, a grandson of the late Dr. John B. Murphy, famous Chicago surgeon, was killed last night when his automobile was struck by the Hiawatha, Milwaukee railroad flyer, on Telegraph road at the Point Comfort crossing in Deerfield, Lake county.

As Murdock approached the crossing he passed Joseph McGarrigle of Deerfield, a friend, who was riding a motorcycle. He turned to wave.

The next second he was on the tracks. The fast train, Chicago bound, struck his car squarely. Murdock was the son of Mrs. Andrew E. Van Esso, the former Miss Celeste Murphy, and lived with her at 100 Hazel avenue, Highland Park.

Pedestrian Dies of Injuries.

Daniel Binetti, 57 years old, 742 North Lawndale avenue, a hat blocker, died early today in the Washington Boulevard hospital of injuries suffered in a collision at Paulina street and Washington boulevard on Saturday. Cars driven by Elmer Brayton, 114 North Albany avenue, and Joseph Winski, 1732 18th place, crashed and one of them struck Binetti, who was a pedestrian.

Loren Wilcox, 79 years old, 1847 Berteau avenue, was killed last night when he was run down by an automobile at Sacramento and Peterson avenues. The driver was Irving Stein, 19, of 4918 North Drake avenue. He was held for the inquest. Wilcox left home at 11 a. m. and his family reported him missing, fearing because of his ago harm might befall him. He was killed as police were searching for him.

William Wollgast, 62 years old, a farmer of Frankfort, Will county, died last night in the St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, of injuries suffered on Saturday when his wagon was struck by an automobile in Lincoln highway, one mile west of Frankfort. The driver was Sydney Smith, 27, of the Marquette hotel, Joliet.

Woman's Injury Fatal.

Mrs. Jenny Spano, 57 years old, 1719 North Kedvale avenue, died in Mercy hospital. She was hit by an automobile at Milwaukee avenue and Wood street April 5, but refused medical attention at the time. She entered the hospital the next day. Ronald Wells, 27, of 1400 East 53d street, was driving the car.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 277 persons had been killed in auto accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 210 were killed in Chicago, where 6,659 were injured during the same period.

License 135 Cook County Garages to Test Trucks

Charles P. Casey, director of the state department of public works and buildings, announced yesterday that 135 Cook county garages and service stations have been licensed to test trucks in accordance with provisions of the state motor carrier act. Trucks must pass semiannual inspections, at approved stations, of their brakes, lighting equipment, and other mechanical equipment relating to safety.

Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 24.

1. The "jitterbug" cow among the following would most likely be the Holstein Jersey Guernsey Hereford
2. A shuttle is used by a Painter Carpenter Weaver Gardener
3. Which set of letters usually indicates a distress signal. P. D. Q. R. S. V. P. S. W. A. K. S. O. S.
4. Leaf springs are usually associated with Forests Irrigation Automobiles Flowers
5. A starling is a Small Star Minor Planet Bird Fish
6. It is "Clean Up Week" and the school principal had just given an appropriate address before the general assembly. At its conclusion he asked for two volunteers from the audience so that he could test the effectiveness of his talk. Two boys came forward. The principal pulled a roll of bills from his pocket and asked, "Would you rather have an OLD five dollar bill or a NEW one?" Much to the surprise of the audience, one of the boys selected the OLD five dollar bill. But the principal patted him on the head and told him he had horse sense. Why did he do so?

SEEK ORDINANCE TO END SHADY GAS STATION TACTICS

Motorists in Chicago are cheated out of two million dollars a year thru misleading price signs erected by unscrupulous filling station operators, Bradley M. Provis, president of the Gasoline Retailers' association of Metropolitan Chicago, asserted yesterday.

Referring to a Chicago Motor club survey made in 1939, Provis added that the motorists are defrauded of another $800,000 annually by adulteration of gasoline and substitution of inferior grades of motor fuel for higher priced high test varieties.

Provis spoke at a joint meeting of the area councils of the Chicago Motor club at the La Salle hotel at which was voted indorsement of a proposed city ordinance which would prohibit such shady practices and save the motorists' money. The area councils are composed of representatives of 240 civic organizations.

The ordinance, introduced by Ald. A. G. Lindell [9th] is before the city council judiciary committee headed by Ald. H. L. Brody [39th]. It would require signs of uniform size and lettering and prohibit the adulteration of gasoline under penalty of a fine of $10 to $100 for each day the ordinance is violated.

$200,000 ZIEGFELD ESTATE IS SOLD FOR $36,000 AT AUCTION

Hastings on Hudson, N. Y., April 29 (AP).—The $200,000 estate of the late Florenz Ziegfeld, Broadway producer, was sold at auction today for $36,000 to a real estate dealer who in the past has negotiated business deals for Father Divine, Harlem evangelist.

The purchaser, Edward Rosemanan of Brooklyn, said he had no immediate plans for the property, Burkely Crest. He would not discuss the possibility it would be taken over by Father Divine as a "rural heaven."

The estate, consisting of a 22 room stone mansion, several smaller buildings, and 24 acres of land, was used part of each year by Ziegfeld and his actress wife, Billie Burke, from their marriage in 1914 until the producer's death in 1932. Miss Burke said then she would never live on the estate again because it was "too full of memories."

THREATENS TO REPEAT LEAP.

John Melby, 22, years old, 2450 Monticello avenue, was sent to the psychopathic hospital by police yesterday after he was rescued from the river by the Fullerton avenue bridgetender, Joseph O'Malley, 4028 Cornelia avenue. Melby would not say why he had jumped, but threatened to do so again.

THEY SAY THIS ABOUT mary...

The price Mary paid

She was Queen of Scotland yet few women have endured as much as she did. She wrote: "I have suffered injuries, calumnies, captivity, hunger, cold, heat—flying without knowing whither—four-score and twelve miles across the country, without once pausing to alight, and then lay on the hard ground, having only sour milk to drink and oatmeal to eat . . ."

Yet the priceless gift of making friends was the dominant note in the life of Mary. This led the makers of Highland Queen years ago to name their whisky for her. It is an appealing whisky, light and delicate, yet it retains rare flavor and bouquet.

GOOD FAITH IN JUNE.

A subscriber whose opinions are entitled to respect has taken us to task for a recent editorial entitled, "Good Faith in June; Victory in November." The editorial said that the Illinois delegation to the Republican convention in Philadelphia could not afford to disregard the fact that 85 per cent of the Republican voters in Illinois had marked for Mr. Dewey. The delegation, we said, should support Mr. Dewey at least as long as he was in the running for the nomination. To do otherwise would be to risk antagonizing Mr. Dewey's following in this state and thus injure the prospects of the state and national tickets in November.

A paragraph in the editorial read:

"Thomas E. Dewey, running without opposition, obtained close to a million votes . . . about 85 per cent of the total. This may be taken as conclusive evidence that he is an acceptable candidate to the overwhelming majority of Republicans in Illinois and it establishes a presumption that he is the preferred candidate of the party in this state."

Our friend observes:

"That argument is equivalent to the following: You ask a child if he would like a gumdrop. He says yes. Therefore, he has expressed himself as preferring gumdrops to all other candies.

"The fact is, the majority of people voted for Mr. Dewey because they were registering their desire for a Republican President. I have no brief for or against Mr. Dewey, but it is just such sophistic reasoning that greatly diminishes the influence of your editorials."

The analogy doesn't strike us as accurate. A closer one would run something like this: The proprietor of a school store wished to know what kind of candy the children preferred. He invited the manufacturers to submit free samples to the youngsters, each child to receive the candy of his choice. The kind preferred by the largest number would be the only one he would carry in stock thereafter. The manufacturer of chocolate bars refused to enter his product; the manufacturer of caramels and the manufacturer of lollypops took the same position. The gumdrop man was the only one to accept the offer and almost all the children asked for samples of his wares.

It may well be true that such a contest would not prove conclusively that gumdrops are the preferred candy of the majority, but we didn't say they were. We said such a contest would establish that gumdrops were acceptable to the great majority and would create a presumption that they were preferred by the majority. The presumption would be derived not only from the fact that an overwhelming majority asked for gumdrops but also from the fact that the manufacturers of other candies did not care to risk the contest.

Our correspondent thinks we were trying, by sophistry, to promote Mr. Dewey's candidacy. In fact, we were pleading for the good faith which sound morals and a prudent regard for consequences united in recommending to the delegates.

WHAT THEY LEARN IN SCHOOL.

A little girl in the Milwaukee schools glibly explained the other day that one of her classmates involved with others in stirring up a public commotion among the students was a Leninist, not a communist. Maybe she was right.

She was trying to convince a reporter that there were no communists in the Youth Committee Against War, which was the designation taken by the group organized to provoke the students.

This particular demonstration struck a snag when the two La Follette politicians who agreed to lend their names to it discovered the children had attached a manifesto describing Russia's war against Finland as defensive and included a pledge never to participate in an American war for any purpose.

The adults, sensing a revulsion of public feeling, repudiated their agreement and left the school children holding the bag.

The boy described as the Leninist could not be interviewed at the moment. He was in his classes at Milwaukee State Teachers college, from which in the ordinary sequence he will graduate in a year or so, prepared at public expense to teach his ideas to younger school children.

What do they teach in these schools that American children in their teens come out of them prattling of Leninism and communism? We do not know of this particular group, but in all probability all come from homes with automobiles, radios, and enjoy, as a matter of course, luxuries and privileges that Lenin to his death never had.

This occurred in Milwaukee, but the so-called National Youth congress in Washington recently is evidence that the situation in Milwaukee is not different from that prevailing in many places. Any one who regards these activities as a spontaneous expression of American youth is just too simple. They are obviously inspired, guided, and directed by adults with an unhealthy purpose to serve.

It is a task we commend to the Dies committee to learn what and who provides the motive that teaches American school children the distinction between communism and Leninism. We wonder if they are as well taught in American as in Russian history.

FILIPINO INDEPENDENCE AND THE DEMOCRATS.

William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic nominee for President in 1900, fought his unsuccessful campaign on the issue of imperialism growing out of our territorial acquisitions following the Spanish-American war.

"The Filipinos," said the platform of his party in that year, "cannot be citizens without endangering our civilization; they cannot be subjects without imperiling our form of government, and as we are not willing to surrender our civilization or to convert the republic into an empire, we favor an immediate declaration of the nation's intention to give the Filipinos first a stable form of government; second, independence; and third, protection from outside interference, such as has been given for nearly a century to the republics of Central and South America."

Independence for the Philippines became from that date on a policy of the Democratic party. In 1904 the party was for setting the Filipinos on their feet, free and independent, to work out their own destiny. In 1908 and 1912 the party advocated independence as soon as a stable government was created and the islands were neutralized by treaties with other powers.

In 1916, having been in office four years without freeing the islands, the Democrats softened their declaration to an indorsement of "ultimate independence." In 1920 they favored independence without unnecessary delay. By 1924 they were declaring that it was then "our liberty and our duty to keep our promise by granting immediate independence." This was repeated in 1928.

The platform of 1932 that Candidate Roosevelt indorsed "100 per cent" declared flatfootedly for independence. Independence was granted by the Tydings-McDuffie act, which the President signed, to take effect in 1946. In the meantime the Filipinos have a commonwealth, with this nation retaining supervision over tariffs, foreign affairs, and defense of the islands.

That should end the matter, but it may not. While the Filipino political leaders still stand publicly for independence, they have shown a disposition as the date of freedom approaches to eat their cake of independence and have it, too, thru continued American protection of the islands. The policies of the Roosevelt administration give ground for suspicion that it is not unwilling to assume this impossible burden.

The Filipinos got independence because they asked it, but we gave it to them because it was to our self-interest. American agricultural interests were for independence because they wanted to be rid of the competition of Philippine sugar and vegetable oils, entering this country duty free. Our military forces were for it because they have long considered the Philippines impossible to defend.

There should be no turning back from our decision now. Some of President Roosevelt's policies indicate that he would have us turn back. He has repeatedly sought to fortify the island of Guam, which by its location would constitute a threat at the heart of the Japanese empire. There is no purpose in fortifying Guam except as a base on the route to the Philippines, where our interests are scheduled to end by the time the fortifications would be completed, if authorized now.

Secretary Hull stuck the neck of this country out as far as the Dutch East Indies the other day. The Philippines are a military liability of the gravest sort to the United States. To the British, French, and Dutch empires, on the other hand, they are a barrier to Japanese aggression against the Indies. Since we do not consider our own interests in the islands worth the military risk of defending them, we certainly have no business maintaining military and naval establishments there to defend the Asiatic possessions of European nations.

GOERING AND PEACE.

The spread of the war to the north where it could be one of movement and of actual fighting must have destroyed most hopes that the belligerents might find a way to peace which did not lead thru the wreckage of Europe. There was a phrase which contained some of these faint hopes—"a Goering peace."

The idea that the field marshal named by Hitler as his successor at the beginning of the attack on Poland could lead a peace party in Germany and offer a solution acceptable to governments which say there can be no peace with Hitler may have been inspired by the exceedingly friendly comments on Goering in the official British reports from Berlin thru the events leading from one crisis to another and in the writings of Sir Nevile Henderson, the British ambassador.

In all this there was to be read suggestion that Goering had attributes which might make it possible for Europe to live with a Nazi Germany if it were under the second in command. The British public reading many of the official and semi-official papers must get the impression that Goering would have prevented the war. Sir Nevile testifies to his usefulness on the side of peace. The public could be prepared to think that Goering could make a peace acceptable to the British government if he were in position to do so.

Such characterization of the field marshal by Hitler's enemies may do him no great service with the suspicious Nazi chancellor.

BRITISH ACCENT BOWS TO AN EMERGENCY.

[Des Moines Register.]

One little gesture toward greater democracy in Britain has been the admission of the people's English alongside the king's English on the sacred air waves of the British Broadcasting corporation.

In England, high society speaks a much more standardized "accent" than in the United States, and the speech of ordinary folk varies much more—so much that it is sometimes described as so many dialects, instead of so many accents.

With government controled broadcasting, a uniform aristocratic pronunciation has been favored from the start—in the hope of counteracting native localisms and the imported Americanisms the movies bring.

But with the war, uplift yields to cultivating everybody's sense of "belonging." It started with a broadcast by a Canadian commentator, whose trans-Atlantic accent brought in thousands of letter rejoicing that some one who did not speak like a nob was allowed to impinge on British air.

The broadcast corporation took the hint. Now even Cockney is allowed—in moderation.

The Vox Pop letter writers who have been complaining that the three soldiers of the American revolution who spoiled Benedict Arnold's plot have no memorials should consult the back numbers of Harper's magazine. RED SNOW OVER NORWAY.

What is this falling on fair Oslo?
It was never thus in the old Norway,
For now descends a strange red snow
That stains the snows of yesterday—
Blood red snow on fjord and field—
The housetops likewise know this stain—
For broken is the Viking's battle shield,
So red snow comes to redden April rain.

This snow is red for the sky is red—
A blur is Scandinavia's sky of blue;
Now wings of woe whip madly overhead
Where once the sea birds lightly flew;
Swifter than the birds the bombers go,
Splitting in twain the highest cloud,
Hurling down the scath of this red snow
To swathe the Viking in a funeral shroud.

Strange it is that after all the years
The Vikings, once rulers of the waves,
Should end this mastery in tears,
With fjelds and fjords as lonely graves;
And stranger still that Norway, so mild,
For centuries having never drawn the bow,
Must yield its peace to men gone wild

Lord Byron and the Aspidistra.

The aspidistra [April 25], when merely mentioned in a modern British play, is supposed to beget a laugh, and novels of domestic life in the late Victorian era which do not have this plant somewhere in the background are few, indeed. Peter Quennell indirectly attributes its vogue to Lord Byron.

"In 1822," writes Quennell in his book on Byron, "the aspidistra [a plant which has the gruesome peculiarity of being fertilized by slugs] was introduced from the far east; and a great deal of the exquisitely excruciating ugliness symbolized by the aspidistra's bouquet of liverish hued, dust collecting leaves, had its origin in our ancestors' cult of the foreign and strange."

Here's One to Shoot At.

The new French slang name for German soldiers is "Fridolins." Why?

Contributor Maxellus sends this suggestion:

"The name Fridolin [April 25] was probably taken from Schiller's poem, 'The Trip to the Forge,' which begins: 'Ein frommer Knecht war Fridolin.' He was a Joseph-like servant of the countess of Saverne."

Trudi Schoop's ballet has a "Fridolin" number in its repertory. It's apparently an European folk character.

GOLFER'S BLUES.

I keep my clubs
Real bright and neat—
And so does Joe
And so does Pete.

Old Bill still swings
A rusty set;
He never has Worn clean slacks yet.

Joe, Pete, and I
Strive for the norm
Of what, in golf,
Is known as form.

Now old Bill has
Just one custom—
Which is, in brief,
Up and bust 'em!

But even so,
This doggone Bill
Pins back our ears,
And always will.

POLLEN EXTRACT MAY BE TAKEN BY MOUTH.

EVER since the use of vaccines has become general for the purpose of protecting susceptible persons against hay fever, the question has been asked, may not these substances be given by mouth instead of thru hypodermic injection? It was suggested several years ago that relief may be secured in this fashion if enough of the material is swallowed. For example, it was found that the feeding of granules from certain flowers would result in the development of neutralizing elements in the blood. Subsequent to this discovery, extracts were made which were prescribed in adequate doses in milk, water, or other beverage.

This led to numerous experimental trials in which it was shown that moderate amounts were useful and that, in some instances, too much had been provided. Some investigators administered the preparation by mouth one week and injected it beneath the skin the following period.

A report by Stier and Hollister set forth the fact that of 383 persons who utilized this plan, 78 per cent were aided. Then came the work of Schwartz—who details his experience with 33 patients in 1936 and 65 in 1937. Three main offenders were employed—pollen from Bermuda grass, Russian thistle, and careless weed. Later ragweed and sagebrush were added. Each individual was tested for sensitivity and the extract was prepared according to accepted methods. The remedy was started at one drop twice daily after meals. This was increased by one or two drops in each 24 hours until symptoms subsided.

These patients were cautioned to watch for intensified discomfort such as mild itching or digestive upsets—signs which were interpreted as indicating an overdose. As soon as the victims observed these signals the quantity taken at the time was considered to be the maximum, altho later a few were able to boost these levels. As we would expect, the subjects differed widely. With some, two drops were sufficient while others required as many as 17.

Of the 65 patients [of whom 16 were children] treated in 1937, 26 were entirely freed from symptoms and 31 were made comfortable. Only in the presence of a duststorm or other unusual condition would one of this latter group evince trouble. In other words, 87 per cent were benefited. Furthermore, they were spared the necessity of many calls at the doctor's office as well as the use of the hypodermic syringe. The remaining eight failed to receive the alleviation expected. All but one, however, testified to some improvement. On the whole, youngsters reacted more satisfactorily than adults.

Another advantage which the measure holds out is that treatment need not be begun until the blossoms appear. In other words, the immunity seems to be more effective if it is established at the time when the culprits are in the air. Schwartz believes that the process should be pursued year after year, maintaining the medication at weekly intervals continuously. He holds also that under this régime a more permanent resistance will be established.

It should be pointed out that no serious reactions were encountered under oral therapy. The only symptom observed was a mild stomach irritation which subsided promptly. If the patient consumed the medicine on an empty gastric pouch, slight nausea was likely to develop. The directions prescribed the product after meals and not more than twice daily [morning and evening]. It is apparent that there is a wider margin of safety due to the absence of reactions, and the time saved in visiting the physician's office may be considered an advantage.

The experiment above described was conducted in an El Paso, Tex., hospital. This explains why plants were used that may be unfamiliar to hay fevertes in other parts of the country. It seems reasonable to assume, however, that if southwestern pollens will lend themselves readily to this procedure, those in other parts of the world will be equally obliging.

CRAVES SALT.

V. M. writes: Altho I use salt in cooking, I hanker for more after finishing a meal. What causes this? Is it harmful to indulge myself?

REPLY.

Not harmful if your circulation is perfect. Salt puts an added burden on the excretory apparatus. Most of us are better off with but a modest amount, particularly after the age of 50. You may need the acid part of the chemical [hydrochloric], which is present normally in gastric juice: or, your other foods may lack minerals. Either may account for your craving.

JUST SETTIN'.

L. J. writes: I have heard that sitting with one's back to a hot stove or a radiator much of the time will melt the marrow of the backbone. If this is so, what would be the result?

REPLY.

A hot back. Not to be confused, however, with hotheadedness or the hot feet of swing addicts. No danger to the marrow altho the habit will filch time and destroy ambition. When chilly sensations come go to bed and apply a hot water bottle.

HOW LONG?

Mrs. A. writes: I am pregnant and want to know how long I can work—so far as appearance is concerned.

REPLY.

Much depends upon your figure and the skill of your modiste. Five months—as a rule.

GARAND VS. TOMMY GUN.

Chicago, April 25.—In today's TRIBUNE T. W. B. says he is a rifleman. Well, he sure doesn't know the .45 Colt automatic!

He says the bullet will not penetrate sand effectively and would probably bounce off a tin hat at 100 yards.

Before I ask T. W. B. and his tin hat to be my target at 100 yards, here are some data on the .45, as issued by the ordnance department.

Penetration in white pine at 25 yards is 6 inches; at 100 yards is 5.5 inches; at 250 yards is 4 inches.

Penetration in moist loam at 25 yards is 9.95 inches; in dry sand at 25 yards is 7.8 inches.

As to accuracy, with a muzzle rest it will group in a 2.244 inches by 1.422 inches space at 75 yards. Boy! Some gun that .45 auto.! ANTON TRYKOSKI.

TRAITORS BY NECESSITY?

Chicago, April 25.—One can hardly resist the temptation to comment on a recent cartoon appearing in your paper depicting a skulking figure, labeled "communist," and another shabby looking figure labeled "Fascist," furtively sneaking up behind Uncle Sam to stab him in the back, even as Norway was betrayed by so-called "Trojan Horse" or "Fifth Column" activity.

If we are to approach the problems of communism and Fascism from this point of view we are closing our eyes to conditions in our own land that have made many susceptible to the doctrines of the demagog.

These various dissident elements cannot be liquidated or their problems solved by merely labeling them traitors or worse. A much more serious and practical approach to our social problems is necessary than the one suggested by your cartoonist. JOE EFRIES.

CONSPIRACY ALLEGED.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 24.—It is almost impossible to believe that Germany could have invaded Norway without Great Britain's and France's knowledge and consent, together with treason within.

Norway was a prosperous and peace loving nation and going about her own affairs. Homes and places of business were bought and paid for and they owed neither banker nor landlord, and something had to be done to change that condition. It has been decreed that the individual Norwegian had to be reduced to the level of the more unfortunate European, and to the German dictatorship was delegated the task of beginning the destruction of his prosperity.

Sweden's, Denmark's and Holland's prosperity is likewise their doom, and sad to state, those in power will carry on further destruction without serious hindrance. A. W. BENSON.

HE SAYS WE WERE DORMANT.

Chicago, April 26.—Your cartoon today picturing Senator Slattery is very reprehensible. During the entire primary campaign you were dormant in your adverse criticism of the senator. No doubt you were stealthily reserving it for the election. A defeat for the senator in the primaries would deprive you of the use of your stored ammunition. In November the powder will become wet by the sweat of your overzealous support of Slattery's opponent.

STINGY HUSBAND OUTWITTED.

Urbana, Ill., April 22.—I have been lying awake nights because the lady from Palatine, who wrote a letter which you captioned "Portrait of a Husband," hasn't had any help thru your column. This is my contribution.

Once in the small town where I used to live there was a tradition that a certain man was the world's meanest husband. He used to insist on buying all of his wife's clothing. He didn't even take her along and he never gave her any money and he always selected the lowest priced things in the store. Accordingly, his wife got into collusion with the salesladies in the town's only department store. She came down, went to the back room and was there suited to her taste. The things were laid aside and a little bit added to the price of each article to be refunded as the wife needed a bit of change.

When the world's meanest husband came in, these things were the very cheapest, the cheapest by far, of anything in stock. It worked beautifully and every one was happy; the wife had that complacent air that comes only from being the better man in an uneven struggle and the town department store and other selected circles had a good joke that could be shared with all but its innocent source. WAR BIRDS OVER GUAM.

Chicago, April 24.—Thank you very much for your recent article, "War Birds Hover Over Guam." You said it and said it well. I certainly hope you will keep on saying it until the prowar current has been diverted or stopped.

Since we have gone in cahoots with the British empire [Secretary Hull calls it "parallel action" but the British ambassador in a recent speech called it coöperation], we have with her consent apparently become an empire embracing the whole western hemisphere.

NORMAN B. BARR.

THE MENACE OF RATS.

Chicago, April 25.—Why does Chicago tolerate the presence of so many rats? May I further ask, why are they actually fed and encouraged? Is there no municipal ruling regarding the individual family disposal of garbage and rubbish between city collections? I have had to pick my way—actually—thru refuse in nearby alleys. Sometimes a wind brings food-soiled papers right to our back door. Hucksters do not hesitate to dispose of spoiled produce in the alleys, and overloaded garbage wagons often spill unpleasant things unpleasantly near. All this, as well as the numerous uncovered garbage cans, are tantamount to a welcome sign to rats.

One or two conscientious families, alone, in a neighborhood cannot make much headway against the pests. Wouldn't all of us get a jolt if we had an outbreak of bubonic plague or typhus! It is not unknown here in this country in fairly recent years. Rats have even been considered as carriers of infantile paralysis. A READER.

THE VACANCY ON THE I. C. C.

Chicago, April 24.—I was amazed to hear recently that southern senators will insist upon the appointment of a southerner to the vacancy on the Interstate Commerce commission. No doubt the southern representatives are entitled to all the credit they can get for fighting for the best interests of their constituents.

However, the facts show that five of the ten present members of the commission are from the south, and it would seem to me that the rest of the country is entitled to some representation. There has not been an appointment to the commission from the middle west for 20 years. Is it not about time our Illinois senators did something to protect our interests on that important commission?

HECTOGRAPHED CARDS.

Chicago, April 19 [Friend of the People.]—Some time ago ordinary postal cards as used in our United States were by mistake hectographed and sent without additional 1 cent stamp to Canada. Can this omission be made good or will the recipients of these cards in Canada have to make good the deficiency in postage? The cards were hectographed, as I already stated. Has that any bearing on the postage? G. L. P.

With reference to your communication of March 18 and accompanying letter concerning postal cards bearing a hectographed message addressed for delivery in Canada.

You are advised that postal cards bearing an impression by means of the mimeograph, multigraph, or similar mechanical process, when mailed in a minimum of 20 identical copies may be mailed to Canada at the printed matter rate of 1½ cents each.

Postal cards sent as printed matter to Canada must be fully prepaid. Partially prepaid printed matter would be returned to the sender for additional postage if the name and address of the sender is indicated. Short paid printed matter bearing no return card would be sent to the division of dead letters. ERNEST J. KRUETGEN, Postmaster.

STRUCTURALLY O. K.

Chicago, April 24 [Friend of the People].—It would be a relief and feeling of security if you would be so kind as to make an inspection of a building in our block. The building faces east and west on Cicero avenue. The south side of it seems to be leaning and out of line. I may be wrong, but an inspection would make me feel better. Please bear in mind I bear no malice against my neighbors, but for the sake of all of us please keep this confidential. As I have a place of business it is no use to look for unnecessary trouble. That is why I'm only giving you a slight idea of what is wrong. Once it is inspected, if it is okay that is fine, and I'll be happy if adjustments are to be made. At least we won't feel one of these days the building will topple on us. V. D.

Our inspector reports that this building is in need of repairs, but is structurally safe at this time. The owner has been notified to make all necessary repairs and if this work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice, we will proceed according to law.

RICHARD E. SCHMIDT, Commissioner of Buildings.

Spring Starts Trek to Country Garden Homes

BY JUDITH CASS.

SUNNY skies and moderate temperatures inevitably turn one's thoughts to country homes and gardens, if one is lucky enough to have them, so the annual spring hegira to the country has started. Moving vans are encountered everywhere, for even if one is taking a house only for the summer it usually is necessary to have one's personal belongings moved.

The vans that backed up at the Peter G. Moons' East Delaware place apartment building a week or ten days ago, however, took all their furniture, for their move to Lake Forest is a permanent one. They bought the beautiful home on Green Bay road that was built about twelve years ago by the late Mrs. William E. Clow Jr. and that has been a show place of the north shore town ever since.

House Called Pioneer Example of Modern.

The neo-Doric house is not as unusual as it was when first built, but it still might be described as Sargent Collier did six years ago in a leading eastern magazine—"The house is a crystallization of the new movement. It profits by tradition, respects the classic principles, yet is quietly adventurous and definitely modern."

Just the sort of house that young Mr. Moon and his wife, the former Martha Carr, should have, they and all of their friends think. Mrs. Moon is not yet old enough to vote, but, even so, she has the poise and good taste necessary to be the chatelaine of such an imposing and stunning estate.

The Ronald P. Boardmans moved to their new home in Lake Forest about two weeks ago. It is the former home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Darius Miller. Among the Boardmans' neighbors will be the John Harris Wards and the J. Beach Clows, who purchased parcels of the Miller property from the Boardmans. The garage and gardener's quarters are being made over by the Wards, who hope to occupy their new home in June. The Clows are busy with architectural plans now and will start building on their eight acres soon.

Huntington B. Henrys Moving to Lake Forest.

With the Casino club closing for the summer on June 15, Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, the entertainment chairman, can begin to think about moving to Lake Forest for the warm weather months. She and Mr. Henry expect to open their country place about June 1.

The Allyn Warrens, who have spent the last two summers at the Wausaukee club in Wisconsin, are going to summer nearer Chicago this year and have taken the Edward K. Welles house in Lake Forest for the season. Mrs. Charles Kittle, who occupied the Welles house last summer, has returned from a motor trip to Florida and California and is at the Drake. She will go to Philadelphia for the Republican convention in June, but her later plans are indefinite.

The John I. Dennehys moved last Saturday from Highland Park to a house at 382 Ridge road, Winnetka, that they purchased and remodeled.

Charles Butlands Buy Farm in Wisconsin.

The Charles Butlands are among the young people who are "going back to the land." They have bought a farm in Wisconsin which they plan to make their year round home as soon as the house is remodeled. They may be able to move before October, but they are not counting on that, for there is much to do to the house to make it comfortable. The farm is near Lake Geneva, at Paris.

Mrs. Butland's brother, David Gallagher, will finish at the Yale law school this June, so will spend the summer with the Butlands and their children, Ina and Michael, in the Highland Park house that belonged to the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Gallagher.

The junior Luther Hammonds have moved from Lake Forest to Libertyville, where they have gone into the business of farming seriously.

The young Ernest A. Hamills have taken a house in Lake Forest for the summer, but they won't be going out until about June 10. Mrs. Hamill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton, hope to move into their new house in Lake Forest about the middle of next month.

Joseph E. Riches to Join Lake Forest Dwellers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Rich are joining the year 'round colony in Lake Forest this spring. Mrs. Rich and their baby son, born on April 12 at Passavant hospital, moved out to the Lake Forest home of her parents, the Ralph H. Pooles, on Saturday to be there during the moving. The Riches have named their boy for Mr. Rich's father, the late R. Joseph Rich.

The elder Mrs. Rich is giving up her Sheridan road home in Winnetka this spring, having sold it to Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Tippens of Lake Forest. Mrs. Rich will be going to Aiken in June to see her younger daughter, Peggy, graduated from the Fermata school. Mrs. Rich, Miss Peggy, who will be a debutante next season, and Jerry, the younger boy, will spend the summer in Beverly Hills, Cal. Jerry is a student at Los Alamos school in Santa Fe.

The junior Robert E. Kenyons are temporarily at the De Witt hotel in town, but they hope to find a place in the country for the summer.

Mrs. John Dorr Bradley is settling in her Lake Forest home for the summer, after having spent two months in California with Miss Gwethalyn Jones. Near Mrs. Bradley's home is a charming little French house that belongs to Mrs. Horace Martin, who has been renting it for the last season or two. Mrs. Martin will be in the house this summer, however, to the delight of her many friends.

The Burford L. Porters have moved into their new house in Westminster

Engagement Announced

Miss Helen Mary Bryan, whose engagement to be married to John I. Marshall Jr. has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bryan Jr. of Lake Forest. Miss Bryan, who made her debut last October, is a graduate of the Lake Forest Country Day school and of Miss Hall's at Pittsfield, Mass. Mr. Marshall, son of Mrs. John I. Marshall of Lake Forest, attended the Hill school and Cornell university. The wedding will take place in September or October.

The Passing Show.

Washington, D. C., April 29.—The Troika, in the Russian manner, is perhaps the top night club of this town, and we went there last night to see the show and eat some of the famous Russian specialties. The owner, Helen Hamilton, belongs in any list of unusual femmes because of what she has accomplished with the Connecticut Avenue club. Some years back her husband died penniless, leaving the widow two young children and the Troika.

It seemed the most unfortunate of legacies because she knew nothing about night clubs or restaurants and only dire necessity persuaded her to come to this city to see if she could make a living out of it. To hold on to her lease, she had to raise $4,000 immediately and raised it. Then some rival night club entrepreneurs sicked the internal revenue agents on her, because she knew so little about the business that she wasn't even aware that the government must be paid an amusement tax.

Unable to afford a lawyer, she went directly to the revenue chiefs and told them her story, about the death of her husband and the two children and her desperate attempt to operate the night club he had left her. Evidently her grit impressed them just as deeply as it impressed every one else. They examined her books, figured out what she owed, and let her continue.

Today it is the biggest money maker in town, and the youngsters are going to school while their mother puts in sixteen hours a day. She finally took a night off to see Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne; admits that even while enjoying the show she felt guilty at the thought that she wasn't attending to business.

You meet every one of importance at the club which a mother's courage made possible—senators, representatives, ambassadors, legation attachés, college youngsters, newspaper men, diplomats of every nation. The whole secret is to feed them well and leave them alone," she guesses. "Too many night club owners make a nuisance of themselves by forcing their company upon their customers I figure that perhaps they'd like to be left alone."

One of the top attractions of the club, in addition to a very charming show, is an amazingly fine astrologer, who goes by the name of Leo. When he finishes a reading of your chart, he has you blinking in sheer wonder at his clairvoyance.

Astrology owes its present huge impetus to Adolf Hitler, who doesn't make an important move without adjusting his timing to the stars. The publicity about Hitler's astrologers spurted the entire profession.

As in every other line, there are conscientious and expert astrologers and there are a vast crowd of four star fakers. The Troika's Leo tells you vehemently that Hollywood is burdened by a group of over-publicized fakers who impose on the movie stars.

Finally I've met the No. 1 radio fan of the country, driving a taxicab on the local boulevards. I always engage in lengthy conversations with the cabbies, because generally they are more alert to what is happening in a city than any other class of observers.

"Do you mind if I keep the radio going?" he asked pleasantly, and as we rode along.

He explained that he once had worked in the treasury building here but he gave it up so that he could get a job where he could hear radio programs whenever he wanted. Taxicabbing was the ideal choice, he found, and he's been hacking ever since and listening to programs.

"I don't make as much money," he agreed, "but I make enough to live on and I enjoy myself. I see a lot of important men in this town, they ride with me occasionally, and while they are big shots I doubt if they get as much kick out of life as I do."

No city in the country has taxicab rates so low as you find them in the District of Columbia. It seems that no matter how many blocks you ride the fare always ranges between 20 and 35 cents. As a result, the cabbies have to put in longer hours than their colleagues in other cities to make the equivalent earnings.

Three taxicab drivers have told me that they rarely see movies, stage shows or ball games. Two of the three took the day off to see "Gone With the Wind." One of them didn't enjoy it as much as he might have, because he said he couldn't stop adding and subtracting mentally.

"On top of the admission I lost four hours in my hack," he remarked.

Stage people always like to play Washington because of the excellent food available here. The Occidental, its walls lined with portraits of famous people, is a favorite rendezvous of statesmen, politicians, lobbyists, and professionals. Ask any stage veteran and he can take you right across the country, not by bounding states geographically but by naming the top eateries in cities and towns. Probably traveling salesmen have the same habit because it is not only an army that travels on its stomach. Incidentally the tens of thousands of salesmen roaming the country have done more to bring back vaudeville than any single group. After nightfall you'll find them in the vaudeville houses and they are keenly critical as well as enthusiastic.

On the House

Screen your porch this spring and you acquire a multiple-duty room for the warm weather months. This type of room is becoming "standard equipment" in a good many homes. A screened porch may be used as a card room, additional living room space, or dining space. It can also be brought to play when needed as a "boy's dormitory" in homes where young sons bring home young guests for weekends and vacations, and the house proper won't take the overflow.

Orchestra and 2 Piano Team Play Superbly

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Last night's Studebaker theater concert of the Illinois Symphony orchestra was newsworthy for at least three reasons. There was a superlatively fine performance of the Strauss tone poem, "Death and Transfiguration"; a first Chicago presentation of the new version of Arthur Bliss' two-piano concerto, and a first local appearance of the two piano team of Marya McAuliff and George Orwig.

In a work which they know well, Conductor Izler Solomon and the orchestra sometimes become so exalted by the beauty of what they are playing that they succeed in transcending all technical considerations and confront their audience with a blinding musical reality.

So it was in last night's "Death and Transfiguration." The incredible loveliness of the string tone and the superb eloquence of the orchestra's phrasings were two examples of the kind of thing which can result from no amount of calculation and preparation but must spring directly from a passionate absorption of the players in the music at the very moment of performance.

I have never heard the earlier version of the Bliss concerto, so it might be dangerous to attempt a scholarly comparison of the old with the new. This much is certain. The new version uses full orchestra, the old eschewed strings. And the new version [and presumably the old, too] is an attractive piece of music with some gently curved, highly evocative melody in its middle section and with an exciting sweep and vigor in the finale. Harmonically, the piece is bold enough to be piquant and arresting, not bold enough to send the conservatives scurrying for cover.

Miss McAuliff and Miss Orwig played their part of the concerto very competently. Yet the audience had to wait for a piece in more conventional idiom—Saint-Saëns' "Carnival of Animals"—to assess the new pianists confidently. Here they played with a truly Gallic patness and delicacy and wit, matching in these respects the enormously clever and often surprisingly beautiful music. Among other services the pianists provided an exquisitely soft background for the orchestra's thoughtful delivery of the piece called "Tortoises," and supported Jenska Siebos firmly while her cello sang the melody of "The Swan."

CLEO MESSNER RECITAL

In Kimball hall last night Cleo Messner, pianist, gave her first Chicago recital. In her brief program she displayed an unusual musical sensitivity greatly in need of discipline.

Tonally, her playing was consistently lovely. Her tempos, tho often on the slow side, were calculated to let the music flow of its own accord without forcing and speeding. The phrasing was lyrical and injected with nicely felt rubatos.

In spite of these virtues Miss Messner's pianism was not satisfying. Her lyricism was too often excessive, going overboard into pure sentimentality. She would let it destroy the unity of a piece or apply it where it was inappropriate, namely, in a Bach-Busoni chorale prelude and in Chopin's Scherzo in B flat minor.

If Miss Messner can curb these excesses she may well become a more rewarding artist. R. E.

Julius Rosenwald Fund Awards 68 Fellowships

The Julius Rosenwald fund last night announced the award of 68 fellowships totaling $100,000 to 28 white southerners and 40 Negroes. The fellowships average $1,500. The awards were made in two categories: [a] To Negroes in any field and from any part of the nation; [b] to white southerners who desired to work on some problem distinctive to the south and who expected to make their careers in that region. There were more than 600 applicants.

Vivien Leigh Ill of Sore Throat; Cancels a Show

Last night's scheduled performance of "Romeo and Juliet" at the Auditorium theater was called off because Vivien Leigh, who co-stars in the play with Laurence Olivier, was confined to her bed in the Ambassador hotel because of a sore throat. Miss Leigh, who plays the rôle of Scarlett O'Hara in the motion picture, "Gone with the Wind," is expected to resume her rôle in this evening's show, company representatives said.

Chicago Board of Methodism Will Be Moved

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., April 29.—The general conference of the Methodist church voted today to remove the church's board of education from 740 Rush street, Chicago, to Nashville, Tenn. There was not a dissenting vote.

Northern leaders said removal of at least one important board to a southern city was necessary in order to preserve harmony in the newly reunited church, and that only the education board, with its 16 executives and 58 employés, was available for such transfer.

The entire commission report on board location was adopted by this morning's vote. Boards and their new locations follow: Board of trustees, Cincinnati, O.; temperance, Washington, D. C.; lay activities and world service, Chicago; missions and church extension, New York; pensions, Chicago and St. Louis, Mo.; hospitals, Columbus, O.; publication, New York, Cincinnati, Nashville, and Pittsburgh, Pa.

The committee on the state of the church, headed by Dr. Ernest Fremont Tuttle of Evanston, Ill., rejected pleas that the Methodist church revert to the strict antidivorce rules it maintained before the uniting conference at Kansas City liberalized them a year ago. Rules now permit ministers to remarry the "innocent party" in divorces.

Dr. Robert B. Spencer of Fort Morgan, Colo., chairman of the committee on ministry, announced his group had rejected petitions that full privileges be extended to women ministers. The church now ordains women, but refuses them membership in annual conferences.

Echoes of the Saturday address of Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], head of the congressional investigation of un-American activities, are still heard among delegates. But, according to Leslie J. Lyons, a Kansas City attorney who is chairman of the conference program committee, the echoes come from a minority radical clique which protested the congressman's appearance.

The Dies committee exposed communist connections of the League for Peace and Democracy, headed by the Rev. Harry F. Ward of New York.

An effort failed this morning to secure a special committee to draft a resolution against President Roosevelt's appointment of a personal ambassador to the Vatican on the ground that the committee on interdenominational relations is at work on the subject.

German Trick.

The city desk telephone rang and an excited voice offered a bit of news from the war zone. It had to do with the latest example of German ingenuity.

"The Germans are catching whales," said the voice, "and you know the holes whales have in their heads that they blow water thru? Well, the Germans are putting pipes in those holes, like periscopes; then they're painting swastikas on the whales' sides, and turning them loose. And the British are chasing those whales all over the North sea," he concluded.

George the Cat.

If you see Robert Ross, young theatrical director who assisted Laurence Olivier in directing Romeo and Juliet, you are likely to ask him about George, the cat. George is an almost legendary animal that, properly speaking, belongs to Mr. Ross' wife, Margalo Gillmore. We inquired about George, and asked just what kind of a cat she is. He replied that when Miss Gillmore was in Chicago recently playing in No Time for Comedy, some one asked Dora, her theater maid, the same question.

"O," answered Dora, "she's a mixtry."

• • •

Having heard Dora's malapropism, we inquired further about George's mixtry. It seems her mother had belonged to the late Rosamond Pinchot, and had been a gaunt, unlovely creature called "Miss Lady." When Miss Pinchot decided Miss Lady should have offspring she put her in a basket and took her to a woman who raised pedigreed cats. She paid the $25 charge asked, then lifted the lid on the basket. When the cat fancier saw Miss Lady's undistinguished lineaments she recoiled.

"But we raise only pedigreed cats," she said.

"You have my $25," said Miss Pinchot firmly.

Thought for Tuesday.

From a letter sent out by John R. Winterbotham in behalf of the Boy Scouts:

"Dictatorships of Russia, Germany, and Italy have abolished the Boy Scouts and substituted youth movements of their own. The answer is that the Boy Scouts are not a military outfit, and the Scout oath and law do not fit into power politics. . . ."

This stunning crystal flacon holds a perfume that does not lose any of its own elusive charm while bringing a woman's personality to the fore. It's a mysterious blend that defies description but invites an introduction.

If you want to feel as if you were wrapped in a mist of airy fragrance, you'll indulge in a new perfume whose fragrance is as hard to define as the whims of its wearers are supposed to be. With that feminine quality included in its making, this mysterious blend is able to emphasize its own charm without being too obtrusive or stealing the whole show. It brings out a woman's personality, and does not push it into the background. It's sort of a perfumed screen thru which a woman's individuality can be glimpsed.

That, perhaps, is the secret of its fascination, for it does have one. There's a depth to it that is on the mellow side. It develops a little tartness as it is worn. To enjoy its fragrance thoroly, do use it sparingly.

The original bottle is a stunning crystal flacon, centered in a simple but lovely envelope box covered with what looks like white sharkskin. It's bound in silver and fastens with a slim glass bar. But if you want to experiment in a smaller way, you can buy this perfume by the dram.

Here's a perfume designed to pick up all your moods, but you'll like it best, we think, for the more important occasions. We've heard that Socrates didn't like perfumes, but he'd change his mind if he could try this one. FLORENCE MURDOCH.

White, Pastel Fabric Gloves Win a Welcome

BY REA SEEGER.

No appreciative clothes collector will be able to keep her fingers out of the newest fabric gloves. Even tho the season of the daily dunking of white and pastel gloves is now in full swing, these fresh, smart, light accessories return to an enthusiastic welcome. Sentimental pink, chamois yellow, beige and white take the lead, according to sales records.

Shorties that end effectively at the wrists are suit accents without an equal. Some have a fat round button to hold them snugly in position, some have fancy tucks and stitchery, some have cut edges and some are seamed in fancy pattern as the only trim.

Fabrics are thick, dull, and as luxurious in appearance as anything in more expensive doeskin. Slipons, gauntlet models, and lengths from three buttons up to 12 buttons constitute a wide assortment. The famous Merry Hull gloves, with the action sides to the fingers and thumb, are still the best handouts in white, pastels or bright shades.

Red is an unexpectedly popular color, with chartreuse green getting the second color choice. They all whisk thru suds with ease. They dry over night so there is no alibi for dingy gloves of a spring or summer morning.

Dull white washable gloves come in a complete assortment of lengths, plain and not so plain styles, starting with a price mark of a lone dollar bill. Some super-super duets that look like doeskins and are amazing buys for three times that amount come with widened cuff and in good long lengths the better to wrinkle smartly around the wrists.

If you sniff at fabrics [some do] see the washable pastels and bright summer doeskins. Try a pair of the new fingered finds made expressly to accommodate extra long fingernails. It's a tip slit trick that assures a safe haven for pampered fingers with such decorative protrusions.

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller

(Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

Millicent's mother dreams of marrying her lovely daughter off to some one like Dick Shard, who is kind, distinguished and rich. Dick lives in New York, but had visited in Millicent Dunham's home in the midwest when her father worked for his firm. After her father died, Dick gave Mrs. Dunham a job and on her visit to New York he takes her to dinner and the theater with his friends, Constance and Aleck Stewart. She realizes Dick is in love with Constance. After the theater Mrs. Dunham sees Dick about to be hit by a car and in an effort to save his life she is killed. While dying she makes Dick promise to marry Millicent. Tho in love with Constance, he is determined to keep his promise to Mrs. Dunham and goes to see Millicent and asks her to marry him. Dr. Ogden, an old friend of the Dunhams advises Millicent to accept.

INSTALMENT VIII.

A DREARY WEDDING.

"Millicent, I married for love," Dr. Ogden said sadly.

She colored deeply—longing to pursue the subject and afraid of taking advantage of this confidence, and as she hesitated he went on: "Perhaps you think you will choose more wisely—perhaps you will and perhaps not.

"Perhaps you will wait for a great romance and it will never come, and you'll end up an old woman selling ribbons at Bernstein's. Eventually you'll decide to marry some boy, perhaps, like Ellerman or Graves, not liking him any better than you like Shard, and work yourself to death on a farm before you're forty.

"We get mercenary as we get older, especially for those we love, but I admit, yes, I should like to see you accept Shard's offer. It would delight me, Milly, to see you rich and beautiful and generous, cutting a dash in New York. I should like to come on and stay with you, and watch you making every one love you there as we do here. If you say 'No' I shall respect your decision and I shall feel quite sure that some day you'll regret it . . ."

"And do you think I shan't regret it if I say yes?"

"O—you'll regret that, too, no doubt, but not so poignantly, my dear, not so poignantly. If your mother were alive . . ."

Millicent gave a gasp. "O, Dr. John, if mother were alive she wouldn't even let me think of saying no."

He looked at her gravely but without speaking.

. . . . . .

The whole town came to the station to see the bride and groom depart—an expression of interest and affection that distinctly raised Millicent's spirits. Her wedding had seemed to her the dreariest ceremony she had ever attended—even her mother's funeral had had something warm and real and crowded about it. But for the wedding the church was bare and almost empty. Only Rose, standing beside her, and Dr. Ogden who gave her away, and Mrs. Ogden frowning in the front pew, and Mr. Saunders, the manager of the Shard company who had run up from Kansas City to support his boss. He had brought with him two beautiful bouquets, by Shard's orders—one for Rose and one for Millicent—they were the only flowers in the church.

Millicent had put off her mourning for the occasion and wore a white silk dress her mother had made for her with her own hands the summer before. It was a thin dress and the church was chilly; Millicent's teeth chattered so, from cold and excitement that she could hardly pronounce her vows, and when she held out her hand for the ring, she saw Shard start slightly as he touched her—it was like touching ice.

After the ceremony they went back to the Ogden's house for a hurried but like all meals served under Mrs. Ogden's supervision—delicious and nourishing luncheon, before the bridal couple took their train. They sat round the table making rather difficult conversation.

The three men had plenty to talk about—business and the condition of the former and the New Deal, but Mrs. Ogden was an enemy to general conversation—it died like a dog in her presence, and after a few remarks of hers about the ease with which those who went to live in great cities forget old friends and former benefits, no one could think of much else to say.

But on the long cement strip that formed the station platform everything was different—cheering and old shoes and plenty of rice. Millicent with her face for the first time wreathed in smiles observed apologetically to Shard that she supposed it all seemed very silly to him. He answered "O, no, not at all," and then his expression changed slightly as, slipping his hand into the pocket of his overcoat, he found it completely filled with rice. He began emptying it out carefully on the station platform.

It was strange, Millicent thought, that she knew everyone on the platform better than she knew her husband—Russell the postmaster, and Miss Lynch who had been her favorite teacher in high school, and Miss Wickes from the library, and Mrs. Billings from Bernstein's who had sold her the shaggy black coat she was wearing at the moment.

Millicent didn't like the coat—she thought it looked like a motor-rug, but Mrs. Ogden had insisted that it represented the maximum of warmth for the minimum of expense, and as it was the Ogden's wedding present, she couldn't very well object. Mrs. Ogden had complained a good deal about the dress situation, and had even suggested that it would have been tactful if Shard had provided his wife's trousseau.

Millicent did not tell her that he had made such a suggestion, but that she had refused it with an agony of embarrassed pride. Nevertheless she would have liked to appear well on her arrival in New York. If any one did come to the airport to meet them, she didn't want his friends to think she looked like a shaggy black pony.

If only her mother were alive, she would have seen to it that her child had better clothes and wasn't a laughing stock to a lot of New York snobs who thought of nothing but appearances. Her mother—tears caught her by the throat. She mustn't cry—she mustn't think about her mother.

Shard was bending politely to little Miss Lynch who was describing Milly's attainments, class by class: "You may not know it, Mr. Shard, but your wife's a very intelligent girl—she will take full advantage of the cultural opportunities that you will be able to offer her." Milly glanced at him to see how this idea struck him, but saw nothing but that pleasant useful smile of his.

There was to be no honeymoon. They were taking a train to the nearest airport and flying from there—Shard had been away too long from his New York office. Milly could hardly conceal her delight at this news. She said she understood perfectly—her father was like that. Then fearing she had been too easily convinced she added that there was nowhere after all where you could have more fun than in New York.

Shard hoped so. He explained that his office hours were long. She would be alone a good many hours. He hoped she would make friends and find things to do that interested her.

During the first few days of her engagement she had thought herself marvelously clever in avoiding caresses and even tête-à-tetés with her fiancé. But as time went on she had come to see that she had an able assistant—namely Shard himself. It was easy to avoid being alone with him, because he didn't want to be alone with her.

She wondered a little but was too well satisfied with such an attitude to examine into it. He was naturally aloof, she thought, and in her secret heart she believed that his aloofness would continue after marriage.

Dr. John to whom she confided this belief, laughed heartily and assured her that she was wrong—that Shard would want a real wife and children just like every other man. He suggested that perhaps easterners were more like foreigners in that they took an engagement rather formally. "But," he added, "if I know anything of human nature, and of course I think I do—that's a young man of strong deep feelings."

Millicent did not like to argue with the doctor, whose wisdom she respected, but she thought that she knew something about deep feelings, too—she knew how young men in love behaved—better perhaps than Doctor John did—this man wasn't in love. Well, all the better.

As a matter of fact she had not seen much of him. He had come back from San Francisco to hear her decision, and had expressed a courteous pleasure that it was favorable.

road, Lake Forest. They had been living in North Waukegan road in the same town.

Mrs. Raymond L. Redheffer has left to spend the summer at the Redheffers' new home in the Berkshires, near Pittsfield, Mass. Mr. Redheffer will spend week-ends there until he joins his family for his summer vacation. Joseph Redheffer, who will be graduated from Swarthmore college in June; Raymond Jr., who is a freshman at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the William Rossmoores will spend the summer with their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Rossmoore will receive degrees at Harvard this June.

It is a safe bet that most of the women who go to the Esquire theater this morning at 11 o'clock to see a movie, sponsored by the Lake Shore League of Women Voters, will feel more devilish than the movie or the other entertainment warrants. Going to a movie in the morning is a novel experience for most busy people, and who in social circles is not busy these days? In addition to seeing "The Perfect Specimen," with Errol Flynn, the women will hear Louis C. Sudler sing.

Mr. Sudler's mother, Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler, is president of the league and chairman of the committee on arrangements. Following the program there will be a number of luncheon parties. Among the hostesses are Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter, Mrs. Allyn Warren, Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter, Mrs. William A. Field, and Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee.

Mrs. Press Hodgkins has obtained the services of a group of young women to usher, among them Mrs. Louis Sudler, Mrs. Theodore Tieken, Mrs. Stanley Zaring, Mrs. Arthur Wirtz, Mrs. Paul Guenzel, Mrs. Newell Childs, Mrs. Burke Williamson, Mrs. Rogers Follansbee, and Mrs. Robert Cameron-Smith.

Miss Durr to Be Wed to Gordon Haverkampf.

Miss Frances Durr and Gordon Douglas Haverkampf, who are to be married next Saturday afternoon, will go to Honolulu on their wedding trip. Miss Durr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Durr of Kenilworth, and the younger son of Mrs. John L. Haverkampf Jr. of Chicago, will be married at 4:30 o'clock in the Church of the Holy Comforter, Kenilworth, the Rev. Leland H. Danforth officiating. A reception will follow at the Durr home.

Mr. and Mrs. Haverkampf III. are entertaining the bridal party at the Palmer House tonight. The bachelor dinner will be given at the Chicago Athletic association tomorrow night. Mr. and Mrs. Durr will give the bridal dinner at the Skokie Country club on Thursday night following the wedding rehearsal.

Mrs. Donald P. Welles has called a meeting for this morning of the Lake Forest women who will work with her in the annual drive for funds for Arden Shore camp. The meeting will be held at the camp in Lake Bluff, followed by a buffet luncheon.

Mrs. John W. Miller is giving a tea today at her home in Winnetka to collect material for a white elephant sale to be held on May 9 for the benefit of Grove House settlement. Mrs. Miller is chairman of the committee that planned the sale, which is sponsored by the Winnetka board. The sale will be held at 520 Davis street, Evanston.

About one thousand men and women have been invited to meet at the Drake hotel tonight at 7:30 o'clock for a dinner that will open the Chicago Music Appreciation program. The campaign will aim to bring about a wider appreciation of good music thru low cost distribution of symphonic records. The Chicago Symphony orchestra, the Chicago Opera company, the Ravinia Festival, and the Woman's Symphony orchestra will share in the proceeds.

Chop suey and chili con carne are two favorite foreign dishes, altho it is said that chop suey is an American "Chinese" dish which, when found in China at all, is advertised as New York chop suey, or San Francisco chop suey.

The American version of chili is not as hot as the Mexican style dish. A lighter touch of the spice is preferred by most of us. We have eaten Mexican chili by which we certainly were seared all the way down, and must say that it was much, much too hot for a palate accustomed to bland flavors.

Long ago high seasonings were used to cover up inferior or slightly spoiled meat, and while this is not usually the case nowadays, still there is no reason for overspicing dishes such as chili. Spices are invaluable in cookery, but too much of them can blunt an appetite out of appreciation for bland and delicate flavors.

So this chili con carne is not going to be highly spiced. If there are readers who like it spicier, those individuals may add a little more chili powder.

Chili Con Carne.

[Serves Six.]

2 tablespoons oil or bacon drippings
1 onion, chopped
1 clove garlic [optional]
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
2 cups cooked or canned kidney beans
½ teaspoon chili powder
2½ cups canned tomatoes [1 No. 2 can]
Grated cheese [optional]

Cook onion and garlic in fat for three or four minutes. Remove and discard the garlic. Add the meat and let cook until brown. Sprinkle with salt and pepper while cooking. Add beans, chili powder, and tomatoes.

Taste the chili and add more salt or other seasonings, if necessary. Simmer for half an hour, or place in a greased casserole, sprinkle thickly with grated cheese, and bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

The Chinese have the right idea about cooking vegetables for chop suey and for other dishes. They are careful to stop the cooking just before the vegetables are tender, that is, while there still is some crispness left in them.

Chop Suey.

[Serves Six.]

1 pound pork tenderloin or veal cutlet, cubed
3 tablespoons oil
1 teaspoon salt
2 onions sliced
½ cup green pepper, cut in long shreds
¼ pound sliced mushrooms
1 cup celery, cut in long strips
4 chicken bouillon cubes
4 cups hot water
1 No. 2 can bean sprouts
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon sugar
3 tablespoons or more soy sauce

Have the meat cut into cubes. Brown it in hot fat and season with salt. Let it cook gently until tender. Add onion, green pepper, mushrooms, and celery, and let them cook for a minute. Dissolve bouillon cubes in hot water and add. Simmer for 15 minutes. Add bean sprouts. Mix cornstarch and sugar to a paste with a little water and add. Let cook until sauce thickens. Add soy sauce. Serve with rice or fried noodles.

Most of the ingredients for an excellent chop suey may be purchased in cans and combined with meat in the kitchen.

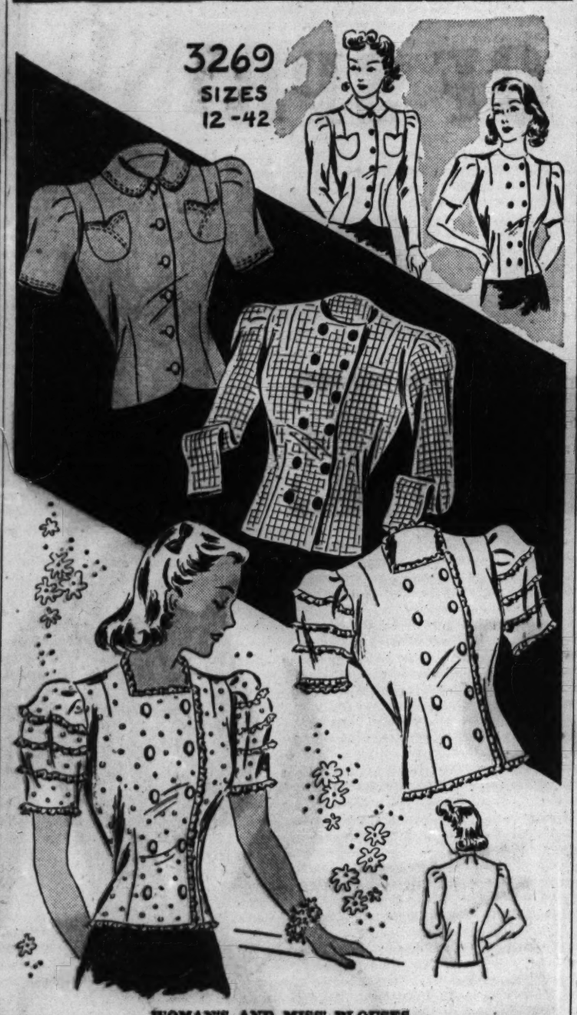
One Pattern—Many Blouses



WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSES.

You're sure to want a blouse or two at this season of the year, for wear with your suits and your separate skirts, too. With this one pattern you may make a wide variety of toppers. Some styles are single breasted, others double. Collars are optional, and the trim as frilly or as tailored as you like. Both silks and cottons make up well. You can take your choice of prints, plain shades, and stripes and checks. All are fashionable and seasonal.

Style No. 3269 is designed for sizes 12, 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 1⅝ yards of 39 inch material, with 5½ yards of ruffling for short sleeved, double breasted blouse; 2 yards for long sleeved version; 1⅝ yards for short sleeved model with pockets and collar.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is a serious error for a declarer first to disclose his exact resources and then to attempt to "steal" a crucial trick. Manifestly, success depends on reversing this process. In today's hand the declarer played like a novice, and it was only because one of his opponents defended with the same lack of skill that the game contract was fulfilled.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

North should not have allowed the three no trump contract to stand. His hand was easily good enough to insure an 11 trick contract in the minor suit, and he had not thoroly explored slam possibilities by his two previous bids. Not that he would have had to reach a slam [which could not have been made against the adverse lay of cards] but he might at least have suggested its possibility to his partner.

West opened the fourth highest heart which, of course, immediately removed dummy's ace.

Declarer could count one heart trick, four club tricks, and three spade tricks, but it should have been obvious that a diamond trick would be necessary to clinch the contract. That being true, he should have led a diamond from the dummy at the very earliest opportunity, namely, at the second trick. If the ace lay in West's hand, West would be unable to put his partner in for a lead thru South's guarded heart queen, and if the ace, unfortunately for declarer, were in East's hand, it would require great alertness on East's part to put it up at this early stage. In point of fact, it is doubtful if many of the leading players of the country, holding the East hand, would have put up the ace of diamonds from the holding of A-J-9 at the second trick. But on this occasion East was not called upon for any such brilliance.

Declarer, after winning the heart ace, ran off four clubs and three top spades. On the second and third rounds of clubs, East discarded two low hearts, carefully preserving the jack for what he deemed to be a communication card to his partner's suit. He soon discovered his error. Dummy led a low diamond, and East, who had carefully counted the declarer's tricks as taken, jumped right up with the ace, and led the heart jack. But declarer refused to cover, and now West, who still held the K-10 and a small heart, and a good spade, was unable to overtake except at the expense of establishing the declarer's queen.

There was no necessity in this particular hand for East to reduce to one heart. He safely could have discarded another diamond, since, if declarer could cash even one diamond trick, the defenders' cause was lost. But assuming it was necessary to hold no more than one heart, that one should not have been a possible blocking card, but a low one.

The crux of the matter is that unless the original leader holds a tenace over the declarer, all is lost anyway, but if he holds such a tenace, it is fatal for the other defender to lead a card which will interfere with the mechanics of the tenace. Obviously, had East held on to a low heart instead of the jack, the contract would have been defeated automatically.

Is Your Child Gifted? Here Is Good Advice

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Where those too few educational systems or private schools have considered the problem of educating gifted children, they have done one of two things: Either they have formed "rapid advancement" classes, in which the children are allowed to go ahead in regular curriculum subjects as fast as they are able, or they have resorted to what may be called an "enrichment program." By this method the child's study and experience are broadened, and opportunities are given to him which bring his superior powers or his special talent into play. H is not necessarily allowed to gallop far ahead of his age level in all academic subjects.

In a way the gifted child, altho he is fascinating, presents some problems that the average child does not. Kept reasonably busy by school work that presents some mental challenge and uses his capacity, he is well behaved. Bored by work that is too easy, he may get into mischief, but not usually malicious mischief.

Because of his superior mentality he may not always enjoy the games that enthrall others of his age, but properly taken care of as a gifted child in school, he can find plenty of congenial companions.

Here are a few points of information that will be of interest to parents of gifted children:

Gifted children are most often of fine character, honest, truthful, frank.

Delinquency is rare among gifted children.

Gifted children are bigger, stronger, and healthier, as a group, than average children, altho there may be occasional exceptions.

They are not inclined to conceit, provided their parents are not foolish in showing them off or talking about them.

Advice at this time will have to be general.

Don't worry about the activity of their minds. Their mentality is so fine that what would tax an average child mentally does not tax them. Therefore there is no need to fear that answering their questions, letting them read or figure things out for themselves, or exercise their talents [whether they are artistic or musical] will injure them.

Naturally, the parents' own good judgment and observation, and the individual temperament of the child, must define a child's endurance.

The health of gifted children must be safeguarded, but only as one does that for any child. Lots of rest, good food, fresh air, exercise, and a reasonable amount of companionship will provide the balance their mental activity may require.

My last piece of advice is to recommend parental reading. Here are some books of great interest:

"Gifted Children," by Leta S. Hollingsworth, published by the Macmillan company of New York.

"Fitting the School to the Child," by Elizabeth A. Irwin, published by the Macmillan company of New York.

"A Mother's Letters to a Schoolmaster," published by Alfred A. Knopf of New York.

Mothers of gifted children will find of interest our leaflet "List of Hobbies and Leisure Pursuits." Send a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

TODAY'S RADIO BROADCASTS

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.
[Central Daylight Saving Time.]

A group of choral selections from Richard Wagner's opera "Tannhäuser" will be featured on the Northerners' weekly song concert from W-G-N's main audience studio at 9:30 p. m. The entire cast will join in the Wagner selections, which include "Ever I'll Praise Thee," "Pilgrims' Chorus," "Wasn't Magic or Power Divine," "Evening Star," and "Grand March." Irene Verner, soprano soloist of the Northerners, will sing, "A Heart That's Free," by Robyn. The octet will sing "Temptation," in response to requests, and "O Filli et Filia." The popular concert is presented under the direction of Harry S. Walsh.

Your Opportunity, a quarter-hour musical program formerly presented on Sundays at 12:45 p. m., is scheduled today only at 6 p. m. Beginning next week the program will be heard each Monday at 6 p. m.

The Deacon, a one man broadcast which includes verbal patter and songs, will be heard at 9 a. m. The Deacon is John Howard, veteran star of the theater and radio. He will broadcast on W-G-N each Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday at the same hour.

Clifton Utley will offer his weekly summary of the European situation on the program, Foreign Affairs, at 8:15 p. m., and at 8:30 W-G-N will present the reading of Tomorrow's Tribune and News by Quin Dyan.

Baskets of Flowers Pattern

BY NANCY CABOT.

This is just the season of the year to concentrate on flowers, both in and out of baskets. This colorful embroidery group allows a choice of cross-stitch, satin, and outline stitches. There are 12 motifs in the group, and are three by three and four by six inches. These designs are especially applicable to towels, curtains, aprons, and pillow slips. The hot iron transfer includes a detailed color chart for all the flowers and baskets.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of baskets of flowers, No. X-675, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Tall Child's Lot Should Be Happy One

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The problem of the 'teen age used to be pretty well confined to that well known happiness destroyer, the spotted, mottled skin. Height never was viewed as an 11, 12, 13 year old's worry, tho we suppose the overgrown girl was sensitive about it then, too.

Whether girls are growing taller generally today is a debatable question. A recent authority volunteered that this supergrowth occurred in a selective group largely, the college type or its equivalent in access to sports pursuits, due to high food maintenance, and generally favorable living conditions.

However, there are one or two, or more, very young persons a head taller than any other children in their school class. And sensitive these youngsters are about their height. Added to their own consciousness of height is mother's frequent reminder, as if the child were to blame, "I wish you'd stop growing. I'm sick and tired of having to lengthen your skirts, and of having to buy new things."

Our plea today is to mothers not to add to the youngster's mental discomfort. She can't help growing. She has no control over the process, and she should not be made to feel more self-conscious by an impatient parent. Instead, the young ego needs bolstering. The girl needs to be told that she is going to be a stunning young woman with her height. She should be taught that carrying herself beautifully will add to her prestige, for this is the age at which the tall youngsters get the stooping habit in an attempt to minimize height.

Tall women today are the ones in demand for dress parades, proving that they have it in their height best to portray clothes. Even in the movies, the stars are showing a definitely taller figure, so that the young miss, at her most sensitive age, shouldn't be bowed with even a suggestion of unhappiness over her height. Nor should she be made to think her shoe size is ignoble. What if she does wear a larger size than her mother? She'll probably have much better feet when she's grown, for in fitting shoes today much space is left at the tip for small toes to wriggle in and grow up without a foot blemish.

Engagement

From Brooklyn, N. Y., comes announcement of the engagement of Miss Dean Corley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Corley, to Frank J. Manning, son of Edward K. Manning Sr. of Chicago. Miss Corley attended the Bay Ridge academy. Her fiancé attended Northwestern university. The wedding will take place in Our Lady of Angels church in Brooklyn on June 3. After a wedding trip thru the south Mr. Manning and his bride will live in Chicago.

April 30, 1940.

The social, volatile 3 is here lifted to its second power because of the 0, and so is not so scatter brain as the other 3s, but it is still representative of a dabbler in the arts and of wasted energy thru social contacts. The vocations suitable are many and varied. Those born on the 30th should select a form of expression in the artistic field and develop his personality at the same time he develops his talent.

Those born on this date have a congenial, social year ahead. Enjoy it fully.

TOLL HOUSE COOKIES ARE EASY TO MAKE

Here's the way to make cookies that are absolutely different and perfectly delicious. Each bite contains a smooth, tasty nugget of Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate and a bit of walnut meat. What a combination! And these cookies are so easy to make! Here's the tested, never-failing recipe. Try it and watch those cookies disappear.

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoon hot water
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet in pieces the size of a pea. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies. Every one will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrap, there is no substitute.

This unusual recipe and many others can be found in Mrs. Ruth Wakefield's Cook Book—"Toll House Tried and True Recipes," on sale at all book stores.

BIMELECH OPPOSES DERBY RIVALS IN TRIAL TODAY

11 ELIGIBLES GO TO POST IN $2,500 STAKE

Horsemen Watch Sirocco.

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 29.—Edward R. Bradley's unbeaten Bimelech will race tomorrow against 10 other Kentucky Derby eligibles. The occasion will be the $2,500 Derby trial stakes. In this gallop of a mile the future book favorite will get his final tune-up for Saturday's big event. If he wins as handily as his followers expect, his odds probably will be no more than 2 to 5 on Derby day.

Horsemen are particularly anxious to see how Dixiana farm's Sirocco will go when he matches speed with the Bradley star. Sirocco has shown the marks of a distance runner of class and he has been coming along well under Jimmy Smith's training. He has made only two starts this season, both at Keeneland. In his first outing, a six furlong dash, which was considered just an incident in his preparation for the mile and a quarter Derby, he finished third and was getting to the leaders at every stride after coming from seventh place at the head of the stretch.

Black Brummel Doubtful.

Sirocco then performed excellently in winning a mile and a sixteenth handicap, disposing of one of his Derby rivals, Black Brummel, and older horses also. He ran flawlessly on that occasion. After showing enough early speed to gain good position, he went to the front when ready and drew out easily in the stretch.

Tomorrow's race also will give Charley Ferguson a final opportunity to make up his mind about Black Brummel. He considers this the best horse he has ever owned and he will not run the risk of harming him by sending him into the Derby if it seems too much for him.

Unless Black Brummel does much better than he did in running third to Sirocco in the above mentioned handicap, Ferguson probably will withdraw him. Black Brummel set the pace as far as the last turn in that mile and a sixteenth event, but when Sirocco challenged, he gave way. Then he tired further in the stretch, yielding second place to Joseph E. Widener's Bucking, an older horse.

Royal Man Gets Test.

Another interesting aspect of the race will be the appearance of Harold Clark's Royal Man. This horse ran second to W. L. Brann's Pictor in the Chesapeake, finishing ahead of Andy K. and Fenelon. He showed considerable speed in engaging Pictor in a brief duel on the last turn and led for a few strides. Too unable to maintain his advantage, he held on well.

Previously he had been second to Andy K. in a six furlong allowance event at Havre de Grace. He had an indifferent winter in Florida, winning four races and running second twice against undistinguished competition. He arrived from the east yesterday. His owner plans to come up from Miami Beach, Fla., to see the Derby.

The other horses in the Derby trial are Gallahadion, Inscolad, Potranco, Designer, Endy, Connaught, and True Star. It is generally believed that Mrs. Ethel V. Mars will start Gallahadion in the Derby even tho he doesn't go very well tomorrow. Some of the others are getting their last chance to show whether they're ready for Saturday's task and still others are just out for a shot at a $2,500 stake with little serious intention of going on to the Derby.

Gallahadion Wins Three.

Gallahadion won three races for the Milky Way stable during the winter racing at Santa Anita. Inscolad became the chief Derby hope of Woolford farm after Prompt Pay went wrong in training.

Potranco was beaten a neck by Tough Hombre in the six furlong Daniel Boone purse here last Thursday, weakening in the stretch after he had set the pace from the start. Designer ran on the same occasion, but dropped out early and finished last. These two Lexbrook horses had considerable success as two year olds on Chicago tracks.

Connaught raced without much success in Florida, his most notable achievement during the winter being

GABBY BENCHES TODD, MATTICK IN 2D SHAKEUP

Manager and Rogell in Lineup Today.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 29.—The Great Dizzy Dean experiment, aimed to determine whether the old wheel horse is still entitled to be rated as a pitcher, fell apart with a dull thud again today. Diz's nothing ball ceased to annoy the Cardinals before five innings had been concluded and he went his way. Then his Cub mates bounced back powerfully enough to carry the battle into 10 innings before being definitly flattened, 6 to 5, by the Gas House Gang for the second time in the three game series.

Just before the Cubs left tonight for Chicago where they will open a series against the Boston Bees tomorrow, Manager Gabby Hartnett announced his second lineup shift of the new season. Gabby, who thus far has been in only one box score and that only as a pinch hitter, will make his 1940 debut as a catcher, replacing Al Todd. Todd left a total of seven mates stranded on the bases today. The Cubs' left on bases total was 17, one shy of the major league record. Three different innings ended with three Chicagoans on the bases and nobody across the plate.

Second Shift at Shortstop.

Bill Rogell will be installed at shortstop in place of Bobby Mattick, who took over the position from Bob Sturgeon less than a week ago when Gabby gave his original lineup its first shakeup.

Poor Diz, doing the best he could with the arm that seems to have had its day, was plastered for a pair of runs in the opening inning of his third 1940 start, one of which he has finished. He stuck to his chores without serious mishap until the fourth when Terry Moore exploded a homer. Then in the fifth, John Mize drilled the ball beyond reach with a man on base and Diz turned over his assignment to Ken (Lefty) Raffensberger, who was airtight until the 10th when he was punctured by Joe Medwick's third hit, a double, and a single by Pinch Man John (Pepper) Martin. The winning run was scored by Hal Epps, who ran for Medwick.

Jack Russell Stops Old Pals.

The Cubs were able to bounce back well enough to relieve Diz of the responsibility for the loss because Phil Cavarretta and Augie Galan made good use of their bats when a defeat in regulation time was impending. Cavarretta enjoyed a touch of home run fever in the seventh. Galan had a similar attack in the eighth with a mate waiting, and the latter smash knotted the score at 5 apiece. It also knocked out of action Mort Cooper, who started, and brought forth Jack Russell, released by the Cubs last fall. The outcast stopped his former pals for two and two-third innings.

Stan Hack and Billy Herman pooled their batting talents to produce the run which put the Cubs in front for a few minutes in the first inning. Hack hit the right field screen for a two-bagger. Herman slapped a roller to Mize and Cooper was so tardy about getting over to cover the bag that Herman beat the play for a single, Hack going to third. Hack sprinted to the plate on Galan's fly to Enos Slaughter. Hank Leiber forced Herman and Bill Nicholson lofted to Slaughter.

Dean's first inning was very pleasant, at least until two were out. Stu

STOCKHOLDERS APPROVE SALE OF ARLINGTON

92 Per Cent Vote Without Single 'No.'

Transfer of the Arlington Park Jockey club to a syndicate headed by John D. Allen, vice president of the Brinks Express company, was approved by Arlington directors and stockholders yesterday without a dissenting vote, thus completing the $1,600,000 transaction except for legal formalities.

The action which turned over the keys of the big racing plant to its new owners was taken at a meeting held at 33 North La Salle street. In attendance were Otto Lehmann, president of the club; Leonard S. Florsheim, secretary; Maurice Marwick, assistant secretary, and Harry N. Wyatt, attorney and stockholder.

92 Per Cent Vote.

Most of the stockholders were represented by proxies. Only 8 per cent failed to return signed voting authorizations. The 92 per cent who were represented by proxies were unanimous in their assent to the track's sale.

The formalities that remain include the transfer of bills of sale and deeds, together with arrangements for the payment of the purchase price of which $700,000 is to be in cash and $900,000 to be secured by bonds. May 15 was set as the date for the completion of these steps, after which the new owners will be in full control. The track will open June 24.

Some Directors Absent.

The Arlington Jockey club's board of directors recommended approval of the sale at a meeting on April 15. Directors who were unable to attend yesterday's meeting include John D. Hertz, Charles McCulloch, Warren Wright, Stanley Field, James Simpson Jr., Laurance Armour, and Vincent Bendix.

The new directors in addition to Allen are Ben Lindheimer, managing director of the Washington Park Jockey club; Joseph J. Rice, grain broker; Eugene Murphy, attorney; John G. McCarthy, president of the Board of Trade; Modie J. Spiegel Sr., radio executive, and J. O. Stoll, magazine distribution executive.

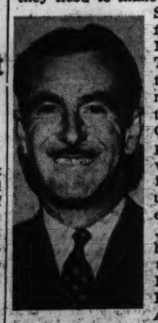
In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Green Bay Packers found a lot of reasons to celebrate recent spring elections. . . . August Voelker, Arnie Herber's stepfather, was elected mayor of De Pere, Wis.; Jab Murray, a former Packer star, was re-elected mayor of Marinette, Wis., and Jerry Clifford, a club director, was chosen as a delegate to the Democratic national convention. . . . All they need to make the picture complete is a victory over the College All-Stars in the Tribune game in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 29. . . . The Minneapolis Star, an associate of THE TRIBUNE in Golden Gloves, is trying to arrange an amateur boxing tournament for July that would involve national A. A. U., national collegiate, and Golden Gloves champions. . . . After playing the game only two years Marvin Shannon, Fort Worth, Tex., lawyer is shooting golf in near regulation figures. . . . That isn't the story, however. . . . The man is totally blind. . . . His caddy adjusts his club to give him acurate direction, steps back, and then the lawyer's on his own. . . . He is best at putting. . . . Marty Karow, back field coach of the Texas Aggies, considers John Kimbrough the all-time All-American full back. . . . Judging from Kimbrough's showing in the 1940 Sugar bowl game, Karow can't be far wrong. . . . Danny McFayden, Pirate pitcher, has been with five big league clubs in 13 years of service. . . .



Lloyd Mangrum.

John Kimbrough.

The 64 young Lloyd Mangrum of Oak Park shot in the recent Masters' golf tournament is undoubtedly one of the great rounds of history, but it's not the lowest in a major show. . . . Back in the boom days in Florida Johnny Farrell shot a 63 in the La Gorce open, played over a tough course for a total purse of $15,000. . . . And while we're about it, a gray haired gent named Thomas D. Armour once shot a 64 in the Canadian open, which also rates as a major tournament. . . . Chick Galloway, once a shortstop for the Athletics, is baseball coach at Presbyterian college in Clinton, S. C. . . . Maj. W. H. [Cappy] Wells, who was West Point's publicity officer from 1928 to 1932, is spending several weeks in Chicago as public relations officer for the Second army, which includes the 5th and 6th corps. . . . Maj. Wells is working for Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, who was chief of staff for the 27th division in France when Wells was a second lieutenant in the machine gun division. . . . Maj. Wells' service at West Point included the days when the Army and Navy were at "war" over eligibility in football. . . . International league clubs will play 161 games this year, seven more than in 1939.

Cleaning Time.

Housecleaning time, that yearly crusade,
Gets under my skin, gets me dismayed.
Rest of the year there's peace and content,
With minor discomforts like paying the rent,
But comes first of May, or round thereabout,
There's no place like home [that is, to get out!]
The chairs are all laden, windows are bare,
Can't find a comb to untangle my hair.
The rugs are rolled up, need to be beaten,
Regardless of whether or not I have eaten.
The pantry's a mess, the ice box the same,
In my way of thinking it's really a shame!
This housecleaning time is maybe all right,
But I like it best when I'm out of sight!

Hail Chicago!

I long to leave the country,
The odorous farmland chores,
For the rushing, bustling, intricate work
Which within the city roars.

My heart has left the out of doors,
The creeping creeks, to try
The sweetened metropolitan fog,
The scrapers supporting the sky.

The clamor, clang, and clash and roar
Of the city's centered frays,
Greets the man from the barnyard floor
With smoke and mist and haze.

I long to leave the budding trees;
My very soul is weak
For the misty, inky, merry air
That hangs o'er every street.

Then here's to Chicago, her every thrill,
Her banks and bars and bills;
For 'tis here the man of forlorn soul
His heart with happiness fills.

WHITE SOX HOPE FOR REVIVAL IN RED SOX SERIES

Rigney Will Take Mound in Opener Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., April 29.—The White Sox are here, somewhat eager to get going on their projected conquest of the eastern sector of the American league. The last placers will start their invasion of the east tomorrow in the opener of a three game series with the Boston Red Sox.

John D. Rigney will be thrown in against the Bostonians in the opener. He thinks he is about due to win. He has pitched one bad game and one good one, losing them both. The young man said this morning he can't see what can keep him from being returned victor tomorrow.

Sox Look at Yankees.

As they perused newspapers today on the long trip from Chicago to Boston, many of the Sox found consoling items on the sports pages. Most comforting of these, perhaps, was the presence of the Yankees in seventh place in the American league standings. Somehow that made the Sox's eighth hole seem less miserable. Then there were the individual American league batting leaders. Heading the list was Taft Wright with .444 and fifth was Mike Tresh with .375.

Wright will be installed as the new Sox cleanup hitter in tomorrow's game, supplanting Julius Solters, who, batting fourth in all nine games played thus far by the Sox, has effected a batting average of .171. Solters will be dropped from fourth to sixth place, Wright's former spot. Tresh will stay in the eighth spot.

Dykes Goes to Philadelphia.

Manager James Dykes did not accompany his disillusioned little band to Boston. He went to his home in Philadelphia and will join up here tomorrow before game time.

Godoy, Louis Sign for 2d Bout June 20

New York, April 29 [Special].—Arturo Godoy of Chile, who spent 15 rounds agitating Joe Louis' knee caps with his curley scalp last Feb. 9, will have an opportunity to complete his buffing job in Yankee stadium the night of June 20.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, in breathlessly announcing this epic match, also stated he would provide a second opponent for Louis later in the summer. The gent who will be tapped is to be either Max Baer or Tony Galento, depending on which of this pair survives their little setto on May 28 in Jersey City.

Godoy, who fought in a chronic crouch in his first meeting with Louis, not only befuddled the champion, but also one of the judging officials, as well, for the verdict for Louis was by a margin of two to one. Godoy will resume his crouch June 20, and pursue the same plan of attack.

Jacobs said that $25,000 of Arturo's purse will be held in escrow as a guarantee that Godoy will give the champion a return match should the South American win the title. The contract stipulates Godoy must meet Joe within 60 days if Arturo wins.

Milt Aron Stops Cagni in 6th Round Before 7,000

Philadelphia, Pa., April 29 (AP).—Milt Aron of Chicago, who lost to Cal Cagni of New York, last month, came back tonight to score a six round technical knockout over Cagni before 7,000. Both weighed 151 pounds. Referee Irving Kutcher stopped the 10 round bout after 1:30 of the sixth round, a minute after Cagni was floored for a count of one.

Tales Off a Texas Tee

Nelson Turns Professional, Strikes Out for Fame and Fortune

[This is the third of a series of articles by Byron Nelson, present National Open golf champion and holder of the Vardon trophy for competitive excellence. He also won the 1939 Western Open championship and was runner-up for the national professional title after a 37 hole final.]

BY BYRON NELSON.

IN 1931 I decided that I definitely liked golf, and altho I had never thought of becoming a professional and making it a life work, others had mentioned it to me. I always had plenty of ambition, and liked to work, and I figured that golf was one field I knew and in which I could succeed. So I turned professional after discussing the question with Hap Massingill and a number of other Glen Garden members, who agreed to back me on the California tournament circuit that winter.

I became a professional on Nov. 28, 1932, making my first competitive start as such that day in the first round of the $500 Texarkana Open. I remember my first round was a 74, and I felt pretty proud of it, for the field included Ted Longworth, my old teacher at Glen Garden and then pro at Texarkana; Ky Laffoon, and Dick Metz. Ted won first prize of $175, but because he was the home pro took only $125 of that amount and added the other $50 to the general purse. Ky was second, I was third, and Dick was fourth. I collected $75 for the first money prize of my life, and was pretty happy about it. It was well that I enjoyed it then, for the next few months could hardly be called profitable.

Byron's First California Golf Invasion Returns $12.50.

I made the California tour in that winter of 1932-'33, but as far as money winnings went, it was hardly a success, for I became tired of sending home for cash. I tied for last place in the Los Angeles Open, and took away the magnificent sum of $12.50. But I wasn't down mentally, for I knew in my heart that I had played well, and that there were other California trips to come.

Some of the best news of my life greeted me when I returned to Fort Worth. It did much to smooth over the disappointment of the trip to the coast. Ted Longworth wrote me he was going to Portland, Ore., that his job at the Texarkana Country club was open, and that he would recommend me as his successor.

In April, 1933, the deal was completed and I took over my first club job at Texarkana. It was while there that I met one of the finest friends of my life, Mr. J. K. Wadley, and—O, yes, I met a girl named Louise Shofner. Mr. Wadley, by the way, is the donor of the championship trophy which goes to the winner of the Western Open each year. It's hard to imagine a member teaching his club professional, but that's what happened between Mr. Wadley and myself, for I owe a lot to him on the subject of my stance. J. K. didn't begin playing golf until he was 36 years old, but here he is 63, and a mighty fair hand at the game.

Suggests Square Stance, but Not for Those Who Slice.

My stance was originally quite closed, that is, the right foot was back of the left. Mr. Wadley got me back to the square stance on the longer shots, and a slightly open one on the shorter shots. This meant I more or less faced the intended line of flight of the ball. I now recommend a square stance for all types of shots, and never suggest a closed stance except in the case of a definite slicer. The toes should point slightly out, about two inches. On the longer shots the feet should be apart about the width of the shoulders. As the shots become shorter the feet should come closer together.

Now to get back to Miss Shofner. Louise was the daughter of a Texarkana grocery merchant. It was a case of love at first sight, but I couldn't make enough money to think of marriage. One of the members offered to back me on the tour for half of my winnings, but I didn't accept. Louise talked to her father, and he agreed to make me a loan. I finally took $185, figuring it would take me $35 to reach California and $150 to stay there.

Next I headed for the coast, alone, in a Ford roadster. I picked up prizes of from $25 to $75 in all of the tournaments out there, but still didn't have enough to pay back my intended father-in-law. I beat Leo Diegel in the San Francisco Match Play Open. My game really didn't begin to hit until the tour reached Texas. I shot a 66 in the first round of the Texas Open at San Antonio, eventually tying for second with Craig Wood, and collecting $375. I was second to Craig at Galveston and took away $325.

I returned to Texarkana, repaid Mr. Shofner, bought an engagement ring, and was broke again.

BATTLE JACK IS STAKE VICTOR AS PIMLICO OPENS

Beats Speed to Spare in Record Time.

Baltimore, Md., April 29 (AP).—Running the six furlongs in the fastest time ever recorded for the 6 year old stake, J. W. Y. Martin's Battle Jack scored a three-quarter length triumph today in the Baltimore Spring handicap as Pimlico opened its 12 day, stake-a-day meeting before a crowd of 15,000.

Over a racing strip that was smooth and lightning fast, Battle Jack carried the sky blue silks of the young Maryland sportsman to victory in 1:11 1-5, to cut three-fifths of a second off the stake record previously set by Anerold. The time was only two-fifths of a second off the track record.

Rallies in Home Stretch.

Coming up fast in the homestretch after being in the thick of contention all the way, Battle Jack, ridden by Jockey Lucas Dupps, beat out Circle M. Ranch's Speed to Spare, which had led most of the way. Gustave Ring's Lady Maryland was third, a neck behind Speed to Spare, and a length and a half in front of the A. C. C. stable's Sun Egret, the betting favorite.

The victory was worth $2,370 to the winner's owner. Battle Jack paid $10.10 for $2.

A field of 14 started in the two mile steeplechase, but five came croppers and at the finish it was F. Ambrose Clark's Lancastrian in front, with the Thomas Hitchcock entry of Notley and Sussex finishing second and third. The winner paid $4.60 for $2.

The large opening day crowd and the sunshine augured well for the Pimlico meeting, which will be climaxed by the golden jubilee running of the $50,000 added Preakness stakes May 11. The Maryland Jockey club will distribute about $200,000 in purses during the meeting. Of this amount, $100,500 will be offered in added money for the featured stake races.

Tomorrow's stake race is the $2,500 added six furlong Rennert handicap, which has drawn eleven entries, including two Preakness candidates, Wheatley stable's Merry Knight, and Martin's Abrasion, a stablemate of Battle Jack.

Inevitable Spring.

The ebb and flow of passing years
Holds disturbing doubts and fears,
And dramatic changing times invest
Our daily lives with strange unrest.

But on April days these worries dim,
The outlook somehow grows less grim,
Our courage for renewal strives
When spring as usual arrives.

This unfailing miracle imparts
Tranquility to troubled hearts.
Life would indeed be burdensome,
If some day springtime does not come. —Lass o' Laughter.

BIRKS GET 3,343; SCHAMBERGERS CLOSE TO TITLE

The Birk Brothers bowling team scored 3,343 last night for a season's record in the North End Traveling league. The Schamberger Schlitz quintet, meantime, all but clinched the title, gaining an 8 game lead over the idle second place Budweisers with only 9 games remaining on the schedule.

Only two of the 15 individual games on the Birks' score sheet were under 200. George Geiser rolled 267, 248, and 195 for 710; Leo Kirsch had 220 222 204—646; Louis Gawron, 223 246 189—658; Roy Thompsen, 239 207 203—649, and Jule Lellinger, 217 216 247—680. High series of the night, however, was 715 by Matty Kass of the Jolly Jacks on games of 200, 252, and 263. Team scores:

Birk	1166	1139	1038—3,343

PURDUE BEATS NOTRE DAME IN TWELFTH, 3-2

Notre Dame, Ind., April 29 [Special].—Purdue bunched three of its six hits in the 12th inning for two runs and a 3 to 2 victory over Notre Dame today.

Don Blanken, Boilermaker sophomore, walked in a run in the second inning and then retired 15 batters in order. Rex Ellis, Notre Dame senior, gave up an unearned run in the fourth on two errors, and retired the next 14 men.

Felix Mackiewicz, who led Purdue's attack with two singles, scored the winning run in the 12th on a squeeze play. After Capt. Chet Sullivan singled with two out to score Hymie Crane in the 12th, Wargo threw out Ray Pinell from right field, when the latter tried to go to third from first. Score:

Jimmy Tabor Slams 2d Home Run of Series.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 29 (AP).—Boston pounded three pitchers for 19 hits and submerged the Athletics, 11 to 3, today to win the odd contest of the three game series. Jim Tabor of Boston hit his second homer of the series with one on in a five run fourth inning. Al Rubeling hit a homer in the fifth for the A's. Score:

YANKEES, 5; SENATORS, 4.

Washington, D. C., April 29 (AP).—The New York Yankees won a 5 to 4 victory over the Senators today, ending a five game Washington winning streak and a three game losing string for the world champions. Buddy Rosar, reserve catcher, singled to score Frank Crosetti with the deciding run in the ninth. The Yanks had a slovenly day in the field, but Spud Chandler generally was effective with runners on base. Score:

HOMERS WIN FOR REDS

Cincinnati, O., April 29 (AP).—Home runs by Harry Craft and Bill Werber nullified five hit hurling by Max Butcher today as the Cincinnati Reds swept their three game series with Pittsburgh, 3 to 2. A first inning balk by the big right hander sent in Werber with the Reds' only other tally, altho he likely would have scored on Frank McCormick's single, the only hit yielded by Butcher until Craft's homer in the seventh.

Paul Derringer, who scattered nine hits for his second pitching triumph, set down the first seven Pirates. In the third, Jeep Handley singled, took second on Eddie Joost's wide throw to first, stole third, and scored as Butcher followed thru with a single to left.

Handley tripled with one gone in the fifth and romped home as Butcher doubled. Score:

Cards Defeat Cubs, 6 to 5, in Tenth Inning

Martin rolled to Cavarretta and Don Gutteridge fanned. Then Slaughter singled to right. Medwick singled into left, Slaughter taking third and Medwick going to second on the throw in. Mize looked sort of dangerous, so Diz didn't hesitate to fix up an intentional pass, filling the bases. The strategy backfired when Don Padgett pumped a single into center, Slaughter and Medwick scoring. Moore flied to Galan for the third out.

Cubs Tie Up the Game.

The Cubs managed to get the tying run in the second but if they hadn't faded quickly after getting a promising rally under way they'd have collected considerable more. Cavarretta and Todd led off with singles to center. Bobby Mattick tried to sacrifice but bunted on the fly to Cooper. Dean made up for this bit of misfortune by beating out a bunt, filling the bases. Hack's fly to Moore let Cavarretta score and Herman bounced to Martin Marion to end the inning.

The Cards broke the 2 and 2 knot in the fourth. Dean's first two pitches to Moore were wide. He put the next one over, but Moore was ready and lined it deep into the left field bleachers. Stu Martin singled in this same inning, but the hit didn't do any damage.

The Cubs put on one of their very best fadeouts in the fifth. With one out, Leiber singled to center. Nicholson doubled to right and Cavarretta was purposely passed, loading the bags. Todd's pop to Marion and Mattick's fly to Moore closed the inning, but didn't get any runs across the plate.

So Old Diz Goes Away.

The home fifth, which saw Diz go his unhappy way, started with Slaughter's pop to Mattick, but took a threatening turn when Medwick singled to center. Dean made only one more pitch. It was the toss Mize planted on the right field roof for two runs and a 5 to 2 Cardinal lead. Raffensberger came in and the remainder of the inning was uneventful except for a single by Moore.

The Cubs suffered another sinking spell in the sixth, thereby raising their left on base total to an even dozen. Herman and Galan walked with two out and Leiber got a single on a slow roller toward third, filling the bases. Nicholson, with the benefit of a 3 and 1 count, flied to Moore. Then the Chicagoans began to pick up. Cavarretta put his homer on the roof at the start of the seventh, leaving the Cubs two runs behind, but paving the road toward better things.

The better things came in the eighth when Herman beat out a single to short with one out and Galan deposited his tying homer on the roof. Cooper was promptly yanked. Leiber singled off Russell and Nicholson walked, but Cavarretta popped out and Todd forced Nicholson. The Cubs had three more left in the ninth.

Cubs Back Home Today; Passeau to Face Boston

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 29.—The Cubs will be at home tomorrow to welcome the first of the eastern arrivals—Boston's Bees, who have been trimmed six times in seven engagements this season. Claude Passeau will oppose them in the opener.

There was rain last night and clouds this morning but the Cardinals' officials crossed up everybody by passing a chance to create a synthetic double header. They may have figured that they not only could blast Dean, but that the great man might attract a few customers. The crowd numbered 2,935.

The New York Giants, who open here tomorrow, arrived in town about 1:30 o'clock this aftaernoon and almost broke their respective necks in a rush to get to the park to see a ball game.

The crowd seemed to be divided about evenly on the Dean subject. There were just about as many cheers as boos whenever he appeared at the plate. Diz, unlike the Dean of old, was deaf and dumb to it all.

Brock Signs with Packers —in Hospital

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Lou Brock, the 205 pound blocking back who cleared the way for Cecil Isbell, Jack Brown, and Mike Byelene at Purdue during the last three years, affixed his name to a Green Bay Packer contract yesterday in Michael Reese hospital. Brock was sent to the hospital a week ago by Purdue to clear up a knee injury before he receives his degree in June.

Signing of Brock completes a coup for Coach Curley Lambeau that had its inception amid mingled amazement and disappointment in the annual draft meeting last December. Brock, one of the outstanding prospects in college football, was passed up by the other National league owners because of an indifferent season in 1939.

Lambeau Springs a Surprise.

Two days before Purdue opened practice last fall, Brock wrenched an ankle sliding home in a sandlot softball game. The injury kept him out of early games and limited his appearances to a few minutes in other contests. It was not until the last two games that he was able to fulfill Coach Mal Elward's confidence in him.

Meanwhile, National league coaches who had been impressed by his play the year before, lost interest and tabbed Brock as a morning glory. Lambeau, however, decided the injury could not be of a permanent nature and any player who deported himself as Brock did in 1938 must be something more than a one season star. When he selected him as his second choice in the draft, a scream went up from half a dozen coaches. They sensed their mistake for Lambeau has never been known to draft a football corpse.

He'll Play in All-Star Game.

Signing of the Packer contract assures Brock of a place in the All-Star game. If he is not supported well enough by the fans to be elected to a place on the college squad in the nation-wide poll, he will be in the game as a Packer. At Green Bay he will team again with Isbell, who was cavorting at an All-American clip when Brock made his debut in the Purdue backfield in 1937.

Altho it was Brock's blocking that attracted most professional coaches, he was noted in college chiefly for his offensive ability. A triple threat back, the 6 foot Stafford, Kas., product handled punts, did the kicking, led the Boilermakers on pass defense and bucked his way thru the best lines in the country. Against Indiana in the last game of his career, it was his smash to a touchdown that gave Purdue its third consecutive victory over the Hoosiers.

As a junior, when Purdue lost only one game [7 to 0, to Minnesota], Brock led all Boilermaker backs with a total of 452 yards, averaging 5.5 yards on 82 attempts. Among his feats as a junior were a 48 yard run against Ohio State to set up one touchdown and a 36 yard return of an intercepted pass to the 9 yard line that set up another score. Later in the season he scored the touchdown that gave Purdue a tie with Fordham.

Brock is 22 years old. He is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity and a senior in the school of physical education.

LIONS SIGN WEISS.

Detroit, Mich., April 29 [Special].—Howie Weiss, former University of Wisconsin full back and a member of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S All-Star team last summer, signed his 1940 Detroit Lion contract today.

His signing ended rumors that Weiss, who was used sparingly last fall, was on the block. Coach Potsy Clark, who succeeded Gus Henderson as Lion coach last winter, said he never had any intention of trading or selling the blond line smasher whose long runs were one of Wisconsin's chief threats during the 1937 and 1938 seasons.

Women's Golf Group Plans Biggest Year

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Women's District Golf association and the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association yesterday prepared for the busiest season of their careers. The ladies, 244 of them, the largest gathering in the group's history, assembled in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer House for their annual spring luncheon. The pros conducted the first session of their spring clinic in Hotel Morrison.

O. B. Keeler, golf expert of the Atlanta Journal, was the principal speaker at the women's luncheon. The 1940 tournament schedule was approved. The association's own championship will be decided the week of July 22 at Northmoor, while the state tournament will open on June 17 at the Aurora Country club.

Mrs. Andrew D. Collins is president of the C. W. D. G. A. for the coming season. The annual windup session and election of officers will be conducted on Aug. 30 over two courses at Olympia Fields.

The Illinois P. G. A. clinic, originated last year by the sectional president, Alex Cunningham of North Shore, was one of the most interesting sessions local pros ever have held. It was an informal forum in which each member present was invited to give his views. Cunningham said it was the first time in his 40 years' connection with the game that he had ever seen a group of pros get up and discuss the golf swing.

Highlight of the meeting was a discussion on putting initiated by Cunningham himself and carried on by Tommy Armour, Medinah veteran. It was the sort of afternoon which any golfer would have enjoyed, and Cunningham said he will make the next session of the clinic, scheduled for Monday in the Morrison hotel, open to the public. The third session will not be held until May 20, since the section will hold its first pro-amateur event of the season on May 13 at Pickwick, with Member Joe Roseman as the host.

BONURA SAYS IT'S GOOD TO BE BACK IN MAJORS AGAIN

Washington, D. C., April 29 (AP).—Back in a Washington uniform after toiling a year with the New York Giants of the National league, Zeke Bonura got his first hit today and issued a statement.

"It sure feels good," he said, "to be back in the majors again. I consider the time I spent with the Giants as just being farmed out. Wait until I look at a little more of this big league pitching and I'll be knocking the cover off the ball."

Bonura's first hit as he returned to the American league in which he started playing big league ball, was a second inning single against the Yankees, who downed Washington 5 to 4.

March, when he went 34 under par for 216 holes.

None of the three travelers to Philadelphia qualified for the last 36 holes that year. I came back to Texarkana, married Louise, and was genuinely content with my position. We went to California together the next year, and every year until this, when the flu stopped me, I never have made less than my expenses.

Byron Nelson gives his version of the square stance, which he recommends to all players. Note that he is facing the intended line of flight and that his toes are turned out about two inches.

IOWA STATE BEATEN, 9-7.

Manhattan, Kas., April 29 (AP).—Kansas State toppled Iowa State from the undefeated Big Six conference baseball teams today with a hitting attack that brought a 9 to 7 decision despite five Iowa State errors.

"Cold is a Flavor Cheat
It disguises the true character of your beer"
—by RICHARD SEIBOLD, Meister Bräu Brewmaster

50° TASTE and COMPARE with The "50-DEGREES" TEST

So you'll get full enjoyment from the delicious flavor of beer . . . or can choose another beer you really like

I SEE a lot of people drinking beer so cold they can't possibly taste its true flavor. They don't seem to know that beer is not like some drinks—the colder they are the better.

If you want to know how a beer really tastes, drink it the European way—at 50 degrees. That's where true beer flavor shows up—good or bad. A lot of people already know this old brewer's secret of how to taste and compare beer flavor. And these are the people we make our beer to suit.

We could add sugars or syrups to the brew. But we'll never do it. We bottle with only natural draft beer carbonation created in the brew itself so Meister Bräu is naturally lively and sparkling, smooth and mellow.

Ask for Meister Bräu Draft Beer. Bars take special care to serve it at the proper temperature.

Do the "50-Degrees" Test. Then you'll get full enjoyment from beer flavor. And you'll know the brand you really like.

Phone your retailer for Meister Bräu and compare it with any beer—regardless of price. I'll stake my reputation on your verdict.

HOW TO MAKE THE "50-DEGREES" TEST
Which has swung thousands to the all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu

Take a bottle of Meister Bräu and one of any other beer at average refrigerator temperature. Let stand until it's the proper temperature. Then open and compare flavor. Use an ordinary food thermometer such as you can get at a 10c store.

BARE NLRB AID'S MEMO SMEARING JUSTICE ROBERTS

Note Implies Wagner Act Rule Was Influenced.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 29.—A National Labor Relations board memorandum implying that Associate Justice Owen J. Roberts of the Supreme court was under the domination of financial interests in New York and Philadelphia was produced today before the Smith committee which is investigating the administration of the Wagner labor act.

Heber Blankenhorn.

The author of the document was Heber Blankenhorn, who, in testimony today, described himself as a labor research expert in the employ of the labor board. Blankenhorn actually is the "liaison officer between the board and John L. Lewis of the Congress of Industrial Organizations," according to a charge made by Representative Harry N. Routzohn [R., O.], a member of the committee.

Loaned to La Follette Group.

Blankenhorn was loaned by the board to the senate committee inquiring into invasions of civil liberties. He worked for the committee thruout its active investigation — a period of more than two years from 1936 to 1938. Robert M. La Follette [Radical, Wis.] was head of the committee. One of Blankenhorn's duties, it was brought out, was to draft for the C. I. O. resolutions lauding the La Follete committee and urging its continuance. Another was to attend labor conventions at government expense, a clear violation of the federal statute against lobbying in the Smith committee's opinion.

The memorandum smearing Justice Roberts was written for the benefit of J. Warren Madden, chairman of the labor board. Blankenhorn said he did not believe the accusations against the Supreme court justice were circulated generally among board employes.

Blankenhorn's memo on Roberts was dated April 19, 1937, a few days after the Supreme court had declared the Wagner act constitutional. Justice Roberts being one of the majority of 5 to 4 which validated the act.

Refers to Lewis.

The memo implied that Justice Roberts would have voted against the act if eastern financial interests had not informed him that the automobile and steel industries already had surrendered to the C. I. O. and that he might as well "save himself" by favoring the act.

"When Lewis, in January, convinced Morgan, he cast Roberts' vote," the document stated in apparent reference to the victory of the C. I. O. over the United States Steel corporation. Blankenhorn said the term "Morgan" was a reference to United States Steel.

The memo follows in part:

"Would there have been a Supreme court decision on April 12 validating the Wagner act if there had not been the collective bargaining agreement in steel on March 2 and the collective bargaining agreement in autos on Feb. 10? A more precise question might be this: Did the financial interests which surrendered on Feb. 10 and March 2 intimate to Justice Roberts that a Wagner act decision was no longer of such vital importance to them?

"Of the pressure forces, of course, one was not hidden—publicity was of the essence of it—namely, the presidential demand to reform the court [a reference to the court packing plan]. To save the court against reform was an 'illegal' argument to which Hughes [Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes], ex-presidential candidate, undoubtedly lent ear.

Guesses What "Could Have Been."

"It was hardly an argument likely to influence Roberts, even from Hughes' mouth, if Roberts had, from Philadelphia and New York, counter-assurances. The word of Philadelphia and New York to Roberts could have been: 'We can take care of any labor disturbances following your wrecking the Wagner act' or 'We are fighting labor on this line and your adverse decision is necessary for us to win.'

"Instead, the word of Philadelphia and New York to Roberts, whether spoken or to be inferred from the newspapers, was: 'We have surrendered the nub of the Wagner act, we are in no position to fight on that line now, your decision might as well favor the act and at least save yourself.'

HOUSE VOTES ITS FIRST CHANGE OF WAGE-HOUR LAW

Approves Revision on Overtime.

Washington, D. C., April 29 (AP).—The house, in its first decision on a long string of suggested changes in the wage-hour law, voted 74 to 38 today to make the maximum hours provision more flexible as it applies to regularly employed, salaried workers.

The amendment provides that time and a half pay shall not be necessary for overtime work performed by a person who has worked at an office or plant for at least six months on a regular salary, provided that in a twenty-six week period his average work week shall not exceed the maximum prescribed in the present law. That maximum is now 42 a week.

Example of Its Effect.

The effect of the amendment would be that a person might work, say 50 hours a week, for a number of weeks but would not have to be paid overtime if his working time during the rest of the half year was so shortened that the average was brought down to 42 hours a week.

At present the law calls for a minimum wage of 30 cents an hour for both salary and wage earners, and requires time and a half pay for work in excess of the 42 hour maximum work week.

Administration forces, who say President Roosevelt wants no amendments to the law this year, did not contest the amendment, offered by a vigorous administration foe, Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.], Chairman Mary T. Norton [D., N. J.], leader of the administration fight, did not participate in the decision.

The vote was tentative, in that it can be upset later.

Barden Amendments Wait.

The chamber knocked off work for the day without getting to the amendments of Representative Graham A. Barden [D., N. C.] to exempt large groups of workers engaged in processing of farm products from both the wage and hour provisions.

A final vote on the wage-hour issue is expected some time this week. A house vote on $212,000,000, approved by the senate for farm parity payments, and other senate revisions of the agriculture department supply bill, is tentatively set for tomorrow, but there was talk that consideration of the wage-hour amendments would be continued until finished, putting off the farm vote.

For the last 35 years Mr. Brauer was the Lincoln park concessionaire and owned the Café Brauer near the lagoon. His son, Caul, who died in 1924, also was a noted restaurateur. Mr. Brauer is survived by his widow, Josephine, his daughter, Mrs. Virginia Brauer Carroll, and three grandchildren, Barbara and Suzette Brauer, and William Carroll Jr. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in Our Lady of Mount Carmel church, 692 Belmont avenue.

Mayor Dies After Daughter Is Married at His Bedside

Monroe, Mich., April 29 (AP).—Dr. Arthur W. Karch, mayor of Monroe, died today in Monroe hospital a few hours after his daughter was married at his bedside. The 56 year old physician failed to rally from an operation a week ago. Recognizing his critical condition, he urged his daughter, Marian, to proceed with wedding plans. Last night in the hospital she was married to John McCallister of Monroe.

JURY DECLARES HOSPITAL PLUNGE DEATH ACCIDENT

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accident in the death Sunday of Hal Wesley Alger, retired business executive who fell from a fourth floor window of the Evanston hospital. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. today in Christ church, Winnetka, with burial in Memorial Park cemetery. The Alger home is at 184 Sheridan road, Glencoe.

Mr. Alger, who was 57 years old, formerly was associated with the Hibbard-Spencer-Bartlett company and General Motors. He had been retired about 10 years and entered the hospital early this month for an examination. His physician, Dr. Ben H. Huggins, said he believed Mr. Alger tripped over a radiator and plunged thru the open window.

DIES AFTER FALL FROM LADDER.

Frank Lempera, 52 years old, 5120 South California avenue, a sheet metal worker, died last night in St. Luke's hospital four hours after he fell from a ladder while working on a new canopy at the Aragon ballroom, 1100 Lawrence avenue.

M. J. HAMMERS DIES; OIL BURNER INDUSTRY LEADER

Funeral services for Morgan J. Hammers, a pioneer in the domestic oil burner business, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at Memorial Park cemetery. Mr. Hammers, who was 65 years old, died Sunday in his home at Stamford, Conn.

Mr. Hammers was born in Secor, Woodford county, and was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1898. He organized the American NoKol company in Chicago and manufactured the first fully automatic domestic oil burner. In 1928 this company merged with the Petroleum Heat and Power company, of which Mr. Hammers became vice president and general manager.

He was elected president of the American Oil Burner institute, and under the NRA in 1933 became administrator of the oil burner industry. At the time of his death he was president of Electrol, Inc., New York oil burner manufacturing company.

Surviving are his widow, Grace Paton Hammers, and a son, Alexander Paton Hammers.

16 SCIENTISTS

Reveal Great Discovery About

CONSTIPATION

Tests at World-Famous Hospital Show How To Help Nature Produce Her Own Gentle, Complete "Daily" Bowel Action!

NEW YORK: Constipation sufferers rejoice! For now violent cathartics and laxatives and harsh "roughage" products, many of which are habit forming and are often irritating to bowel lining—can be avoided.

You can now actually help Nature produce her own gentle, complete "daily" bowel movements—thanks to the patient study of 16 Scientists.

You see if waste matter in the colon isn't kept moist it becomes hard, dry, caked and results in constipation. These scientists discovered that a "little daily dose" of Kruschen actually keeps this waste matter moist, soft and easy to expel. Also acts as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

There is no nausea, no griping, no violence with Kruschen. Hospital tests report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Inexpensive! Only a trifle for a jar that lasts weeks. Over 245,000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen must do the work!

WARNS OF WAR 'SMOKESCREEN' TO POWER GRAB

O'Leary Fears Plot Against Liberty.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 29.—America's rôle in a warring world and the urgency of tending to her own knitting today occupied the attention of business leaders.

John W. O'Leary

American members of the International Chamber of Commerce heard an analysis of probable post-war conditions drawn by Dr. Paul Van Zeeland, former prime minister of Belgium.

The national council of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States was warned that the wars of Europe may distract our attention from those "stealing our sheep" at home.

John W. O'Leary, chairman of the chamber's executive committee and chairman of Arthur J. O'Leary and Son company, Chicago, urged unity of action and purpose in opposing those who would change our system of free enterprise and representative government into "collectivism, super-regulation and super-control."

Precede General Sessions.

The national council, which O'Leary addressed, consists of 1,600 representatives of member organizations and functions in an advisory capacity to the chamber. This meeting and the dinner of the international chamber, which Van Zeeland addressed, were preliminary to the first general session tomorrow of the 28th annual convention of the United States chamber.

"We who have had up to now the good fortune to stay out of the turmoil, have our tasks to perform," Van Zeeland said.

"The shadow of war finds the oceans no barriers. It reaches the two hemispheres. Those who will have fought, will have paid a price big enough to have the right to make peace themselves. But once the peace is made, there will be problems which will present themselves before the entire world.

"The greatness of the United States, their wealth, the importance of their interests all over the world, their preponderance in many fields, all lead to the conclusion that their rôle in the coming reorganization of the economic world after the war will be of the highest, and maybe of decisive, importance."

Criticizes Gold Hoarding.

The Washington administration's hoarding of more than 18 billion dollars in gold, most of it bought from foreigners, was criticized indirectly by Van Zeeland. "It seems evident that one could not at the same time keep gold as an international standard and concentrate it in one corner of the globe," he said. This might lead to the wide acceptance of "double money," such as the agreement of the British and French to exchange their national monetary units at a fixed rate, he predicted.

Eliot Wadsworth, chairman of the American committee of the international chamber, said: "The United States has an enormous stake in the making of a stable peace under which goods may once more travel the routes of international trade." Thomas J. Watson, honorary president of the international chamber, said there will never be lasting peace until there are sound trade relations between countries.

Too Vital to Risk Loss.

"Free enterprise and representative government are too vital to risk their loss," O'Leary said. "To lose them would bring us to the position of those nations of Europe which have lost their freedom and the onward march of their civilization."

O'Leary asserted it is proper that this country should be interested "in the tragedy occurring thruout the world," but warned that to prevent the loss of our own liberties we must concentrate upon practical legislation that will result in the following:

Economy in government—"That our taxes may not kill the goose that lays the golden egg; that our budget may some day be balanced."

Improved national defense—"That our nation may keep out of war by virtue of its strength."

Restoration of teamwork between employers and employés—"That our productivity may increase and our national income and standard of living be advanced."

Employment—"That jobs may be found for those who are able and willing to work, thru freeing of enterprise and the flow of capital."

Legislation Neglected.

Since the first world war, he said, there has been too much of a tendency to think about the executive powers of our government and not enough on the legislative side. He asserted that in the name of "emergencies" power has been delegated to the executive branch which results in taking away some of the power of a free people.

"When the emergency emerges into a habit and distorts our concept of representative government, it becomes a danger," O'Leary declared.

"Isolated infractions on the part

Railway-Auto Service Ready in Many Cities

Train-auto service, a travel convenience combing the use of trains and of automobiles, will be started tomorrow in Chicago and 182 cities thruout the country under two separate plans.

Eastern railroads will sponsor one in coöperation with the American Drivurself association which will provide arriving railroad passengers with special automobile rental rates in 56 cities. Twelve railroads covering the west and south and Railway Extension, Inc., will launch the other for 130 cities. Chicago, St. Louis, and Danville, Ill., are listed for both programs.

Under this new plan, a business or pleasure traveler can enjoy the superior speed and comfort of trains for the ride over long distances. At destinations away from home, he will have the convenience of an automobile for his individual use.

50 Automobiles in Chicago.

More than 50 current model, five passenger sedans will be available for the five Chicago stations at which arriving passengers may rent the motor cars for individual use under the plan for the west and south. Attendants in special booths will have charge of the new service. Cars will be provided for the Union, North Western, La Salle Street, Illinois Central, and Dearborn stations.

Welcoming this new development in transportation service, the Chicago Association of Commerce will sponsor a luncheon at 12:15 o'clock in the Palmer House. Hugh W. Siddall, chairman of the Trans-Continental Passenger association, will describe the planning and research for the project, and Edward M. O'Shea, president of Railway Extension, Inc., will outline the operating features of the service.

Organize New Company.

Railway Extension, Inc., 11 South La Salle street, is a new company which has been organized to operate the service in many of the cities. Already more than $2,000,000 has been invested in the automobiles, and almost 1,000 persons have been employed for the new industry.

The railroads believe they can compete with long distance highway travel on a dollars and cents basis. The rate announced for automobile rental under the plan of western and southern railroads is 8 cents a mile subject to the following minimum mileages: Per hour, 10 miles or 80 cents; per 12 hour day, 75 miles or $6; 24 hour day, 135 miles or $10.80; per week, 350 miles or $28; per 24 hour day after first week, 50 miles or $4.

12 Roads Participating.

The addition of the North Shore railroad recently raised the number of original participating railroads for the western area to 12. The others are the Burlington, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the Milwaukee, the North Western, the Omaha, the Great Northern, the Illinois Central, the Northern Pacific, the Rock Island, the Santa Fe, and the Union Pacific.

Under the plan sponsored by the eastern railroads in Chicago and 55 other cities, the travelers will obtain their automobiles at stations of the American Drivurself association where they will receive special service rates. The general tariff is $3 for a full day of 24 hours for the car, plus 5 cents a mile, except that in New York, the rate is $4 a day, plus 6 cents a mile. In some cities, however, lower charges will be in effect.

81 MILLION RAIL BOND ISSUE IS OFFERED TODAY

Precedes Refunding by Union Pacific.

Preliminary to one of the largest railroad refunding operations in recent years, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. today will offer publicly $81,602,000 of Union Pacific railroad refunding mortgage 3½ per cent bonds, dated June 1, 1940, and due June 1, 1980, at 102 and interest.

Proceeds will be used, together with other funds, to redeem $85,902,000 of outstanding first lien and refunding mortgage 4 and 5 per cent bonds, due in 2008, at 107½ and accrued interest to Sept. 1, 1940.

Issue Commands Premium.

In trading on a when issued basis yesterday the bonds were quoted as high as 103 and at the close of business commanded a premium at 102½ to ½. Eastern insurance companies were reported bidding for the bonds in large quantities.

Sale of the issue, the first public Union Pacific financing other than equipment trust obligations since September, 1936, was subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce commission.

A group of investment bankers headed by the Central Republic Company of Chicago announced the offering of 50,000 shares of common stock of George D. Roper corporation at $17 a share.

Plan Debt Retirement.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to retire all of the funded debt and preferred stock, leaving the company with a capitalization consisting of 180,000 shares of common. The company, with headquarters in Rockford, Ill., manufactures gas ranges and pumps. The business was founded in 1885.

Montgomery Ward & Co., second largest mail order house in the world, filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission for the sale of 772,910 additional shares of common stock at $40 a share. Stockholders of record May 20 are to be given rights to buy one additional share for each 6¾ shares held. The company plans to spend $6,000,000 of the proceeds during the next two years for additions to capital assets. The remainder would be added to working capital stock. Purchase rights expire July 10.

Advance in Steel Rate Sharpest Since January

Steel mill operations will rise 1.8 points to 61.8 per cent of capacity this week, the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated yesterday. The rise was credited to the recent withdrawal of price cuts on some types of steel. Production schedules are brought back to the highest levels since mid-March. This week's rise is the sharpest since Jan. 2.

Egg Futures Dip; Receipts Heaviest in 11 Months

Egg futures closed 0.10 cent a dozen lower on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday on receipts of 1,903,440 dozens, the heaviest for any day since May 31, 1939.

Report Fourth Ward Official Is Resigning

John A. Donaldson, appointed only two months ago controler of Montgomery Ward & Co., may be the fourth important executive of the large mail order and department store organization to resign in recent months, it was indicated yesterday. Sources close to the company said there would probably be other resignations in the executive personnel.

Donaldson was in New York on company business and could not be reached to confirm or deny the report. His family refused any comment on the status of his relations with Ward's. Company officials would neither support nor deny the report.

Came to Ward's in 1932.

"It is not improbable that Mr. Donaldson will leave the company for another position," an officer of the company said. "He will return in a few days and will speak for himself."

Donaldson was brought to the mail order company in 1932 from Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company where he had been assistant controler. He was one of several executives drafted by Sewell L. Avery, president and chairman, to revitalize the organization after the latter took charge in 1931.

Donaldson was placed in charge of Ward's accounting department. He was appointed a vice president last year and on Feb. 26, 1940, was named controler when Harold L. Pearson, who held the post formerly, was advanced to treasurer.

Prominent in Chicago accounting circles, Donaldson had at one time been associated with Arthur Andersen & Co., public accountants.

Three Quit in Four Months.

In the last four months three officers of the world's second largest mail order house have resigned. They are Raymond H. Fogler, who withdrew last Thursday as president and a director; Frank M. Folsom, as vice president in charge of merchandise and a director on Dec. 6, and George W. Vaught, as treasurer and a director on Feb. 26. Fogler and Folsom also had been brought into the organization by Avery.

At the annual meeting last Friday, Avery commented on the resignations as follows:

"Each of the three had been with the company for many years. Their leaving was anticipated and there was no unpleasantness or quarrels."

After the meeting in a casual discussion, he said:

"Some of my ideas [regarding operations of Wards] were advanced. Naturally there have been those who feared to leave the old methods."

AMERICAN SHIPS SET RECORD FOR 10 YEARS DESPITE WAR ZONE BAN

Washington, D. C. April 29 (AP).—The treasury disclosed today that American shipping has reached its highest activity in 10 years despite neutrality act restrictions.

In January and February, the report said, a total of 1,042 American vessels cleared for foreign destinations with 2,562,000 tons of cargo. The comparable figures for January and February, 1939, were 932 ships carrying 2,264,000 tons.

The customs bureau termed this rise "striking in view of the diversion of American vessels from the war zone to Mediterranean, South American, African, and Asiatic ports and the withdrawal of passenger liners from the North Atlantic."

F-M BROADCAST READY FOR USE, SAYS M'DONALD

E. F. McDonald Jr., president of the Zenith Radio company, announced here yesterday at the annual convention of company distributors that frequency modulation, radio's new staticless broadcasting technique, has none of the economic drawbacks of television and that the company he heads is prepared to go ahead with the production of "F-M" receivers as soon as the Federal Communications commission gives its permission.

McDonald said that no progress had been made in the last 18 months to solve the economic problems presented by television. He said that some day—when a means is found for financing television programs—it will become a great industry. Zenith, he said, is experimenting with television over telephone wires. Such programs, he said, could be paid for by subscribers.

Zenith operates an experimental television station; it also has an experimental F-M station atop Chicago Towers. W-G-N has pending an application for a frequency modulation station.

RECORD PROFIT IS REPORTED BY CELANESE CORP.

Diamond Match Has Gain from War.

Record quarterly profits for Celanese Corporation of America, an improved showing for Diamond Match company for 1939, and a decrease in the year's earnings for Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Inc., were among disclosures made in yesterday's corporation income reports.

Net income of Celanese for the three months ended March 31 was $2,419,414, equal to $1.60 a common share, compared with $1,336,714, or 71 cents a share, in the corresponding 1939 period.

War Aids Match Profits.

Diamond Match, dominant company in its field, issued its annual report, showing profit of $2,136,750, equal to $1.76 a capital share. This compared with $2,073,861, or $1.67 a share, in 1938.

W. A. Fairburn, president and general manager of the match company, told stockholders that the gain in profits of his company did not keep pace with the rise in sales, because production and distribution costs increased.

"Last year was a year of high volume sales, artificially effected by an unwarranted stimulation in buying of certain lines following the commencement of hostilities abroad," Fairburn wrote, "but prices of finished goods generally weakened as a result of competitive offerings and practices. Altho net sales gained 12.8 per cent, operating profit increased only 8.9 per cent."

Profit $1.10 a Share.

Socony-Vacuum's profit declined to $34,452,710 for the year, equal to $1.10 a share, from $40,106,917, or $1.29 a share, in 1938. This was in line with estimates previously issued.

Partly accounting for the drop in net income was a change in accounting procedure, disclosed in the report, by which the company sought to allow for the disturbing effects of war. Socony-Vacuum is a world-wide distributor of petroleum products.

In carrying out the new policy, the company excluded from consolidated profit $2,600,000 earnings of European subsidiaries, and deducted $5,300,000 from income as foreign reserves and writeoffs. It also set aside on its books $37,612,780 representing property in European war zones.

Taxes Exceed Net Earnings.

"Taxes paid by the company in the United States, including those collected for the states and federal government, amounted to $115,330,760," John A. Brown, president, said in a letter

Four More Old Loop Buildings to Be Wrecked

BY AL CHASE.

Wreckers will start razing three loop landmarks tomorrow and a fourth on May 15. They also will begin outside work tomorrow on a fifth downtown oldtimer, whose inside wrecking has been going on since March 30. Mounting taxes, obsolescence, and the necessity for new foundations before the subway is built are the causes for their demolition.

They are: the Atlas building, at the northwest corner of Wabash and Randolph; the Bedford building, southeast corner of Dearborn and Adams; the Temple Court, northeast corner of Dearborn and Quincy; the Grant hotel, northwest corner of Madison and Dearborn, and the Real Estate Exchange building, southwest corner of Dearborn and Washington.

Built Soon After Chicago Fire.

The oldest of the three the wreckers will start demolishing tomorrow is the Atlas building. This five story building was built shortly after the great Chicago fire. Rising taxes and old age are the reasons given by C. J. Donnelly, general agent of the properties of the Leander J. McCormick estate, owner.

The Harvey Wrecking company has been awarded the contract to remove the Atlas building. A two story taxpayer is to be built by the Chicago Service Parking company.

W. O. Melcher, attorney for the trustees of the estate of Cyrus Hall McCormick, said that the 13 story Bedford building, at Dearborn and Adams, and the eight story Temple Court building, adjoining it on the south, will be wrecked.

No Decision on New Use.

The trustees have not yet decided how the property will be used after removal of the two structures. Tentative plans are being made by Holabird & Root for a two story taxpayer.

On May 15 the Harvey Wrecking company will start tearing down the old seven story Grant hotel at Madison and Dearborn. A two story business building will be built from plans by Loewenberg & Loewenberg.

The Grant hotel building was built in 1890 as a home for the Inter Ocean, a newspaper that has passed out of existence. It became a hotel in 1907.

The Bosley Wrecking company has had a crew of men tearing out the interior of the eight story Real Estate Exchange building since March 30. The last tenant will move out today. Tomorrow wreckers will begin tearing down the exterior walls. A two story taxpayer, designed by Floyd E. Dougherty, will be built.

March Truck Exports Set NewPeak Above 13 Millions

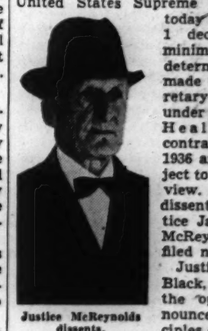
Washington, D. C., April 29 (AP).—The value of exports of trucks—essential equipment for warring nations—reached an all time peak in March at 15,606 units valued at $13,743,671, the department of commerce reported today.

COURT PLACES PAY ON U. S. JOBS BEYOND APPEAL

Black Aims Ruling at Walter Bill.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 29.—The United States Supreme court held today in an 8 to 1 decision that minimum wage determinations made by the secretary of labor under the Walsh-Healey public contracts act of 1936 are not subject to judicial review. The only dissenter was Justice James Clark McReynolds, who filed no opinion.



Justice McReynolds dissents.

Justice Hugo L. Black, who wrote the opinion, denounced the principles of the Walter bill, passed by the house by a 3 to 1 vote and now pending in the senate, altho he did not mention the measure. The Walter bill, opposed by the administration, seeks to expand the scope of the judicial supervision over the orders of federal agencies.

New Deal Philosophy.

Supreme court lawyers regard the Black opinion as an example of the New Deal philosophy, which, in the opinion of Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis of Kansas City, "exalts the administrative agency and correspondingly lessens the powers of courts of justice."

The court's decision, Justice Black declared, was based upon "reasons deeply rooted in the constitutional divisions of authority in our system of government and the impropriety of judicial interpretation of law at the instance of those who show no more than a mere possible injury to the public."

The record before the court in the case decided today, Black said, "discloses the confusion and disorder that can result from the delays necessarily incident to judicial supervision of administrative procedure developed to meet present day needs of government and capable of operating efficiently and fairly to both private and public interests."

Cites Taney's Decision.

Citing an opinion by Chief Justice Roger B. Taney in Decatur vs. Paulding, Black declared that "the case before us makes it fitting to remem-

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, April 29 (AP).—Specialties maintained a degree of popularity in today's stock market, but most leaders had difficulty in attracting buyers. Fractional advances were in the majority at the close.

Business news, altho good in spots, still lacked outstanding recovery features. Stronger resistance by the empires in Norway was encouraging to those in Wall street who believe stemming of the Nazi tide would be bullish marketwise.

Shipping and machinery stocks were prominent, but most finished under the best prices of the day. Steels and motors, well up at one time, emerged with only minor advances.

A few aircrafts edged forward and merchandising stocks improved at the finish. United States Steel was up ¾ and Bethlehem ¼.

News that automobile output at present was below retail deliveries, together with the $1.50 a share earnings reported by General Motors for the first quarter, propped the motors, altho GM managed to hold a gain of only ⅝, Chrysler only ⅛.

Master Electric climbed 3¼ on the Curb. Lesser advances were posted for Aluminum Ltd., Creole Petroleum, and Electric Bond and Share. Among losers were Aluminum of America, Republic Aviation, and Cities Service. Curb volume aggregated 151,000 shares against 244,000 last Friday.

Sale of a stock exchange seat for $52,000, off $7,000, was far from pleasing to the financial district. The preceding sale set a 1940 peak at $59,000.

New York Bonds.

New York, April 29 (AP).—Highly selected buying and selling today swung a few bonds far out of the fractional price range to which most issues were confined.

Most of the lower priced rail issues ran into enough profit taking after last week's rise to fall back fractions.

Boston and Maine liens, however, heaviest traded of all issues, shot forward around 2 points on news the carrier had formally applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to issue $125,000,000 in new securities in furtherance of a reorganization plan.

Many foreign loans were under pressure again after a short period of comparative stability in some issues. Losers of fractions to more than 2 points included Japan 6½s, Belgium 6s, Australia 4½s, and Denmark 4½s. German 5½s of '65 rose a fraction.

United States government loans had little trouble getting ahead as much as ⅛ point.

Chicago Stocks.

Trading declined to 20,000 shares on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, and the volume leader, Pines Winterfront, sagged ¾ point. However, more issues advanced than declined, and two stocks established new 1940 peak levels. Electric Household rose ¼ point to a new high of 4⅞. Midland United preferred touched a new peak of 3¼, but eased later to 3 for a net loss of ⅛ point.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago Title and Trust and Northern Trust shares each advanced a point, and Continental Illinois gained half a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Other leading issues were unchanged.

SEARS QUARTER EARNINGS REACH $1.35 PER SHARE

Allied Chemical Business Up 15 to 20 Per Cent.

Marked increases in earnings thus far in 1940, compared with a year ago, were reported yesterday by officers of several large companies at annual stockholders' meetings. The enterprises included Sears, Roebuck & Co., Allied Chemical and Dye corporation, and White Motor company.

Robert E. Wood.

Robert E. Wood, chairman of Sears Roebuck, said in New York that the company will have earned about $7,641,000 in the three months ended April 30, or $1.35 a share, against $5,902,000, or $1.06 a share, in the 1939 period.

Sales gained a little more than 9 per cent over the comparable quarter a year ago, and for April probably will show a 10 per cent increase, Wood reported.

Will Open 25 New Stores.

The company, he said, plans to open about 25 new stores this year. A large store will be started in Washington this year, he added, but will not be open for business until next year.

Stockholders approved a proposal for the issuance of 125,000 shares of capital stock for purchase by employés at $60 a share. The amount which will be allotted to all officers and directors is not to exceed 10 per cent of the total.

Volume of business of Allied Chemical and Dye corporation increased 15 to 20 per cent in the quarter ended March 31 over the 1939 period, H. F. Atherton, president, told stockholders in New York. "Business in April," he said, "is following about the same trend."

Allied Chemical spent between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 on plant extensions and improvements last year, he said.

Robert F. Black, president of the White Motor company, Cleveland, said that with dollar volume in the first quarter 55 per cent larger than in the 1939 period, the company is continuing operations on a profitable basis.

Profit Replaces Loss.

White Motor operated at a loss during the first half of last year, but operations in the second six months more than offset the loss, allowing the company to finish 1939 with a profit of $107,473.

With Canada committed to coöperation with the British empire in the war, "every person and every enterprise" will be called upon for further sacrifices, Wallace R. Campbell, president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, told shareholders at Windsor, Ont.

"The war may be expected to have far-reaching influence on operations of the company," he said.

Company sales in 1939 amounted to $43,734,289, or 6 per cent less than in 1938.

Chicago District Business More Lively in March, Survey Shows

Business activity in the Chicago area during March was livelier than a year ago despite recessions in the real estate and building fields and a few other lines, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday.

Live stock processing and production of pig iron both held well ahead of year ago levels, the association's monthly review said.

Factory wages and employment showed increases. Public utilities reported increased activity and bank clearings and debits expanded. Travel at the Chicago airport increased nearly 50 per cent. Postal receipts declined and department store sales were smaller.

A comparison of March, 1940, business indices with those of March, 1939, follows:

PORK PRODUCERS DEMAND SHARE IN BRITISH MARKET

If England can buy American hogs, planes, it can buy American hogs, members of the American Pork Producers association said yesterday. More than 200 farmers and representatives of farm organizations, the big packers and the agricultural colleges, began a two day meeting in the Hotel Sherman to work out a plan to increase the consumption of pork, lard, and allied products.

Sam Guard, publisher of the Breeders' Gazette, suggested that the association send a swine-growers commission of three to England to stimulate the sale of American farm products.

Eugene M. Harsch, Peoria, president of the association, suggested that the association begin a campaign to stimulate domestic consumption of pork products, of which there is a substantial surplus. To finance a national advertising program, he proposed that producers contribute 5 cents for each hog sent to market.

WHEAT ADVANCES DESPITE RAINS IN GROWING REGIONS

Rains over most of the winter wheat belt yesterday had relatively little effect on the market except for a brief period early. Prices dipped about 1 cent, but the loss was quickly recovered. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were ½ to ⅝ cent higher.

Corn, rye, and soy beans followed the trend in wheat, with corn closing ⅝ to ¾ cent higher. Rye was ¼ to ⅝ cent higher and soy beans gained 1¼ to 1¾ cents. Oats closed ⅝ lower to ½ higher on reports that Canadian grain was being offered in New England at a discount under domestic.

Chicago statisticians are expected to issue May 1 estimates on the winter wheat crop Friday.

ENLARGE MACHINE PLANT.

Construction work has been started on a new $75,000 addition to the Logansport Machine company plant, Logansport, Ind.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

Grade Lambs Sold.

April 29, 1940.

THIRTY-THREE grade Southdown lambs from the Du Page county farm flock were sold last week, leaving only one grade lamb on the place. It is a small one that will be disposed of later. All the grade ewes will be sold before the end of the summer. Only pure breds will be kept for next year's breeding flock.

The lambs brought $6 a head at the farm. The flockmaster considered that a good price and thought it better to sell the lambs than to keep them thru the summer and fatten them for market next fall.

Get No Special Care.

No special care had been given the lambs in preparing them for the spring market, altho they were fed from the start, along with the pure bred lambs, all the grain they would eat and were given alfalfa and clover hay.

The grain mixture consisted of approximately 1 part by weight of cracked corn, 1 part linseed oil meal, 3 parts whole oats, and 3 parts wheat bran. It was fed in creeps. All the lambs ate hay with the ewes.

The 48 pure bred lambs were turned out in the pasture last Thursday for the first time. The lambs and their mothers were put on pasture when the grade lambs were sold. None of the lambs had been out of the barn lot before.

The amount of dry feed has been cut down since the sheep were put on pasture. There is hay in the racks for them when they come into the barn at night and the lambs have access to grain in the creeps. The ewes will be fed grain once a day until pastures are greener.

Grass pasture will be supplemented by a field of winter wheat near the sheep barn. The stand of wheat is thin and it likely will not be harvested for grain. The sheep are not to be turned in until the wheat gets a good start. The plants are too short now to furnish much grazing.

Fresh Parsnips Dug.

Fresh parsnips were dug from one of the vegetable gardens on the farm last week. The farm families who ate them said they were delicious. The roots were crisp and tender and much better flavored than those dug before cold weather last fall. The parsnips were grown last year and left in the ground over winter.

Parsnips, unlike most root crops, are improved by freezing. Many gardeners leave the roots in the ground and dig them as needed during the fall and again after the frost goes out of the soil the following spring. Some dig enough for winter use and store them in a trench or pit. When parsnips are left in the garden over winter, the rows often are mulched to prevent the roots being heaved out of the ground by alternate freezing and thawing of the soil.

SUPREME COURT TO REVIEW LABOR ANTITRUST CASE

Trade Restraint Charged to Union Officials.

Washington, D. C., April 29 [Special].—The United States Supreme court agreed today to review a case involving the liability of labor union officials to prosecution under anti-trust laws.

The decision to be reviewed is that of the eastern Missouri federal district court dismissing antitrust indictments against W. L. Hutcheson and three other officials of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Accused of Conspiracy.

They were accused of conspiracy to restrain the interstate business of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., St. Louis brewer.

A jurisdictional dispute between the carpenters' union and the International Association of Machinists was involved. Both unions are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Barred Members from Work.

The indictment charged the carpenter union interfered with interstate commerce by refusing to allow members to work on construction of a building for the brewery and by urging members and others not to buy the company's products.

The district court held the union's purpose was not to restrain commerce but to prevail in a local labor controversy. It ruled union officials were immune from antitrust prosecution.

HULL TO DRIVE FOR MANY MORE TRADE TREATIES

Washington, D. C., April 29 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull, regarding the United States' commercial treaty structure as antique, has authorized the state department to undertake a wholesale negotiation of new treaties. Advance soundings have begun already with some countries.

The commercial treaty with Great Britain dates back to 1815, for instance; that with Denmark to 1826; with Morocco to 1837; with Argentina to 1854; with Belgium to 1875; with Bolivia to 1862; with Colombia to 1848, with Costa Rica to 1852, and with Liberia to 1863.

"G. W. T. W." PROFITS.

What share does Loew's, Inc., get from the receipts of "Gone With the Wind"? This motion picture must be highly profitable. I would like a review on Loew's, including its earnings—P. W.

Answer: Box office receipts from the showing of the motion picture "Gone With the Wind" totaled about 15 million dollars thru April 6, it has been estimated. Selznick International, producer of the film, and Loew's, Inc., distributor, share equally in 70 per cent of the gross receipts which they receive as rental. Cost of making the picture was about 4 million dollars.

Loew's, Inc., is one of the foremost producers and distributors of motion pictures in this country. It was founded in 1905 by the late Marcus Loew. More than 120 subsidiaries of the firm are engaged in various branches of the amusement industry and about 50 of these companies operate abroad.

As part of its integrated setup, Loew's controls a chain of motion picture theaters concentrated in New York and located also in many cities east of the Mississippi.

Motion pictures are produced in the company's studios on a 66 acre tract at Culver City, Cal., and are distributed under the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer trade name. About 50 features and numerous short films are made each year for domestic distribution and rental thru 30 film exchanges.

Loew's has outstanding funded debt totaling $36,323,954. Capital stock consists of 136,722 shares of $6.50 cumulative preferred stock and 1,665,713 shares of common stock, both of no par value. Preferred dividends have been paid regularly. Dividends on the common stock have been paid in each year since 1920 except in 1922, 1932, and 1933.

In 12 weeks ended Nov. 23, 1939, net income dropped to $1,393,456 from $2,979,943 in the corresponding period of 1938.

Consolidated net income and earnings per common share in recent fiscal years ending Aug. 31, and dividends in calendar years were as follows:

	Net income.	Earned per com. sh.	*Div. per com. shr.
1935	$ 7,580,000	$4.49	$2.50
1936	11,077,000	6.73	3.50
1937	14,426,000	8.47	7.50
1938	9,925,000	5.85	3.00
1939	9,842,000	5.37	2.50

*In calendar years. On March 30, 1940, 50 cents a share was paid.

The consolidated balance sheet of the company for Aug. 31, 1939, listed total assets of $157,333,209, of which current assets were $65,675,356. Current liabilities were $12,767,437, indicating net working capital of $52,907,919.

Sale of Floating Plant—U. S. Engineer Office, Vicksburg, Miss.—Sealed bids will be received here until 10:30 a. m., May 7, 1940, and then opened, for sale of three two-story quarterboats, towboats "Control" and "Chief" and dredge "Waterway," all with equipment. Further information on application.

Chevrolet Sales Increase 1,000 a Day, Says Holler

William E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet division of the General Motors corporation, yesterday told 200 Chicago district dealers at the Palmer House that automobile and truck sales in the first part of April showed an average increase of 1,000 a day over 1939. The sales total for the first 10 days of April was 32,895 units, an increase of 51.3 per cent over the corresponding 1939 period and 21.2 per cent over the first 10 days of March. The 106,108 sales for March were the largest for any month since April, 1937.

Boston & Maine Requests Approval of New Securities

Washington, D. C., April 29 [Special].—The Boston and Maine railroad today applied to the Interstate Commerce commission for authority to issue $124,054,000 of new securities to carry out its voluntary plan of capital readjustment in which the Reconstruction Finance corporation will coöperate. The plan is expected to be in operation by June 13. Approximately 85 per cent of the bondholders have assented to the plan, and the approval of additional holders is being sought, the railroad said.

'Americans to Do Traveling at Home; Railroads Get Set

With prospects favorable for the best travel season in years, about 900 railroad executives, passenger representatives and ticket sellers serving Chicago met at the Stevens hotel last night to discuss plans. The travel increase is expected to result from Americans staying home as a result of the European war. The meeting was sponsored by the United Passenger association and the Central Passenger association.
